C. P. Local Self-Government Act ( IV of 1920 )

There was no clear law regulating bazaars or markets in these provinces prior to Act. IV. of 1920. beyond the inclusion of markets as one of the matters which were placed under the control and administration of the District Council and Local Boards under S. 9 of the former Local Self-Government Act. No particulars were laid down in that Act as to how the district Council was to control markets, and in particular, there was no mention of fees of tolls, neither was the question of the rights of land-owners to hold markets touched upon, nor was any mention made of private markets. There would however appear to be a right recognised in land owners to hold markets or bazaars upon their land, provided that they did not infringe the rights of others, and the holding of such markets would, it seems, include the levying of market fees or tolls. —Ss. 5 and 11—A tenant under the Central Provinces Tenancy Law which formerly permitted transfers could transfer nothing beyond his tenant right in the holding. Therefore any transfer engrafted on the tenant right, whether by way of mortgage of sub-lease, and whether consented to by the landlord or not, comes to end when the tenant right is itself determined by operation of law. If a tenant after having made a transfer which is valid as against himself and as against the landlord were to voluntarily surrender his tenancy the law will presume that the tenancy has a continuance in order to work out the rights created by such a valid transfer. This principle has however no application where the tenant right comes to an end by operation of law, that is, when the tenant dies without heirs entitled to succeed under the law. The determination of tenancy in such a case enlarges the rights of the landlord and gives him a right to immediate possession leading to the forfeiture of the rights of the transferee in the land. 28 N L R 93 = I R 1932 N 110 = 139 I C 369 = A I R 1932 N 107 (109) = A L R 1932 N 169.

During pleadings the plff's pleader stated that he was out of possession since the end of 1918 & that he was not actually dispossessed by the deft, but that he was sued because he was in wrongful possession. In reply it was said that as plff. had no possession within two years of the suit, art. 1 barred the claim. ## C. P. Waste Land Sale Rules of 1862.

—Waste lands were sold by Government under a sanad issued pursuant to Waste Land Sale Rules of 1862. The lands were sold "with all rights of forests, pasturage, mines, fisheries, and all the other proprietary right and interest, for ever, free from all present or future demand on account of Government land revenue, but subject to all general taxes and local rates, now or hereafter to be imposed by law in respect thereof, and to all claims of Government of India, in respect of such land other than claims of Government land revenue."

—Held that the transfer of the estate by the Crown under the Waste Land Sale Rules of 1862, as evidenced by the sanad in question was not governed by the Crown Grants Act (XV of 1895) that the provisions of the Central Provinces Land Revenue Act (XVIII of 1881 of the Indian Legislature) applied to the estate conveyed as above so as to invest the Settlement Officer with jurisdiction to declare the above estate as a mahal and ascertain and determine, under S. 72 thereof, the status and rents of tenants therein; and that the Central Provinces Tenancy Act governed the relation between the landlord and tenants in the above estate.

—Neither the Waste Land Sale Rules of 1862 nor the terms of the sanad, even by implication, purport to convey to the purchaser any sovereign rights in the lands. The purchaser got no more than proprietary rights in the demised lands in perpetuity discharged only from all demands for land revenue on the part of the Crown. 28 N L R 169 = I R 1932 N 67 = 15 N L J 35 = 137 I C 750 = A I R 1932 N 75 = A L R 1932 N 111 (F. ### Chota Nagpur Tenancy (Act VI of 1908).

—The mere existence of a general legal proposition (if such there be) that non-accrual of a right of occupancy is an inherent incident in a ghatwali or digwari tenancy would not rebut the statutory presumption that the Record of Rights is correct until the contrary is proved by evidence. It must be proved that there is no local custom under which the existing entry that the raiyat has an occupancy right in the holding could be correctly made. Though the Statute cannot affect such an incident, the custom may have done so all along. The entry in the Record of Rights must be assumed to have been made with full knowledge of the general proposition, and it must be shown that no local —Ss. 22, 46, 78, 139 and 139 A.—Plaintiff was a settled raiyat having occupancy holding in a village and also homestead land. Defendant's father took settlement of a portion of raiyati land in the village from the proprietor (landlord) for cultivation; later on he took in verbal settlement of a portion of the homestead land from plaintiff. The lease by the plaintiff to defendant's father not being for any specified term was not binding upon the landlord under S. 46 (2) of the Act; but, although the lease was invalid, the plaintiff, who brought the defendant's father on the land took nazaranu and allowed him to build a house upon the land and to remain in possession for over 10 years. After that period plaintiff served the defendants with notice to quit, treating them as tenants-at-will or as yearly tenants liable to be ejected be service of notice, and the notice not having been complied with instituted a suit for ejectment:

Held, (1) that the defendants did not acquire the status of a raiyat because they did not hold the land either immediately under a proprietor or immediately under a tenure-holder, which was essential under S. 6 (2) of the Act; (2) that the incidents of the homestead land were the same as those of the land of which the defendants were raiyats and they could only be ejected on the grounds stated in S. 22 of the Act; (3) that the Civil Court's jurisdiction to entertain the suit was not barred under S 139 (4) or (8) of the Act; and (4) that, though the lease was invalid, the plaintiff could not in the circumstances of the case eject the defendants. 11 P 456 = 139 I C 394 = 13 P L T 608 = A I R 1932 P 257 = I R 1932 P 223 = A L R 1932 P 574.

The pff under S. 258 notified the satisfaction of the decree and it was so recorded. Then the pff applied for sanction under S. 257-A which was granted. The pff sued for thirteen instalments of the bond to which the def's plea was that bond provided for interest on decretal amount and was without Court's sanction. Held the bond as not one for satisfying the judgment debt and providing for the payment, directly or indirectly of sum exceeding the decretal sum. The suit must be decreed as it was an agreement for paying a sum by which the decree was satisfied with interest on that amount. 40 C 284.

—S. 257-A—Under S. 257-A every agreement for the satisfaction of a judgment-debt which provides for the payment directly or indirectly of any sum in excess of the sum due under the decree is void, unless it is made with the sanction of the Court which passes the decree. Synopsis.

- (1) Code, if exhaustive.
- (2) Code, if retrospective.
- (3) "Consolidate and amend."
- (4) Courts of Civil Judicature.
- (5) Extent of the Code.
- (6) Interpretation.

—The Code is not exhaustive of all the forms of procedure : 1917 P H C C 137=2 P L J 306=1 P L W 326=39 I C 779; see to the same effect 3 C L J 67=33 C 927; and 2 P L J 361=1 P L W 551=39 I C 763.

—But as regards matters specifically dealt with by the code, the code is exhaustive : 6 C W N 825=4 Bom L R 793=29 I A 196=29 C 707 P C; see to the same effect A I R 1926 568; and A I R 1926 L 670; and 18 C W N 954=20 I C 815; and 23 A 167; and 33 C 927; and 35 C 353; and 36 C 354; and 41 C 442.

—Where a particular matter is not dealt with by the Code it is not to be presumed that such matter is prohibited, but it should be deemed to be permissible unless it is shown to be prohibited by law : 14 C W N 586=11 C L J 435; see to the same effect 36 C 193; and 3 C L J 29 and 10 C W N 719 and 10 C L J 91=1 I C 677; and 17 M L J 143; and 17 A 29; and 33 C 927; and 58 I C 748=1 L 339; and 15 A 84; and 84 I C 134=48 M 494; and 11 A 267 F B; and 5 A 163 F B; and 37 C 399.

—The Code does not prohibit the power of the Court to punish for contempt : 17 C W N 1253=18 C L J 452=20 I C 81=41 C 173; see also 8 B 380.

—Court having particular power before the Code retains that power unless such power is specifically taken away by the Code. 34 C 97; see 13 C 189; and 5 C 819.

—The Code is retrospective so as to affect all rights and matters dealt with by it except the right of appeal : 17 C W N 622=19 I C 391=40 C 704; see also 124 I C 817=A I R 1930 C 422=57 C 148.

—Right of appeal is not affected retrospectively : 1912 P W R 272=169 P L R 1912=16 I C 834.

—Section 48 governs application for execution of mortgage decree got under the old Code. 51 P R 1870.

—The Code applies retrospectively to all cases pending or about to be instituted at the time it came into force. 9 I C 815.

—But where the Court has already exercised jurisdiction under the old Code it remains unless removed or affected by the new Code. 4 C 655 F B.

(3) "Consolidate and amend."

—"Consolidation means collection of statutory law on the subject and bringing it down to date. Construction of a consolidating statute must be with reference to the circumstances existing at the time of the consolidating Act itself and with those existing at the time of the preceding Act" : 22 I A 107=22 C 788 (P C.)

—Where the meaning is plain no regard should be paid to the previous law. But in case of doubt resort may be had to the previous state of the law. 56 I C 163=47 I A 33=43 M 550; see to the same effect 23 I A 18=23 C 563; and 20 M 97; and 28 C 517; and A I R 1926 M 906.

—The expression "Courts of Civil Judicature" means all Courts which try suits and proceedings of a civil nature, see cases under s. 9.

—Insolvency procedure is civil procedure but the procedure of Insolvency Courts both in the Mofussil and in Presidency Towns is regulated by special Act though in certain matters the procedure of the Code is applied. see Pro. Ins. Act 1920 s. 5 and Pres. Towns S. 90. Ins. Act. 1909.

—The Code applies to Revenue Courts except where its operation is negated by the special or local law governing such Courts. 19 A 510; see also 5 A 406; and 2 C W N 127; and 18 C 368 F B; and 21 C 514; and 22 A 182; and 21 M 236; and 6 A 170; and 29 M L J 474=31 I C 59; and 12 C 50; and 35 C 799; and 14 A 347; and 21 A 405; and 40 C 518; and 10 M L J 398; and 27 C 508; and 21 C 428; and 38 C 832; and 21 O C 220=48 I C 119; and 9 I A 174=9 C 295.

—Even where the trial of the suit is specially provided for by the special or local law, the Code will apply where and appeal is taken to a Civil Court from the decree of the Revenue Court, or such decree is transferred for execution to the Civil Court : 5 C W N 279=28 C 532.

—The Code applies to proceedings on the Admiralty side of the High Court : 12 B 237.

—The Code applies to proceedings in the testamentary and intestate jurisdiction of the High Courts and Mofussil Courts except as otherwise provided by the Indian Succession Act 1925 : 9 Bom 241; see to the same effect 24 C 39.

—The Code does not apply to Mamlatdar's Courts : 13 B 552; see to the same effect 6 S L R 67=16 I C 675; and 17 B 645.

—But the High Court has revisional jurisdiction over the Mamlatdar's Courts under s. 115 of the Code : 21 B 775; and see to the same effect 23 B 761; and 2 Bom L R 1136=25 B 395 F B; and 18 B 449.

—See also cases under s. 1.

—The Code applies to foreigners : 25 A L J 356=A I R 1927 A 413=49 A 669; see also 20 B 133; and 13 M L J 287=7 C W N 754=26 M 544 P C; and 35 M L J 189=47 I C 708.

—The Code applies to property situate outside the jurisdiction of British Courts : 2 Bom L R 47=24 B 407.

—The Code applies to the procedure of all Courts of Civil Judicature except as regards cases under s. 4 of the Code.

C. P. C. 1908 SECTION 1

- (1) British India.
- (2) Scheduled Districts.
- (3) Scheduled Districts to which the Code is extended.

(1) "BRITISH INDIA."

—But retains its own law until altered by the Crown or the Legislature—19 Bom., 680.

—Where however the Sovereignty over territories is ceded to the Govt of India only for limited purposes, such territories will not form part of British India. This rule will apply to lands given for railway Administration : 2 C. W. N. 1=9 P. R. 1897=7 Sar. 239 = 24 I. A. 137 = 25 C. 20 p. c., cantonment areas : 14 Bom. L. R. 876=17 I. C. 534=37 BOM 152, civil stations etc : 10 B. 186

—The Cantonment of Secunderabad is not part of British India 21 Cal., 177.

—And in 9 B. 244 it was held that the Cantonment of Wadhwan is within the limits of British India; but this was dissented from in 17 I. C. 534=14 Bom. L. R. 876=37 B. 152.

—The Agency tracts have special jurisdiction of their own, and the Subordinate Judge of Vizagapatam cannot, in a suit pending before him, attach before Judgment properties situate in the tracts : A. I. R. 1925 M. 1100=48 M. L. J. 680=38 I. C. 430

—British Indian Courts have Jurisdiction over foreigners : A. I. R. 1927 A. 413=101 I. C. 673=25 A. L. J. 356=49 A. 667

—Court will not pass a decree against a foreign subject if it cannot enforce it : 101 I. C. 438=23. S. L. R. 46=A. I. R. 1927 S. 160.

—It has been held that native States of Kathiawar do not form part of British India 10 C. W. N. 361=33 I. A. 1=8 Bom. L. R. 129 = 3 A. L. J. 250 = 3 C. L. J. 395 = 1 M. L. T. 115=16 M. L. J. 115=33 C. 219 p. c.; nor do the Tributary Mahals of Orrissa ; 6 C. W. N. 573 = 29 C. 400;

—The Berars are held by the Govt. of India under a sort of mortgage under the treaty of 21 st. May 1853 with the Nizam, and the Code extends to them by Notification No 949 I B of 26 th March 1909: see 6 N. L. R. 49 = 6 I. C. 429.

—They are parts of British India to which the General Acts and Regulations and the Jurisdiction of the ordinary Courts of Judicature do not apply, unless the Legislature has expressly made them applicable : A. I. R. 1919 P. C. 150 = 42 M. 813 = 46 I. A. 151 = 17 A. L. J. 694 = 21 Bom. L. R. 914 = 30 C. L. J. 209 = 23 C. W. N. 1033=37 M. L. J. 11 = 26 M. L. T. 127 = 10 M. L. W. 362 = 1919 M. W. ## (3) SCHEDULED DISTRICTS TO WHICH THE CODE HAS BEEN EXTENDED.

—The present code, as contrasted with the former codes, is divided into (a) "body of the Code" and (b) "rules." It has been held that the former creates jurisdiction, while the latter are rules indicating the mode in which the jurisdiction is to be exercised 41 Ind. Cas 598=44 Cal 929=21 Cal W N 877=26 Cal L J 49 F B.

—The "body of the code" being substantive law cannot be altered except by the Legislature. But as regards the "rules," power has been given under s. 122 of the Code to the various High Court to effect amendments subject to the provisions of Part X of the Code.

—The "body of the Code" should be read in conjunction with the provisions of the "rules" 20 Ind. Cas 39=41 Cal 108=18 Cal L J 613.

—But in case of conflict between them, the former must prevail 22 Ind. Cas. 690; 1926 Mad 676=1926 M W N 341=51 M L J 90=95 2nd Cas 439

—The clear words of the Code will prevail over the forms in the schedule : 40 Ind. Cas 816=21 Cal W N 1147; see also Pre-emble-Interpretation.

(a) "Rights of Parties as to Matters in Controversy."

—Under the old Code no decision came under the definition of decree, unless it decided the suit or appeal: 10 Bom. L. R. 514; see also 13 A. L. J. 381 = 28 I. C. 687

Under the present Code any adjudication which conclusively determines the rights of the parties as to any or all matters in controversy is a decree: see A. I. R. 1929 M. 223 = 29 L. W. N. 237 = 1929 M. W. N. 62 = 56 M. L. J. 387 = 115 I. C. 375.

—It does not include an order passed on an application preliminary to the institution of the suit itself, e. g. an application for leave to sue etc: 17 M. L. T. 447 = 2 L. W. 519 = 29 I. C. 393.

—It includes matters, which, though they are common ground, must have been actually decided if any question had arisen and which are the foundation of the whole determination: 20 Ind. Cas. 950 = 25 M. L. J. 279 = 14 Mad. L. T. 176 = 1913 Mad. W. N. 643.

—"The matters in controversy in the suit" are those matters which appear to be disputes between the parties ranged on one side as plaintiffs and on the other as defendants, not matters which from the subject of any dispute between a person, who is already a plaintiff in the case and other persons who are seeking to be made plaintiffs in place of another plaintiff who is defeated. Therefore, where one of the two plaintiffs dies, the dispute between the surviving plaintiff and a third person, each of whom to be the legal representatives of the deceased plaintiff is not a "matter in controversy in the suit" within the meaning of S 2 (2) C. P. C., and consequently, an order substituting one of them in place of the deceased plaintiff is not appealable either under S. 104 or O. 33. 20 I. C. 898 = 16 O. C. 350

—"Matters in controversy in the suit" may also arise at a subsequent stage of the suit: (Per Wazir Hasan J.)—A. I. R. 1928 O. 362 = 110 I. C. 826 = 5 O. W. N. 633 = 3 Luck 628.

—The word "rights" means substantive rights with regard to the subject-matter of the suit. For illustrations see 45 Ind. Cas. 100 = 3 P. L. J. 99. (appellate Court holding that plff. was entitled to possession and sending back the case for ascertaining mesne profits); 1928 Bom. 236 = 30 B. L. R. 503 = 52 Bom. 360 = 109 Ind. Cas. 734. (claim to mesne profits refused on ground of limitation); 19 Ind. Cas. 971 = 18 Cal. L. J. 133. (order on application under O. 34, r. 6); 30 Ind. Cas. 497 = 18 Oudh Cas. 121; 35 Ind. Cas. 158 = 14 All. L. J. 328; 4

—Where the name of one of the debts was struck off as being unnecessarily joined, it was held that decision against the first debt was nevertheless valid: A. I. R. 1927 B. 131 = 29 Bom. L. R. 107 = 100 I. C. 956 = 51 B. 125.

(b) "Conclusively Determines"

—The expression does not mean that the decision must be such as to completely dispose of the case. Thus, a preliminary decree is a decree although it does not finally dispose of the case. The expression means that the decision must be one which is complete, so far as regards the Court expressing it, as to the rights of the parties in question: A. I. R. 1931 M. 471 = 60 M. L. J. 167 = 132 I. C. 654 = 33 L. W. 143 = 1931 M. W. N. 590 = 54 M. 337; see also 14 C. L. J. 35 = 16 C. W. N. 124 = 10 I. C. 371, and see cases under sub-headings (2), (3), and (5) below.

—Where the officer passing a Judgment is not a "Court" at all, the Judgment or order is not a decree, A. I. R. 1925 Bom. 241 = 27 Bom. L. R. 345 = 49 Bom. 442 = 87 Ind. Cas. 588. F. B.

(c) "Formal Expression"

As to the significance of the words "Expressed an adjudication" see A. L. R. 1933 M. 432.

—Some of the Nagpur and Lahore cases, holding that absence of a formal decree will not make an adjudication any the less a decree, if it otherwise satisfies the conditions of a "decree," see A. I. R. 1921 N. 108 = 17 N. L. R. 66 = 62 I. C. 467; A. I. R. 1930 N. 122 = 26 N. L. R. 24 = 127 I. C. 887 (following 19 C. W. N. 755, and A. I. R. 1923 C. 308); 41 P. R. 1911 = 115 P. L. R. 1911 = 179 P. W. R. 1911 = 9 I. C. 1019. A. I. R. 1930 L. 125 = 31 P. L. R. 386 = 124 I. C.; 676, 66 P. R. 1919 = 32 P. L. R. 1919 = 72 P. W. R. 1919 = 52 I. C. 479

—The said Courts themselves have held in other cases that an adjudication, unless drawn up in a proper form, is not decree: A. I. R.

—And all other High Courts have held that formal expression is a necessary condition of a decree: 16 B 243; 19 C 463; 1 M. W. N. 42=13 I. C. 800; 15 Bom. L. R. 382=19 I. C. 894=37 B 480; 14 A. L. —Where a preliminary point was decided but no formal preliminary decree was drawn, held no appeal lies A. I. R. 1924 Bom. 33 = 25 Bom. L. R. 826=761. C. 1014.

—A party has a right to appeal from a decision of the Court amounting to a preliminary decree but he can only appeal if the decree exists in formal shape: 14 Bom. L. R. 916=17 I. C. 637=37 B. 60.

—No particular form is necessary, but the decree should embody in a formal manner the adjudication of the right of party. Where the question sought to be adjudicated is left open, there is no decree and no appeal lies. (1912) M. W. N. 1122 = 12 M. L. T. 309 = 16 I. C. 45.

—In the administration suit, the Court of first instance decided on one of the issues a substantial question of right between the parties; and having so decided it appointed receivers of all the property in dispute. In appeal to the District Judge, the finding on the issue was sought to be challenged on the ground that it was a decree. On second appeal it was held that no appeal lay to the High Court, for there was in fact no formal decree upon the question raised in the issue. 11 Bom. L. R. 1326=34 B. 182=4 Ind. Cas. 829.

—Where an issue was determined, but no decree passed, it was held that such determination does not amount to a decree, and no appeal lies; 10 A. L. J. 78=15 I. C. 566; see also 15 I. C. 563.

—Limitation does not run for purposes of appeal until decree is drawn up: A. I. R. 1924 C. 1006 = 81 I. C. 527 = 39 C. L. J. 251.

—Where a Judge declined to draw up a preliminary decree in accordance with his findings it was held that he committed a material irregularity: 14 Bom. L. R. 916=17 I. C. 637 = 37 B. 60.

—More formal expression of an adjudication does not make it a decree, if it does not satisfy other conditions of a decree: 18 C. W. N. 604 = 18 C. L. J. 128 = 20 I. C. 1; A. I. R. 1930 N. 206 = 13 N. L. J. 83 = 26 N. L. R. 166 = 122 I. C. 441; A. I. R. 1926 B. 237 = 28 Bom. L. R. 307 = 94 I. C. 72; A. I. R. 1926 N. 75 = 89 I. C. 331; and A. I. R. 1921 N. 108 = 17 N. L. R. 66 = 62 I. C. 467.

C. P. C. (1908) S. 2 (2) (Contd.)

(2) Decree and order distinction between (Contd.)
(c) "Formal Expression" (Contd.)

—When there is no civil suit, there is no decree and a right of appeal is not given by this section: 14 I. A. 160 = 11 M. 26; see also 12 A. 129; and if it exists, it must be given by some law: 11 M. 319 followed in 29 A. 596; 27 C. 414; 31 C. 207; 19 C. W. N. 25 = 27 I. C. 492; and 10 O. C. 353.

—But in 22 Mad. 256, it has been ruled that every suit must commence with a plaint, and no proceeding, even if capable of terminating in a decree, or an order having the force of a decree, is a suit, if it has not commenced with a plaint.

—The same High Court, however, has held in a recent case that the term "suit" embraces all contentious proceedings of an ordinary civil kind in which the Court is asked to decide the rights of the parties in question: A. I. R. 1929 M. 223 = 29 L. W. 237 = 1929 M. W. N. 62 = 115 I. C. 345 = 56 M. L. J. 387; see also 145 P. R. 1884; and 39 A. 626 in which an application under s. 22 of the Prov. Ins. Act was held to be a "suit."

—See sub-headings (8) Orders in Execution Proceedings s. 47, and (9) Orders in Restitution Proceedings s. 144. Para 20 of Sch II of the Code, s. 158 of Bengal Tenancy Act, ss 261 and 263 of the Indian Succession Act and ss. 83 and 86 of the Probate and Adm. Act

—A decree passed in appeal is really a decree in the suit, for, an appeal is only a continuation of the suit. Ind. 33 Cas. 9=30 Mad L. J. 379 = 19 Mad L. T. 268 = (1916) 1 Mad. W. N. 223

—Semble:—An application to set aside a sale in a proceeding which may terminate in an adjudication such as is referred to in S. 2 and as such it is a suit within O. 43 R. 1 cl. (c) 20 C. W. N. 1203=33 I. C. 581.

—A decision finally deciding disputed questions between the parties is a final decree, I. R. 1930 N. 359 = A. I. R. 1930 N. 122=127 I. C. 887=26 N. L. R. 24.

—A decree settling all disputes in question is a final decree. A decree modified in review must be considered as the final decree. A. I. R. 1931 Cal. 323=Ind. Rul. (1931) Cal. 434=131 I. C. 258.

—An ex parte decree is final till it is set aside by decree of the first or Appellate Court. 60 I. C. 496; see also, 2 Oudh L. J. 151 = 28 Ind. Cas. 379; L. R. 5 All. 269=1883 A. W. N. 18; 10 Ind. C P C ( 1908 ) S. 2 ( 2 ) ( Contd. )( 3 ) Decree : Preliminary and Final. ( Contd. )

—A decision cannot be said to become final until the time for the last appeal allowed has expired, or if there has been an appeal, it has become final by the decree of the High Court. 34 I. C. 204 see also A. I. R. 1925 A. 291=23 A. L. J. 215=86 I. C. 957=47 A. 533; and A. I. R. 1927 A. 848= 25 A L J 809 = 103 I. C. 457.

—Where a decree is passed for past and future mesne profits at a particular rate, though without directing enquiry, the decree is final: A. I. R. 1928 C. 804.

—Where, in a suit for possession, mesne profits are ascertained, and the Court passes a decree for past and future mesne profits, besides directing debt to deliver possession without directing inquiry, the decree is final : 22 L. W. 347 = A I R 1925 M. 1276=90 I. C. 789.

—Where a decree is passed in a pre-emption suit on condition that the suit shall stand dismissed if the purchase-money were not paid within a particular time, the decree is final : 2 U P L R 171 = 7 O L J 378 = 57 I. C. 488=23 O. C. 254.

—In a suit for accounts the appellant can prefer a single combined appeal against the preliminary and the final decrees if the dates permit him to do so. A. I. R. 1921 Mad. 406 =14 L W 389 = (1921) M W N 558 = 70 I. C. 392.

—The word "decree" in O. 9. R. 8. is governed by the definition in S. 2 (2). A decree passed on the admission of the debt, is appealable by the person aggrieved thereby. 56 I. C. 845.

—Consent decree is a "decree" within s. 2 (2) C. P. C. 66 I. C. 273 = A. I. R. 1922 C. 358 = 34 C. L. J. 96.

—Revenue Court decree is a "decree" within s. 2 (2) C. P. C. L. R. 6 A. 63=A. I. R. 1925 A. 264=85 I. C. 660.

—In a suit for damages the judgment must state the amount of damages. Appeal is premature if the amount is not stated : 110 I. C. 177=A. I. R. 1928 L. 841.

—Court should not pass a mortgage-decree against father and personal decree against son's share in the ancestral property : 64 I. C. 629=2 P. L. T. 715.

—A valid decree should not be set aside upon subsequent events : A. I. R. 1927 L. 198 =28P. L. R. 341=100 I. C. 84=8 L. 215.

—A new decree on review supersedes the original decree, even if the latter is not modified by the former, and no appeal lies from the original decree : A. I. R. 1928 C. 418=107 I. C. 751.

C. P. C. ( 1908 ) S. 2 ( 2 ) ( Contd. )( 3 ) Decree : Preliminary and Final. ( Contd. )

—Code provides only for one preliminary and one final decree. 42 Mad 296=51 I. C. 140; see also 59 M. L. J. 102.

—But the Court must pass a supplementary final decree if a portion of subject matter is not divided : 44 I. C. 671.

—Similarly there can be a second preliminary decree, and such decree is appealable: 11 A. L. J. 120=16 I. C. 372.

—As to the meaning of "Preliminary decree" see 7 P. R. 1917 = 39 I. C. 100.

—The preliminary decree ascertains what is to be done, while the final decree states the result achieved. 20 C. L. J. 476 = 19 C. W. N. 755 = 27 I. C. 317.

—Where a decision conclusively determines the rights of the parties in question, but does not finally dispose of the case, it is a preliminary decree : 3 I. C. 999 = 13 C. W. N. 787; see also, 15 Ind. Cas. 563 = 16 P. R. 1913 = 191 P. L. R. 1912 = 218 P. W. R. 1912; 19 Ind. Cas. 922 = 6 Sind L. R. 287; 35 Ind. Cas. 873 = 20 Cal. W. N. 1174 = 1 P. L. J. 406 = 1 P. L. W. 13. F. B; A. I. R. 1931 All. 386 (386) =1931 All. L. J. 508=53 All. 283 F. B.

—A 'preliminary decree' properly understood is passed only in those cases in which the Court has first to adjudicate upon the rights of the parties and has then to stay its hand for the time being until it is in a position to pass a final decree in the suit. 115 P. L. R. 1911.

—A preliminary decree must define the rights of the parties, though it does not finally dispose of the case : 62 I. C. 462 = A. I. R. 1921 N. 108 = 17 N. L. R. 66.

—A decision on preliminary issue is not a preliminary decree and is not appealable 8 N. L. R. 92 = 15 I. C. 935; see also 18 C. L. J. 78 = 21 I. C. 387.

—Preliminary issue as to jurisdiction is not preliminary decree : 23 Bom. L. R. 92 = A. I. R. 1921 B. 220= 60 I. C. 885 = 45 B. 627.

—But where a suit is disposed of on a preliminary point such disposal is a decree : 39 I. C. 791. = 1 P. L. W. 499.

—Where two issues were decided at different dates, it was held that the order deciding the first issue was not a preliminary decree and that an appeal attacking the decisions on both issues and filed within the period allowed therefore from the later date was not time-barred 7 P. R. 1917 = 39 I. C. 100.

—Where the Court took up some of the issues in bar and decided them against the debt, and directed the trial of the issues relating to the merits of the suit, held that the order deciding the issues in bar was not an adjudication determining the rights of the parties and was not a preliminary decree and that no appeal lay against the order; 20 C. —The decision in a suit that a notice under S. 80 of the C. P. Code was necessary before the institution of the suit does not amount to a preliminary decree where the plff. alleges that he has given notice 40 I. C. 677 = 11 Bur. L. T. 95 = (1917) 3 U. B. R. 1.

—If a decision on a preliminary issue merely entitles the plff. to go on with the suit, it is not a preliminary decree. Unless the decision amounts to a preliminary decree of the nature contemplated in O. 20, Rr. 12 to 18 it is not a preliminary decree as it does not decide any of the matters in controversy in the suit. 9 Bur. L. T. 119 = 36 I. C. 431.

—A decision as to the status of a person being agriculturist within the Deccan Agr. Relief Act is not a preliminary decree : A. I. R. 1921 B. 220 = 23 Bom. L. R. 92 = 63 I. C. 885 = 45 B. 627; (impliedly overruling 7 I. C. 966 = 12 Bom. L. R. 762; and 16 I. C. 159).

—If the decision involves adjudication upon substantive rights of the parties e. g. a direction to take accounts between the parties as under s. 13 of the Deccan Agr. —In a suit for possession and mesne profits, the first court decreed possession alone. Both parties appealed and the appellate court dismissed the defendant's appeal as regards possession, and remanded the case for ascertainment of profits. The first court passed a decree for mesne profits alone and appeal against the same was dismissed. The defendant preferred a further appeal to the High Court against possession also. Held that the decision as regards possession on appeal was a preliminary decree and appeal against the same was barred. 19 C. L. J. 436 = 25 I. C. 436.

(7) ORDER IN ARBITRATION PROCEEDINGS

—Under the old Code there was a conflict of decisions as to whether an order under s. 523, and s. 526, directing that an award should be filed, or refusing to file it, was a decree : 2 A 471; 1 A 156; 16 A W N 116=18 A 414; 5 A 333; and 3 M 68 holding that such order was not a decree; while, 126 P R 1907 = 88 P W R 1907 = 50 P L R 1908; 9 M L J 10=22 M 299; 12 I C 372 = 36 M 353; and 29 I A 51 = 29 C 167 holding such order to be decree.

—But it has now been settled that order under paras 17 and 21 of Sch. II of the Code filing or refusing to file an agreement to refer to arbitration is not a decree, but it is appealable as an order under s. 104; see notes to paras 17 and 21 of Sch. II. and see also 9 O. W N 800 = 139 I C 622 = 1 R 1932 O. 574 = 6 Luck 703.

—In suit for the recovery of money the defts. claimed a set-off on account of damages for a breach of contract and the amount awarded to them by arbitrators to whom they had referred the dispute for settlement.

—The plffs. denied that there was any agreement to refer or any valid reference.

—The Sub-Judge dealt with the issues relating to the existence of an agreement to refer, the validity of the reference and the alleged set-off preliminary issue and decided them all in the plff's favour. On an appeal by the defts.

—Held, that the order of the lower Court did not amount to a decree within S. 2 (2) of the C P Code, in spite of the fact that it disposed of the claim to a legal set-off advanced by the depts; and that as the decision could be attacked in an appeal against the final order in the case, no appeal was competent.

—The decision of the Court below that no agreement to refer had been entered into by or on behalf of the plffs. and that, therefore the suit was not liable to be stayed under para. 18 of Sch. ii C P Code was not one that the Court was competent to arrive at and was appealable under S. 104 (e) 62 P R 1917; 65 P W R 1917 : 39 I C 508.

—Admission of execution application is decree. A. I. R. 1922 Pat. 59 = 3 P. L. T. 146 70 I. C. 483.

—An order granting or refusing a process for the examination of witnesses or an order merely determining a point of law arising incidentally or otherwise in the course of execution proceedings and not refusing or granting relief is not a decree and is therefore not appealable. But an order finally negating the rights of the decree-holder to proceed against the land of the judgment-debtor comes within and is appealable. 56 I. C. 173.

—On an application for execution of a money decree by attachment and sale of certain land belonging to the judgment debtor, notice was issued to the Collector asking whether he desired to intervene under S. 72 of the C. —The Nagpur Court has held that an order rejecting memorandum of appeal on any ground is a decree : 1927 N 100=98 I C 663.

(11 Orders Rejecting plaint or Memorandum of Appeal. (Contd.)

—But the Calcutta, Lahore, Madras and Allahbad High Courts have held that a rejection of an appeal under O. 41 r. 10 [2] is not a decree: 8 I C 436=9 M L T 117; 53 A W N 1808=5 A L J 109=30 A 143; A I R 1922 C 246=26 C W N 1020=35 C L J 131=62 I C 751=49 C 355; A I R 1922 L 87=67 I C 256=68 P L R 1922=3 L 30; 17 C W N 807=19 I C 931; and 15 A W N 238=18 A 101 [overruling 3 A W N 60=5 A 380]

—And where the order did not finally dispose of the appeal it was held not to be a decree: 59 C 388=I R 1932 C 483=A I R 1932 C 482=138 I C 643.

[12] ORDERS RETURNING PLAINT or MEMORANDUM OF APPEAL.

—There is no difference between the provisions of the old Code and of the present one in this respect.

—But an order merely returning the plaint for amendment within a specified period is not a decree, and it is neither appealable nor open to revision under the present Code: 11 I C 231=96 P R 1911=143 P W R 1911=216 P L R 1911

C. P. C. SECTION 2 [3]

—A "decree-holder" does not include an attaching creditor: A I R 1925 A 123=80 I C 947.

—A decree-holder need not be a party to the decree.

—It is enough if the decree confers some right enforceable under the decree upon some persons mentioned in it, held, accordingly that where a scheme-decree conferred upon the Board of Control, which was itself a creation of the decree, the right of calling upon the trustees to remit the collections, the Board might be regarded as a decree-holder. 35 L W 22 [25]=61 M L J 904=136 I C 771=I R 1932 M 307=A I R 1932 M 193=A L R 1932 M 351

C. P. C. Sections 2 (7) and 2 (8).

—But neither the definition in Evid. Act, nor in Cr. P. C. nor in s. 19 Penal Code, is strictly applicable for the purposes of S 2 (8) of the C P code: 1912 M W N 473=23 M L J 50=15 I C 652 F B.

Disqualification—No Judge can act in any matter in which he has any pecuniary interest or any interest which, though not pecuniary, is sufficient to create a real bias—e.g., a Mamlatdar who had acted in the management of the property in dispute in a possessory case was held disqualified from trying the case.

—When an officer has, in the course of executive duties, formed an opinion and acted on it, or has sought to give effect to it as agent of a public body which has become a litigant in a case, the law will presume an interest creating a bias so as to disqualify him as a Judge 19 Bom. 608 see also 15 C L J 162=141 C 458.

C. P. C. (1908) S. 2 (9)

—For the contents of a judgment, see O, 20, r. 4, and O 41, r. 32. A judgment under C P C is only the basis of a decree or order. The decree, which itself is formal expression of the judgment, is, and the order may or may not be, appealable, but the judgment itself gives no right of appeal. 8 N L R 92=15 I C 935.

—The judgment must give a statement of the grounds of the decision: 15 O C 78=15 I C 212; though it need not necessarily decide all the issues in question: A I R 1926 L 638 [2]=8 L L J 361=27 P L R 701=97 I C 780; 13 P W R 1911=14 I C 371.

—A written order deciding one of several issues in a case is a "Judgment" and can be pronounced by the successor of a Judge who passed the order. 14 I C 371=13 P W R 1911.

—Shorthand notes dictated by, but never approved by, the Judge, cannot be considered as part of his actual judgment. A I R 1927 Bom. 113=51 B 167=29 Bom L R 126=100 I C 941.

—A defendant did not file his written statement on the date on which he was ordered to file it, nor on the date fixed for hearing. The Munsif thereupon declared the claim of plaintiff under O 8 R 10, without going into the merits of the case or without stating the grounds of his order decreeing the claim: —Held that the Munsif's order was not a judgment, but merely an order decreeing the plaintiffs claim. Held also that the Munsif acted with material irregularity and his decision was set aside. 15 I C 212=15 O C 78. See also cl. 15 of Letters Patent as to the meaning of the word "judgment"

—Under the old Code there was a conflict as to whether the term "legal representative" was confined to administrators, executors and heirs, when used in the body of the Code. Woodroffe J. has fully dealt with the case-law on the subject in 8 C W N 843. The present sub-section, therefore, is an entirely new definition, and clears away the doubts that existed under the old Code.

[2] WHO CAN BE LEGAL REPRESENTATIVE

—Whether an Heir-at-Law is competent to represent a portion of estate decreed to a legatee see 42 M 76=1919 M W N 107=35 M L J 632=49 I C 11=9 L W 26. Where a legatee who had applied for probate, died pending appeal after making a gift of the legacy: Held that the donees were 'legal representatives' of the legatee and entitled to be substituted as parties. 35 C W N 1023.

—On death of the judgment-debtor the person in possession of the property is legal representative of the deceased and the decree can be executed against such person. A I R 1924 Cal. 362=69 I C 179.

—Surviving co-parceners in a Hindu joint family are not "legal representatives." Mayne's Hindu Law, 8th Ed., B. 329, referred to A I R 1921 Lah 34=2 Lah 114=3 Lah L J 349=73 P L R [1921]=61 I C 628; see also 20 Bom. L R 660=42 B 504; and 31 I C 4.

—But where a suit by the manager of a joint Hindu family refers to joint family estate, it is really a suit in a representative character for all the members of the family. When he dies, the next managing member can come in as the legal representative.

A I R 1925 Mad 456=21 L W 21=86 I C 178.

—And where a father and son are coparceners, and the son dies after his undivided share is attached in execution of a decree against him alone, the father is the legal representative of the deceased son, and the decree can be executed against him: A I R 1926 A 157 [1]=23 A L J 877=L R 6 A 511 civ=89 I C 291=48 A 4.

—Where an unmarried daughter sues for the father's estate, and dies, her sister has a right to continue the suit: 38 A 111=14 A L J 8=32 I C 104. Similarly, it has been ruled by the Privy Council that on death of a Hindu plaintiff, pending the suit for declaration of invalidity of an adoption and alienation, the next presumptive reversioner has a right to continue the suit as legal representative: 38 M 406 P C.

—But it has been held that a Hindu reversioner who is thus entitled to continue a suit is not strictly a legal representative within the meaning of the sub-section: 49 I C 268.

—Where the daughter [plaintiff] died pending the suit to recover the property it was held that the reversioner was rightly added as her legal representative: 39 Mad 382=17 M L T 186=27 I C 1001; see also 28 M L J 335 [P C.]

—Purchasers of equity of redemption, and not the heirs of the deceased mortgagor, are the legal representatives of the deceased : [1926] M W N 276 = 95 I C 904.

—A decree for removal of a mahant cannot be executed against the succeeding mahant who was on the death of the first in de facto possession but who claimed to be, appointed by the bhik. A I R 1924 Lah 251 = 5 Lah L J 459 = 77 I C 585.

—S, a voter in a Devasthanam circle, instituted a suit with sanction under O. 1 r. 8 for a declaration that the election of a member of a Devasthanam Committee was void, and for an injunction to restrain him from exercising the office of such member. He died pending the suit, and R, another voter, was brought on record as the legal representative of S, and the suit was revived at R's instance. Held that R, though not a legal representative could be allowed to continue the suit. 1912 M W N 105.

—Zamindar is not the legal representative of a deceased tenant : 23 I C 969 = 10 L J 86.

—Where a person is nominated to receive money after the depositor's death, he cannot receive the money if the nomination is not a Will duly executed. A I R 1921 Mad. 199 = [1921] M W N 70 = 60 I C 239.

[3] Persons intermeddling with estate.

—Under the Hindu Law and under the British Indian Law any one who intermeddles with the property of a deceased person renders himself liable for the debts of the deceased to the extent of the property taken by him : 3 Pat L W 302 = 1918 Pat 86 = 42 I C 122.

—Intermeddling even with a portion of the estate will make him liable to the extent, at any rate, of the property taken possession of by him : 39 P L R 1914 = 22 I C 242 = 115 P R 1913.

[3] Persons intermeddling with estate. (Concl'd.)

—An executor de son tort is a legal representative within S 2 [11] and is liable to be brought on the record under that section on the death of the deft 50 I C 951.

—But he is not a representative for the purposes of succession to the deceased's property.

—And the mere fact that an intermeddler is joined as party to the suit for recovery of possession cannot make a decree in that suit in any way binding on the real heir who is not a party to that suit and who later on gets a decree against the intermeddler declaring his superior right A I R 1924 All. 717 = 75 I C 114.

—As regards the onus of proving that assets have come to the hands of the deft the plff. must in the first instance give such evidence as would prima facie afford reasonable grounds for an inference that the assets have, or ought to have, come to the hands of the deft.

—But when the plff. has laid this foundation for the case, it will then lie on the deft. to show that the amount of the assets is not sufficient to satisfy the plff's claim, or that they are of such a nature that plff. is not entitled to be satisfied out of them or that there never were any assets, or that they have been duly administered and disposed of in satisfaction of other claims. 3 Pat. C. P. C. 1908 SECTION 3.

—This section has been taken from s. 2 of the old Code with slight alteration. It thus brings into greater prominence the ruling that judges of the Lower Courts are bound to follow the concurrent decisions of the High Court to which they are immediately subordinate; unless the decision has been altered by the Full Bench of that High Court, or by the Privy Council, or by subsequent Act of the Legislature: see 10 C 82; 15 B 419; 17 B 555; 4 Pat L J 565=51 I C 496; 42 I A 155=29 I C 617=37 A 359 P. —High Court and Subordinate Courts:—“High Court” used with reference to civil proceedings means the Highest Civil Court of Appeal in the part of British India in which the Act or Regulation containing the expression operates (s. 3 cl. 24 of the General Clauses Act 1897) It, therefore, includes the Chief Courts of the Punjab and Burmah and of the various Judicial Commissioners as well as the Chartered High Courts. And it has been held that a Collector acting under Mamlatdar's Courts Act is a Court subordinate to the High Court: 17 I C 676=14 Bom L R 947=37 B 114; but not so when he is exercising function under s. 18 of the Land Acquisition Act A I R 1930 N 271=I R 1930 N 255=123 I C 911.

C. P. Code 1908 SECTION 6.

—The present section definitely restricts the Jurisdiction of Civil Courts within pecuniary limits defined by their Charter or Acts of Constitution.

—The section applies only to suits and not to proceedings which are not suits e. g. the proceedings before the President of the Calcutta Improvement Tribunal is not a suit : A I R 1926 C 853=31 C W N 142=94 I C 170.

—(1) Execution of Decree exceeding pecuniary Jurisdiction—

—In a suit for possession and mesne profits the Munsiff made a decree for a sum beyond his pecuniary Jurisdiction. The decree was sent for execution to another Court of equal pecuniary Jurisdiction.

—Held, that irrespective of the question as to whether the Munsiff's Court which made the decree was competent to do so, the equality in pecuniary jurisdiction of the two Courts was not sufficient to override the general rule that Courts of limited pecuniary jurisdiction may not entertain execution proceedings in suit in excess of their limit and the latter Court had no jurisdiction to execute the decree. 57 I C 722; see also, I P L R 1901=9 P R 1901; and cases under ss. 38 and 39.

—It is submitted the latter view is correct because suits for mesne profits and accounts do not admit of precise ascertainment of value at the time of the institution. whereas a Court having jurisdiction does not lose it by reason of any subsequent change in the value of the subject matter or by precise ascertainment of value in cases which do not admit of such ascertainment at the time of the institution of the suit. In a suit for damages, however, the Court cannot award damages in excess of its pecuniary jurisdiction : 91 I C 436=A I R 1926 C 596.

C. P. C. (1908) SECTION 7

- (1) Legislative Changes.
- (2) Applicability and Scope.
- (3) Attachment before Judgment.
- (4) Execution against Immoveable Property.

—S. 5 and Sch. II of the Code of 1882 are in effect reproduced in the present section.

—See also (3) Attachment before Judgment-infra.

—See S. 17 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act IX of 1887 and also Sch. II. of the same Act.

—Act I. of 1926 has amended the original S. 7 of the Code of 1908 by substituting sub-clauses i to iv in clause (b) for the words "so far as they relate to injunctions and interlocutory orders."

—Prior to 1926 there was a conflict of decisions as to the interpretation of the words above referred to—one view being that Small Cause Court can attach immoveable property before judgment A I R 1925 C 1 = 40 C L J 199=28 C W N 1056 = 82 I C 109=52 C 275 F B. (approving 80 I C 300=A I R 1924 C 193 = 28 C W N 16; and overruling 70 I C 841=A I R 1923 C 176 = 49 C 994); and see also 87 I C 399=48 M L J 406=1925 M W N 169=22 L W 103=A I R 1925 M 589=48 M 488.

—But Act I of 1926 has negatived both the interpretations, and has expressly enacted that an order for attachment before judgment of immoveable property cannot be passed by a Small Cause Court.

—A Small Cause Court can pass an order for attachment before Judgment of moveable property : 53 I C 814 = 31 C L J 179 = 46 C 717; see also 82 I C 109 = A I R 1925 C 1 = 28 C W N 1056 = 40 C L J 199 = 52 C 275 F B.

—Debt secured by a hypothecation bond is not immoveable property within the meaning of the provisions relating to attachment of immoveable property. 16 I C 816

—A Small Cause Court cannot attach a part of the joint family property consisting of immoveable : 10 N L R 17 = 23 I C 156.

—A Small Cause Court cannot execute a decree against immoveable property, unless the decree has been formally transferred to the Ordinary Side : 1930 P L R 40 = I R 1929 L 249 = A I R 1929 L 398 = 114 I C 329; see also 132 I C 208; and 5 A L J 612 = 1 I C 553 = 1908 A W N 254 = 31 A 1.

—Thus where a decree of Madras Small Cause Court was transferred to the Mofussal Dist Munsif for execution it was held that the Dist Judge can hear appeal from order in execution proceedings. 49 M L J 104=1925 M W N 713 = 22 L W 455 = A I R 1925 M 1179=90 I C 509.

—A Small Cause Court cannot execute a decree against part of a joint family property consisting of immoveable : 10 N L R 17=23 I C 156.

—It should be noted that a decree relating to immoveable property is not immoveable property within the meaning of the Chapter relating to execution. There is nothing, therefore, in the present Code, to prevent a Small Cause Court from attaching and selling a decree for immoveable property 44 I C 252.

C. P. C. 1908 SECTION 8.

—Provisions of s. 154, O. 22, r. 5 and O. 37 were applicable to the Presidency Small Cause Courts under S. 8 of the code of 1882. They are not so applicable under the present section.

—The provisoes to the present section were added by S. 2 of Act I of 1919.

—A Judge of a Presidency Small Cause Court has jurisdiction to execute the decree of a foreign Court transmitted to it under s. 44 of C. P. C. But the Registrar of a Pres. Sm. C. Ct. has no power; under s. 13 or 35 of the Pres. Sm. C. Cts. Act, to issue processes in execution of a foreign decree : 33 M L J 539=1917 M W N 498=6 L W 361=40 I C 670.

—But S. 48 of the said Act does not extend S. 114 of the C. P. Code to Small Cause Courts A I R 1921 B 180=61 I C 567 =23 Bom. L R 383=45 B 972.

(1) LEGISLATIVE CHANGES :—

In this Code the words "either expressly or impliedly barred" are substituted for the words "Barred by any enactment for the time being in force," used in the Code of 1882. The effect of this change is obviously to widen the scope of the section.

C. P. C. 1908 S. 9 (Contd.)

The section deals with the jurisdiction of the Court—what civil suits the Court may try—not with the rights of parties: 20 I. C. 676=41 C 384

--The scope of this section is very wide and would include even suits cognizable by Revenue courts unless they are expressly barred by some statute. 10 A. W. N. 145=12 A. 409.

—The words "barred expressly" mean that though a suit is of a civil nature yet if a particular enactment expressly bars its cognizance, the civil courts can not entertain it. However the mere giving of concurrent remedy does not bar the jurisdiction of Civil Courts 14 C 646.

—So also the original side of the High Court being a "court" it can entertain a suit to set aside on the ground of fraud a decree passed by a court of concurrent jurisdiction. 7 C W N 353 = 30 C. 369.

—Similarly, where it is open to a person to enforce his remedy in one of two alternative Courts he can proceed in either of them. But having once filed the suit in one Court, and having invited the decision of that Court he cannot go to the other Court and litigate upon the same subject-matter : 35 Bom. 473 (477)=13 Bom. L. R. 900=12 Ind. Cas. 391.

—The rule, that when a statute creates a right and provides a remedy, that remedy and no other, is available, does not apply where a right was not created by the Act but exists independently of it : 22 P. R. 1917=14 P. W. R. 1917=40 I. C. 220.

—So also a Civil Court is not prevented by s. 265 of the Contract Act from trying a suit for dissolution of partnership—such suits being in fact contemplated by s. 215 C. P. C. (1882) A.W.N.1885, 18=7 A. 227 (F. B.)

—So also notwithstanding the remedies provided for third persons whose rights are affected in execution of a decree e. g. claim. Proceedings etc. his right to file suit for the same redress is not barred 1907 A. W. N. 131=4 A. L. J. 434=29 A. 463; see also:—1908 A. W. N. 122=5 A. L. J. 285.

being fraudulent, fictitious and vexatious, but not to set aside award made on agreement to refer: A. I. R. 1930 B. 431-I. R. 1930 B. 401-126 I. C. 305-32 Bom. L. R. 389-54 B. 696.

—On the same principle, remedies provided by the Arbitration Act IX of 1899 do not bar ordinary civil suit. A. I. R. 1922 Lah 369 = 69 I C 585 = 3 L 296.

—So also in case of Private awards the aggrieved party can resort to his ordinary remedies A. I. R. 1924 Sind 105-17 Sind L R 15 = 80 I C 969.

—Similarly under Arbitration Act (1899) S. 14. suit to set aside award on the ground of want of jurisdiction lies. 56 I C 541 = 31 C L J 283 = 24 C W N 454.

—Award-submission challenged-suit is the proper remedy. 69 I C 568 = 47 C. 806.

—And a suit against a farmer of Abkari revenue would lie for the recovery of a sum alleged to have been illegally levied as tax under the Abkari Act 9 B. 462. Followed in 20 B. 764.

—Similarly suits for money recoverable under the Abkari Act can lie although s. 29 provides a remedy 40 I C 122 = 10 S L R 179.

—So also notwithstanding the remedy under Guardians and wards Act, ss. 12 & 25 for custody of child—suit lies. 9 M 31. Followed in 21 I C 789 = 25 M L J 661. and see to the same effect 44 I C 753 = 10 Bur L T 186.

—Guardian And Wards Act infra.

—So also the decision of a Collector under s. 37 (b) of the Stamp Act (1 of 1879) that a particular instrument is not duly stamped is not conclusive. Civil Court before whom the document may come must determine the question for itself 22 Bom., 632.

—Where a person incurs debt after an order of adjudication, such debt can be sued on in ordinary Civil Court, though not proveable under s. 28 of Prov. Ins. Act: A. I. R. 1925 N. 77-80 I. C. 946 = 22 N. L. R. 118.

—The Presidency towns Insol. Act gives remedy to a person against the acts of receiver but a suit is not barred 13 Nag L R 210 = 42 Ind. Cas. 799.

—So also under Presidency Towns Insolvency Act ss. 7 & 86—Third person's property in Assignee's hands—suit by stranger lies. 13 Bom. L R 900 = 12 I C 391 = 35 B. 473.

—And no sanction of the Insolvency court is necessary. 31 I. C. 884 see also :—40 I C 220.

—So also s. 22 of the said Act does not bar a civil suit 14 I C 93 = 15 C L J 675 =

17 C W N 82. see to the same effect :—
8 C W N 473.

—Similarly where a summary remedy is provided for, a regular suit is not barred. Thus where it is provided that a party “may appeal,” it does not mean that the party is bound to appeal, so also the words, “Shall be final” does not mean that the decision cannot be impeached in a regular suit but that no second appeal lies. 22 P. R. 1917 = 14 P. W. R. 1917-40 I C 220.

—Similarly even though a remedy is provided under ss. 72 & 86 of the Presi. Towns Insolvency Act yet a stranger whose property is in Assignee's hands, can bring a regular suit. 12 I C. 391 = 35 B. 473 = 13 Bom L R 900. see to the same effect as regards the provision in the Bom. Land Revenue Code s. 85. 19 Bom L R 820 = 43 I C 995 = 42 B. 49.

—Similarly where two proceedings are open to the parties, any one or both may be resorted to 12 I C 664 = 21 M L J 1063-10 M L T 437 = 37 M. 29.

—So also, a suit lies to reverse the order of the Insolvency Court referring to the Receiver, for final adjudication, the question as to the title to certain promissory notes alleged to be held benami: 46 I. C. 335-22 C. W. N. 700.

—A suit, however, can be brought to reverse an order of the Insolvency Court disallowing a claim made to goods seized by the Official Assignee after adjudication. 40 Mad. 1173-44 I. C. 847.

—And where a stranger to the bankruptcy, whose property is wrongfully seized by the receiver, applies under s. 22 of the Insolvency Act and his application is dismissed on the merits he cannot begin again and raise the same issue in a Civil Court. 39 A. 626-43 I. Ins Act 1920, the Lahore decision is no longer law.)

—Thus, where an objection, that the house in question did not belong to the insolvent, was dismissed and the order upheld in appeal, subsequent suit in Civil Court was barred : 17 A. L. J. 374 = 49 I. C. 590 = 41 A. 378.

(1) Assam Regulations

—S. 154 of the Assam Reg. I of 1886 bars the jurisdiction of Civil Court when a suit is brought for partition of an estate excluding certain portions as brahmutter or debutter or as being held jointly by third persons; 24 C. 751—(approved and followed in 69 I. C. 814 = A. I. R. 1922 C 118 = 47 C. 354).

—So a suit for an imperfect partition of an estate in Assam is barred—23 Calc. 514.

—But the term "property" in s. 70 of the Assam Land and Revenue Regulation (1 of 1886) includes an entire estate as well as a share in respect of which revenue has been separately apportioned; so, in a case where revenue in respect of certain lands had been separately apportioned and arrears fell due in respect of the remaining portion of the taluk, and the taluk, minus those lands, was put up to sale and purchased by the plaintiffs held that the plaintiffs were entitled to maintain a suit to avoid an incumbrance—3 Calc. W. N. 108 = 26 C. 194.

—So also the question of the right of a party to obtain a settlement is not excluded from the jurisdiction of the Civil Court by the provisions of s. 154 of the Assam Land and Revenue Regulation—24 Calc. 239 = 1 Calc. W. N. 94.

—And a plaintiff is entitled to maintain a suit for a declaration that his rights are not affected by an order of the Collector under s. 65 of the Assam Land and Revenue Regulation, specifying the revenue payable by the defendant and made without notice to the plaintiff—2 Calc. W. N. cclxiv. (but see 6 O. C. 59).

—A zamindar cannot sue to compel the purchaser of a putni in his estate, sold for arrears of rent, to furnish security for the amount of half the annual jumma, his remedy being as provided by ss. 5 and 7 of Regulation VIII of 1819—17 W. R. 470.

(3) Beng. survey Act.

—Suit for Confirmation of possession can be treated as a suit for recovery of possession 14 Cal. W. N. 366 = 4 Ind. Cas. 547.

(4) Burma Revenue Regulation.

—S. 53 (1) of the Upper Burma Land and Revenue Regulation provides that a Civil Court shall not have jurisdiction in any matter which a Revenue Officer is empowered under the Regulation to dispose of. A suit will not lie in a Civil Court to execute the order of a Revenue Officer, whether by restitution or otherwise. U. B. R. 1902—1903, Vol. II. Civ. Pro. 13.

—Claims to the ownership or possession of any State land are cognizable by Revenue Courts only under s. 52 (2) (ii) of the Regulation and not by Civil Courts, U. B. R. 1897—1901, Vol. II. 209.

—A suit for redemption of mortgage of State land is barred in the Civil Courts. U. B. R. 1897—1901, Vol. II. 207.

—A suit for rent of State land is not cognizable by the Civil Courts. U. B. R. 1902—1903, Vol. II. Civ. Pro. p. 1.

—But the Civil Courts can decide questions as to their own jurisdiction. Civil Courts are to be guided by the decision of Revenue authorities in deciding the question whether land is State land. U. B. R. 1897—1901, Vol. II. 211.

—Where certain farmers agreed to pay over and above the jummas such sums as would be realized under the head of zabita-batta, and were sued for these sums by the zemindar, it was held that the stipulation was illegal and opposed to s. 3, Regulation V of 1812, and the suit was dismissed—7 S D
A Sel. 166.

—In U. P. it has been held that a suit to collect cesses not authorized by Regulation VII, 1822, is not maintainable—1 Agra 207; see 1 All. H C 40.

—But a zamindar can sue to establish his right to a cess and to question the validity of a settlement-officer's refusal to record it
2 All. H C 425; see also 1 A 373.

—A claim for a legal due or cess arising out of the privilege of selling Pan-on hat days is cognisable by the Civil Court 3 W R Act X 158.

—But a cess leviable in accordance with village custom, which is not recorded under the general or special sanction of Government, cannot be recovered in a Civil Court—
2 All. 49.

—A cess cannot, in the absence of any contract, be levied by a Government lessee from a jotedar, who grazes his cattle on his own jote—
9 W R 299.

—Where the talab beshi had been made voluntarily for several years and has been incorporated in the rent, a combined receipt being given for the two payments, the cess is not illegal and can be enforced: 25 W R 252; see also 22 C 680; and 26 C 611; and 2 C W N 543; but not otherwise 17 Cal. 131 = 16 I A 152; 17 Cal. 726; see also s. 74, Act VIII of 1885.

(6a) Barrister suit against.

—The principle that an engagement of a counsel is not a legal contract of hiring and service: (Kennedy V. Brown 32 L J Ch. P 137) applies to Barristers practising in India 51 P R 1895 F. B.; 104 A W N 1903 = 25 A 509 F. B.; 3 M 138; 49 P R 1906 = 106 P L R 1903 = 105 P W R 1906 F. B. (overruling 194 P R 1883). But see 4 L B R 55 F. B.

—So, a Barrister cannot sue for his fees 104 A W N 1903 = 25 A 509 F. B., unless the relationship of advocate and client does not exist: 4 M H C R 244. A barrister is liable for professional negligence: 28 I C 265 = 18 A L J 286 = 37 A 267.

(7) Court of Wards.

—Under Bengal Court of wards Act, a suit will lie for trespass by the Court of wards on properties of the executor: 12 C W N 1065

(8) Cri. Pro. Code; suits barred under.

—The general rule is that where a civil suit is brought subsequently to criminal proceedings, there shall not be any stay of the latter.
6 Ind. Cas. 181 = 11 Cr. L. J. 291.

—Criminal proceedings are not suits; and therefore no finding of a Criminal Court can be res judicata in a civil suit:

143 A. W. N. 1881 = 4 A. 97; see s. 11 and s. 13.

—Civil Court cannot entertain any suit against an order under s. 133 of the Cr. P. Code, or against order under ss 136, 137, 139 and 142 of the same Code: see 12 Ind. Jur. 425 = 15 C. 460 F. B., and the cases therein considered; see also 11 C. 8; 12 C. 137; 6 A. L. J. 458 = 1 I. C. 896 = 31 A. 371; 8 Bom. H. C. A. C. 94; and 1 Suth W. R. 277; and 18 Suth W. R. 284.

—But a suit will lie in Civil Court if the order mentioned above is passed without jurisdiction: 4 C. L. R. 309 = 5 C. 7 F. B. see also 2 Suth W. R. 287; 8 suth W. R. 239 and 6 N. W. P. 104.

—And a suit will also lie in Civil Court if the order in question involves question of title to property: 12 Ind. Jur. 425 = 15 C. 460 F. B.; see also 17 C. W. N. 73 = 18 I. C. 67; 17 C 562; 17 B. 293; 4 I. C. 523 = 13 C. W. N. 501; and 15 C. 564.

—Thus, where a magistrate declared certain land to be public highway, held a suit lay for declaration of title to that land: 15 C 460 = 12 Ind. Jur. 425 F. B.; but no suit can lie to close a public road: 16 W. R. 434.

—Sometimes, an act of Legislature gives power to some person for a public purpose from which an individual may receive injury; if the mode of redressing the injury is pointed out by the statute, the jurisdiction of the Court is ousted. Thus ss. 88 and 89 of Cr. P. C. debar an absconder from suing for recovery of his property: 1920 Pat. 253 = 1 Pat. L. T. 451 = 5 P. L. J. 321 = 21 Cr. L. J. 475 =
56 I. C. 507;

—But it was held in the same case that an order of disposal under s. 524 of Cr. P. C. is not final as regard title such order can be questioned in a civil Court. Or a suit may be brought for recovery of the proceeds of the sale under such order: 9 B. 131; see also 17 Bom. L. R. 979 = 31 I. C. 498 = 40 B. 200.

—The Lahore High Court has held that a civil suit does not lie for restoration of property sold under ss. 87 and 88 Cr. P. C., even though there have been irregularities in the sale: A. I. R. 1928 L. 562 = 111 I. C. 508

—Revenue court's decision is final re nature of tenancy, but if tenancy is denied and question of title arises, between the parties, Civil Courts have jurisdiction to try and decide it: 24 O C 15 = 61 I C 290 = A I R 1921 O. 125.

—Act VI of 1870 B. C. does not bar a civil suit on question of title: 2 C L J 306; see also 18 C W N 143 = 20 I C 644.

—Decision by Revenue Court on a question of title is no bar to the same question being litigated in a Civil Court: 77 P W R 1918 = 84 P L R 1918 = 46 I C 13 = 45 P R 1918; see also A I R 1929 Pat. 22 = 9 P L T 661 = 8 Pat. 95 = I R 1929 Pat. 193 = 115 I C 225; and A I R 1926 O. 181 = 89 I C 810.

—Civil Court can interpret documents of title though result may be prejudicial to a party in a rent Court. A I R 1924 Oudh 69 = 10 O L J 315 = 79 I C 784.

—Collector's order for partition under s. 29 of Beng Estates Partition Act does not bar a civil suit: A I R 1929 Pat. 332 = 10 Pat. L T 167 = 119 I C 911 = 8 Pat. 763.

—Civil suit lies as to partition of house in Abadi; A I R 1927 O. 215 = 101 I C 910.

—A Civil Court can partition a dwelling house and a chabutra attached to it, as the latter is only appurtenant to a dwelling house, 7 O L J 538 = 23 O C 281 = 60 I C 433.

—An order for partition can be made by Civil Court if the plaintiff's title is not made precarious by the Revenue settlement by the revenue authorities. 33 C L J 497 = A I R 1922 Cal. 345 = 65 I C 833; see also A I R 1924 N. 275 = 20 N L R 145 = 79 I C 161.

—Suit for declaration that a land has been partitioned privately though shown as joint property in revenue papers and not capable of partition, is cognizable by a Civil Court. A I R 1926 Lah 178 = 91 I C 528.

—If a minor plaintiff has a right either to ignore or to challenge the propriety of an order passed by the Revenue Court against him in partition proceedings, such right is a substantive right and a suit for enforcement of such right is clearly a suit of a civil nature within S. 9, C P C 54 A. 646 (687) = 1932 A L J 437 = I R 1932 A 418 = 138 I C 465 = 16 R D 327 = A I R 1932 A 293 = A L R 1932 A 411 (F. —A civil suit is not barred by S. 2 of Act VII (B. C.) of 1868 for setting aside a sale, in enforcement of a certificate issued under Public Demands Recovery Act 1880, on the ground that the sale was vitiated by a material irregularity leading to substantial injury: 5 O W N 521 = 29 C 73 F. B. (Overruling 14 C 1 and 23 C. 641).

(23) Revenue Matters—(Contd.)

—A dispute between two private parties about land at disposal of Govt. can be decided by a Civil Court : 23 I C 961.

—Similarly, a Civil Court is competent, under Agra Tenancy Act s. 95, to decide dispute between rival claimants to a tenancy : 10 A L J 408 = 17 I C 376 = 35 A. 14 (17).

—And a superior holder can sue in Civil Court to recover dues from inferior holders : 19 Bom. L R 820 = 43 I C 995 = 42 B. 49.

—Right to specific relief or injunction is a civil right and civil suit lies to enforce it : A I R 1924 C 982 = 28 C W N 803 = 82 I C 405 = 51 C. 916.

—In connection with the subject under discussion we may notice certain enactments which give special jurisdiction to Revenue Courts over matters falling within those enactments. Thus s. 95 of Agra Tenancy Act : 11 A L J 1022 = 21 I C 859 = 36 A. 48.

—And s. 167 of the same Act : 12 A L J 29 = 22 I C 668 = 36 A. 55; and s. 109 of B T Act : 16 C L J 67 = 16 I C 935; and ss. 113 and 241 of U P Land Rev. Act : 3 A L J 43 = 1906 A W N 30 = 28 A. 394.

—And cl 15 of Lower Burma Towns & Village Land Act; 3 L B R 50 give special jurisdiction to Revenue Courts. Similarly, jurisdiction given by s. 36 of C P Tenancy Act to the Revenue Courts is exclusive : 5 N L R 176 = 41 C 795.

—And the same section does not bar a suit where proceedings taken for realisation of revenue are illegal : 15 Bom. L R 665 = 20 I C 526 = 37 B 542.

—Finally, apart from the question whether a matter is within exclusive jurisdiction of Revenue Court, a Civil Court can always question the proceedings of a Revenue Court on ground of fraud, irregularity, illegality etc.

—Decision of Revenue authorities can be quashed by Civil Courts if there is fundamental irregularity in the Revenue Court proceedings : A I R 1926 Cal 1064 = 53 C 561 = 98 I C 334.

—Or a suit to set aside a sale of holding under Madras Act I of 1908 : 23 I C 524 = 1 L W 414 = 15 M L T 340 = 38 M 1042.

—A suit to set aside a sale for supposed arrears of revenue is not barred by s. 33 of Act II of 1859 : 18 C W N 490 = 21 I C 953 = 18 C L J 505.

—Thus a suit lies against Collector acting in contravention of Bundelkhand Alienation of Land Act : A I R 1928 A 511 = 26 A L J 673.

—As to jurisdiction of Civil Courts to question the validity of Collector's order under Mad. Dist. Muni. Act 1884 see 21 M L J 878

C P C (1908) S. 9 (Contd.).

(4) Barred Expressly—(Contd.)

(23) Revenue Matters—(Contd.)

—It should be noted that Civil Court cannot set aside a fraudulent decree of a Revenue Court, but it can declare it void : A I R 1922 A 294 = 66 I C 559.

—And a mere fact that debts in ejectment suits are entered in Record of Rights as occupancy tenants is not a sufficient reason for holding that the decrees in these suits were without jurisdiction or were wrong in law : A I R 1924 Pat 765 = 5 P L T 535.

(24) Special Tribunals

—See also cases under:—(15) Income Tax Act, (23) Revenue Matters etc. A Civil Court cannot question the orders of special tribunals created by special Acts for that purpose, and whose orders have been declared to be final : 10 S L R 113 = 37 I C 267.

—Under the Co-operative Societies Act, a suit to question the election of a person as director is barred : 23 A L J 129 = A I R 1925 A 356 = 6 L R A (civ) 208 = 86 I C 585 = 47 A 374.

—Similarly, the decision of the Officer Commanding the Division under s. 103 of Cantonment House Accommodation Act is final : 10 S L R 113 = 37 I C 267.

—Where exclusive jurisdiction over any subject-matter is conferred by Statute on any authority, a Civil Court cannot interfere; but it can interfere in matters outside that subject matter : A I R 1922 Pat. 361 = 3 Pat. L T 125 = 62 I C 394.

—Similarly, where a Statute gives power to any person for a public purpose from which an individual may receive an injury, then if the mode of redress is also specified in the statute jurisdiction of ordinary Courts will be ousted. A I R 1928 Lah. 562 = 10 Lah. 338 = 111 I C 508.

—But the special tribunal created by Statute for a particular purpose must act judiciously.

—If the decision is reached without any enquiry and without hearing the parties then the ordinary Courts have jurisdiction to protect the rights of a subject and the decision of the special tribunal is no bar : 21 Bom. L R 27 = 49 I C 427 = 43 B. 221.

—Where the legislature has acted within its powers, no municipal court is competent to question the legality of the enactments of the legislature. A I R 1925 Mad. 837 = 49 Mad. 237 = 48 M L J 204 = 86 I C 485.

—Ordinarily a Civil Court will not interfere with the internal management of Joint Stock Companies acting within their powers :

A I R 1926 S. 295 = 97 I C 84.

Similarly, as regards the internal management of other companies : A I R 1924 Cal. 598 = 83 I C 376 = 28 C W N 479.

( B ) Act of State.

—No action lies against the Secretary of State in respect of an act of State or of Sovereignty.

—No action can be based on any libel however malicious, contained in a resolution of Government 27 Bom. 189 = 5 Bom. L R 30; see also A I R 1928 C. 74 = 107 I C 360 = 54 C. 969.

—On cession of territory, only the rights conferred by new Sovereign by expressed or implied contract, subsist. 39 Bom. 625 = 19 C W N 1087 = 23 C L J 1 = 29 M L J 242 = 18 M L T 179 = 17 Bom. L R 730 = 13 A L J 953 = ( 1915 ) M W N 563 = 2 L W 731 = 30 I C 303 = 42 I A 226 ( P C ).

—British Protectorate State is semi-Sovereign. A I R 1926 P C 131 = 30 C W N 961 = 99 I C 265.

—Rights which are recognised after an Act of state can be adjudicated upon by the Civil Courts. Treaty rights are not matters for adjudication by civil courts but are useful for the guidance of the Govt. as to what rights may be recognised. The rights which a person had under the rule of predecessors avail him nothing.

—Even if in a treaty it is stipulated that certain inhabitants should enjoy certain rights that does not entitle these inhabitants to enforce these stipulations in the Municipal Courts. The right to enforce remains only with the High Contracting parties.

—A mere statement in general terms that rights will be respected must necessarily mean rights determined by the Government Officials. A I R 1924 P C 216 = 48 Bom. 613 = 51 I A 357 = ( 1924 ) M W N 694 = 22 A L J 951 = 5 L R P C 199 = 26 Bom. L R 1143 = 40 C L J 473 = 29 C W N 317 = 21 L W 28 = 47 M L J 574 = 82 I C 779.

—British occupation does not ipso facto destroy private rights : A I R 1921 P C 212.

—British Indian Courts cannot enquire into the legality of an act of a foreign State against its own subjects in respect of property situate in its own territory. 56 B 349 ( 357 ) = 34 B L R 17 = 137 I C 483 = I R 1932 B 286 = A I R 1932 B 206 = A L R 1932 B 565; see also, A L R 1933 P C 153 = A I R 1933 P C 150.

—Guarantee by Secretary of State for India for due performance of a decree is not an act of State : 38 C 754 = 15 C W N 475 = 13 C L J 365 = 9 I C 862.

—An action for tort, authorised by a Sovereign, is not maintainable : 28 M L J 310 = 28 I C 394.

Municipal courts cannot challenge. They can only decide whether a particular Act is an Act of State 38 C. 754 = 15 C W N 475 = 13 C L J 365 = 9 I C 862.

—Municipal Court cannot question, control or interfere with the appropriation of the revenue of India by the Local Government, which would be an act of state, provided it is for the purpose of the government of India A I R 1926 Pat. 305 ( F B ) = 5 Pat. 595 = 7 P L T 695 = 96 I C 791.

—Act of State does not deal with civil rights; tort arising out of negligence of a municipality in stacking of gravel is a civil right : 39 Mad. 351 = 1915 M W N 39 = 27 Ind Cas 723, ( 2 ); ( 1908 ) Pun. Re. No. 105 = 1908 P W R 163.

—When a territory is acquired by a sovereign state for the first time, that is an Act of State. Such rights as an inhabitant had under the rule of predecessors, avail him nothing. Municipal Courts cannot adjudicate upon rights existing before cession.

—Even if in a treaty of cession it is stipulated that certain inhabitants should enjoy certain rights, that does not give a title to these inhabitants to enforce these stipulations in the municipal Courts. A I R 1924 P C 216 = 21 M L W 28 = 1924 M W N 694 = 48 Bom. 113 = 51 I A 357 = 22 A L J 591 = 5 L R P C 199 = 26 Bom. L R 1143 = 40 C L J 473 = 29 C W N 317 = 47 M L J 574 = 82 I C 779 P. C.

—Municipal Courts cannot question the appointment of a Political Agent appointed to manage the State of a minor Chief.

—But Municipal Courts can try suit by Chief for redress of breach of trust for embezzlement by Political Agent or his subordinates with regard to property in British India : A I R 1930 Pat. 357 = I R 1930 P. 497 = 125 I C 145.

(C) Political and Executive acts of Govt.

—Or, a dismissal of a Government servant : 35 C 669 ; 18 C W N 106 = 17 C L J 75 = 16 I C 922 ; 15 C W N 486 note = 13 C L J 357 = 9 I C 858.

—Or, a dismissal of a Ghatwal by Police 24 I C 527.

—Civil Court has jurisdiction to try a suit for possession of ghatwali land though it cannot restore a ghatwali to his service, in as much as a Civil Court cannot adjudicate on the propriety or otherwise of the dismissal of a ghatwal of Birbhum. A I R 1924 Pat. 616 = 3 Pat. 673 = 84 I C 405.

—A suit for damages does not lie against Secretary of State in respect of acts done by Govt.-servants in exercise of statutory powers 29 M L J 280 = 31 I C 224 = 39 M 781.

—Nor does a suit lie questioning the right of the Government to resume the subject of a Saranjam grant, A I R 1923 P C 6 = 47 Bom. 327 = 28 C W N 49 = 17 M L W 405 = 32 M L T 111 = 44 M L J 471 = 50 I A 49 = 25 Bom. L R 527 = 37 C L J 464 = 72 I C 898.

—Where a suit conducted by an agent is compromised and the agent takes a promissory note in his name, and subsequently obtains a decree on the promissory note, a suit for declaration that the plaintiff is the actual decree-holder, and that the person in whose name the decree stands was only acting as his agent, is competent and is not barred by s 9 or s 47, C P C A I R 1931 Rang 24 = Ind Rul (1931) Rang 110 = 130 I C 366.

It is a well known principle of Common Law that there is no wrong without a remedy, but to constitute a wrong there ought to be a right and the right should be one which can be enforced by law. It is this right which can be said to be a Civil right & a suit to enforce that right is a suit of a Civil nature. The following are the instances showing what suits are of Civil nature and what are not. These instances are classified according to the subjects and arranged alphabetically as under :—

—(a) What is—The caste is a social combination, the members of which are enlisted by birth, not by enrolment. Its rules consist partly of resolutions passed from time to time, but for the most part of usages handed down from generation to generation. The caste is not a religious body, though its usages, like all other Hindu usages, are based on religious feelings. In religious matters, strictly so-called, the members of the caste are guided by their religious preceptors and their spiritual heads. In social matters they lay down their own laws. (Quoting from 15 B. 599, 611). (Per Rangnekar J.). Caste is not a corporation of partnership—(Per Beaumont C J 56 B 242 (250)=34 B L R 343=137 I C 461=A I R 1932 B 122 = I R 1932 B 266 = A L R 1932 B 342 (F. B.); see also 7 M L T 17=20 M L J 49=5 I C 42=33 M 342.

Of course a caste, regarded as a social organism, is very different from a club, but both institutions are unincorporated aggregates of individuals, associated together for purposes other than trade, and the legal consequences which flow from that position must apply to both bodies. (Per Beaumont, C J) 56 B 242 (247)=34 B L R 343=137 I C 461 = A I R 1932 B 122 = I R 1932 B 266 = A L R 1932 B 342 (F. B.)

—A "caste question" is a question which relates to matters which affect the internal autonomy of the caste and its social relations.

(a) Ceremonies and Rituals, suits as to:—

—Court will not interfere with questions of religious rites or ceremonies: A I R 1929 M 526=I R 1930 M 74=1929 M W N 300=120 I C 874.

—Unless decision on such questions is necessary to decide rights to property A I R 1921 B 338=24 Bom. L R 1060=84 I C 759.

—Thus a right to perform certain pageants not connected with a temple or a shrine is not of a civil nature 7 A L J 529=6 I C 223=32 A 527 (540); see also 14 M L J 171=28 M 23 (25); nor a right to receive dan by offering Kusha on a river bank A I R 1921 A 374=59 I C 659=43 A 159.

—Determination of the question of orthodoxy is not within the province of Civil Courts. 10 Bur L T 194=37 I C 780; see also 1915 M W N 281=28 I C 604 (610); and 16 M L J 150 (157).

(b) Dancing Girls—

—But a temple dancing woman can sue the trustees to permit her to undergo certain customary ceremony so as to enable her to enter on the duties of her office, though such right of suit does not extend to the adoptee of such woman where the adoption is made with a criminal intent 19 M 127 see also A I R 1927 L 663=103 I C 767; and 111 I C 349= A I R 1928 C 537=55 C 712.

(c) Honours, suits relating to:—

—Thus a claim which refers merely to a religious honour which consists of receiving theertham and prasadam in a Hindu temple is prima facie not one of a civil nature unless such honour is attached as an emolument to a religious office 7 L W 614=45 I C 959.

(d) Injunctions:—

—Similarly a suit to prohibit certain members of the Roman Catholic persuasion from mixing with other members in the church, does not lie; nor a suit by member of congregation against Bishop to continue a favour of indulgence, 39 Mad. 1056=34 Ind. Cas. 557.

—A priest can be restrained by a suit in Civil Court from using a seal bearing a word to which a special meaning has become attach-—Parties, wanting the religious ceremonies performed for their benefit, can choose their own priests, and no one is entitled to a declaration that he is exclusively entitled to officiate as the priest; though, if already engaged to officiate, he can obtain a declaration that he cannot be prevented from exercising his duty 16 C W N 347=13 C L J 449=10 I C 41; see also 17 I C 138.

—The last two cases are distinguishable: In 3 B 232 the Court would not force a Joshi on unwilling yajamanas. In 21 B 821 the yajamanas were employing and willing to employ the plff but the defts obstructed him in the performance of his duties. Where a priest was being obstructed by the deft in officiating held a suit for injunction lies, but the plff's acquiescence was bar to the granting of relief A I R 1921 Bom. 209=45 B 234=59 I C 271.

—(f) Office, rights as to:—Mr. Justice Mitter in A I R 1927 C 783 (785)=54 C 614. Has expressed an opinion that there is a conflict of decisions as to whether an office to which no fees or emoluments are attached is an office within the meaning of s. 9 C P C.

—In 5 M L J 209=19 M 62 and 14 M L J 171=28 M 23. The Madras High Court has, it is said, held that such office is not an office within the meaning of s. 9 C. P. C. The Calcutta High Court, on the other hand, has held to the contrary 15 C 159; and 4 C W N 79=27 C 30; and 14 C W N 1057=12 C L J 74; and A I R 1927 C 783=54 C 614.

—The decisions had mainly turned on the question that Civil Court had no jurisdiction to interfere with the internal autonomy of caste and not that the suit did not lie because no fees were attached to the offices in question.

—Similarly, a body of Brahmins can sue for a declaration as to their right to recite vedas in a temple A I R 1927 M 131=98 I C 229 —And irrespective of the fact whether a gajawal gadi is an office or a business, the person entitled to it can sue for possession of the gadi and its books and for a declaration as to his right to the gadi 3 Pat. L W 136=2 P L J 705=1918 Pat. 50=42 I C 478.

—Specific duty of being present at the performance of religious ceremonies with emoluments attached must be regarded as an office. A I R 1928 Mad 377=109 I C 771.

—The right to hold a certain office in a certain place at a certain season of year confers upon the holder of that right a legal character and a suit to establish such a right is maintainable.

—But no right vests in any priest to claim to go to the house of a disciple, even when not called for, by him, for performance of religious ceremonies there and a suit does not lie for declaration that the plff. is entitled to perform all funeral ceremonies within a certain birt. 1 Pat. ### (1) General

Jurisdiction are of several kinds e.g.

- (1) Personal
- (2) Pecuniary
- (3) As to place of suits (Territorial).
- (4) As to appeals
- (5) Special jurisdictions e.g. High Courts original and appellate jurisdictions so also Insolvency, Matrimonial, Probate, &c. 71 I.C. 705=4 PLT 147=AIR Pat. 242 (1923)=2 Pat. 335.

—There are other special jurisdictions by special laws.—

- (1) Mamlatdar's &c.
- (2) Small cause courts
- (3) Presidency small cause courts.
- (4) Revenue Courts
- (5) Several other jurisdictions created by special Acts of legislature, e.g. Criminal and Revenue &c.

(7) Jurisdiction (Contd.)

—In case of alternative reliefs, the court which has the power to try both, has jurisdiction 33 I.C. 768.

—Where one and the same court is invested with small cause powers and also the ordinary powers of civil court, the two are different courts in the eye of the law 37 Bom. 675=15 Bom. L. R. 773=20 I. C. 974.

—District Judge, power of—Not the court of original jurisdiction in cases of a nature cognisable by the Small Cause Court. Cr. P C 187 (7) 2 Pat. L J 1.

—The law which takes away jurisdiction must be express. A I R 1928 All 511=26 A L J 673 = L R 9 A 200 Rev. = Ind. Rul. (1929) All 426 = 115 I C 650.

—The provisions as to jurisdiction ought to be construed strictly. Hardship considerations to be put aside 47 Cal. 555 = 31 C L J 150=55 I C 747.

—Where special powers depend on a statutory provisions such provisions should be strictly complied with Revenue Courts powers of 25 I C 316=17 O C 224=1 O L J 335.

—The distinction between Jurisdiction and its exercise is that the one is an error of judgment and therefore curable in appeal or revision while in the case of want of jurisdiction it is void ab initio and cannot be cured 37 C L J 585 = 70 I C 784 = A I R 1924 C 154 See also : 52 I C 352 and 70 I C 432 = 41 M L J 594 = A I R 1922 M 447 = 45 M 90.

—The following are instances of court exercising power beyond the provisions of the rules & yet the decision is not null and void:—

—(1) Leave granted to withdraw a suit with liberty to bring fresh suit, 58 I C 806 = 31 C L J 482 = 24 C W N 723 = 48 C 138 (F. B.); (44 C 567 = 20 C W N 1000 = 23 C L J 489 = 31 I C 670 Overruled.)

—No hard & fast rule can be laid down as to total absence of jurisdiction and an irregularity within it. 19 C W N 1159 = 31 I C 664.

—It is only by proper procedure that an illegal exercise of jurisdiction can be remedied e.g. by an appeal or revision & not by a separate suit 5 P L T 473=77 I C 851=A I R 1924 Pat 537=1924 P H C C 142.

—It is the claim made in the plaint and not decision upon it that determines the questions of appeal 274 P W R 1912=3 P L R 1913=16 I C 865 See to the same effect. A I R 1923 L 284 = 72 I C 389.

—And for this purpose the value of the suit that should be looked to is that which the plaintiff assigns and not what the court finds. So also this value remains unchanged in all the stages of the suit 89 I C 407 = A I R 1926 N 71

—It is the claim and not the defence which is, or which is likely to be set up that determines the jurisdiction 45 I C 654. See to the same effect:—91 I C 561 = A I R 1926 M 37 = 22 M L W 462 = 49 M L J 554. Similarly held in:—107 I C 671 = A I R 1928 Nag. 221.

—In deciding a question of jurisdiction the plaint as framed is to be looked to and not the form it may assume in the end in the absence of fraud. A I R 1922 M 344 = 66 I C 168 = 41 M L J 297 = 1921 M W N 704 = 14 M L W 379 = 44 M 965. See to the same effect:—79 I C 161 = A I R 1924 N 275 = 20 N L R 145. See to the same effect:—88 I C 212 and 20 I C 421 = 11 A L J 542. See also to the same effect:—28 C W N 710 = A I R 1924 C 783 = 78 I C 747 = 51 C 737. See also the same principle laid down:—33 I C 288 = 43 C 144.

—Until the case is tried on merits the allegations made in the plaint should guide the court in deciding the question of jurisdiction. A I R 1922 Nag. 10 = 18 N L R 121 = 5 N L J 214 = 65 I C 532.

—Courts have no power to start proceedings suo moto unless expressly authorised by law to do so 1926 Pat 62 = 7 P L T 39 = 89 Ind. Cas. 992.

—Jurisdiction means the power given to courts either as original or appellate to grant reliefs or punish parties appearing or brought before it under specific provisions of law 67 I C 686 = A I R 1922 Pat 322. See to the same effect: 1927 B 272 = 29 Bom L R 361 = 101 I C 582 = 51 B 416.

—Authority given to courts to entertain and decide the matters coming before it by law constitutes jurisdiction and not decision A I R 1928 C 606 = 113 I C 570.

—It may include power to make an order 58 I C 806 = 31 C L J 482 = 24 C W N 723 = 48 C 138 (F B) see also 1925 Cal. 1258 = 42 C L J 22 = 30 C W N 41 = 89 I C 744.

—See also cases under "Waiver and Consent" infra Objection Can be raised at any stage, as where Court has no jurisdiction over the subject matter its order is wholly void, no waiver or acquiescence can cure the lack or defect of jurisdiction 38 Cal. 339; 36 Cal. 193; 17 C W N 116. Ref. 24 Cal. W N 633 = 31 C L J 272 = 56 I C 532 = 47 C 770.

—The Court can decide the question as to whether it has acted in contravention of the statute and consequently without jurisdiction 21 C W N 387 = 25 C L J 339 = 41 I C 295.

—Want of jurisdiction cannot be inferred 17 I C 621 = 8 N L R 169.

—The burden of proving want of jurisdiction is on the party alleging it. 108 I C 748 = 1928 L 121 = 29 P L R 396 = 9 L 504 (F B) so also held similarly in 1 U P L R 18 (A) = 52 I C 32. See also:—25 I C 891 = 27 M L J 233.

—Presumption is in favour of Jurisdiction unless expressly taken away 17 C W N 408 = 17 Ind Cas 490.

—So also the presumption is in favour of the highest court 17 I C 886 = 8 N L R 179.

—See also cases under "Waiver and consent as to" Infra. Absence of jurisdiction renders the action of court null & void being in contravention of law 39 Cal. 353 = 14 C L J 552 = 16 C W N 817 = 13 I C 353.

—Jurisdiction—Proceedings in contravention of law—Nullity 33 Cal 68 (71) = 2 C L J 241 = 9 C W N 1046 = 2 Cr L J 618.

—See cases under (1) General supra and "Waiver and consent" supra.

—Court having jurisdiction wrongly decided the case does not make the decision null and void. A I R 1926 Cal 1101 = 30 C W N 940 = 45 C L J 24 = 97 I C 770.

Objection to jurisdiction—Collateral attack not allowed—Difference between erroneous orders and orders made without jurisdiction. 46 Cal 70 = 43 I C 804 = 22 C W N 520 = 27 C L J 395.

—Jurisdiction cannot be conferred by consent or waiver—order without jurisdiction is a nullity. 2 Cal. L Jour 384 = 9 Cal W N 956. see also:—1929 Lah 534 = 30 P L R 244 = 116 Ind Cas 324.

—The Jurisdiction which a court has, cannot be taken away by consent of parties or their pleaders. 91 I C 108 = A I R 1926 Oudh 272.

—Practice—Erroneous admission by counsel on a point of law—Effect. 7 Cal L J 152.

—Where the court has jurisdiction over the subject matter, mere defect in procedure in its exercise can be waived. 52 I C 352 see to the same effect. A. I. R. 1922 Mad. 447=45 Mad. 90=15 M. L. W. 190=41 M. L. J. 594 = 1921 M. W. N. 764=70 I. C. 432.

—But it is otherwise if want of jurisdiction is apparent on the face of the record. A I R 1922 Pat. 322 = 67 I C 686.

—The present section has effected following omissions and alterations as compared with the corresponding section of the old Code Viz:—(a) the words "for the same relief" appearing in the old section have been omitted, as to the effect of which see (10) Matter in issue infra; (b) so also, the words "except where a suit has been stayed under s. 20" and the words "whether superior or inferior" have been omitted see (2) Applicability and scope infra (c) the words "proceed with the trial" have been substituted for the words "try," as to the effect of which see (14) Proceed with trial—infra and (d) the words "litigating under the same title" are newly added see (11) Parties—infra.

—The object of the section is to avoid conflict of judicial decisions: 29 Bom L R 382=102 I C 229=A I R 1927 B 245; see also per Mahmood J in 11 A 148 (155); for it is obviously essential that where concurrent proceedings for similar relief are taken in two different and independent Courts, no order should be passed which may lead to friction or conflict of jurisdiction A I R (1924) Pat 491=3 Pat 357=5 P L T 243=(1924) Pat 54=78 I C 620.

—And the provisions of the section leave no discretion to the Courts in respect of the stay of suits when the circumstances are such as to invoke the operation of the section 36 C W N 667=A I R 1932 C 751=I R 1932 C 692.

—S. 10, however, does not form part of the rule of res judicata, though the reason upon which it is based is in some respects similar in principle to the doctrine of res judicata: 11 A 148 (154) see also 13 Bur L T 19=57 I C 904.

—Whilst s. 10 bars only a suit, s. 11, bars the trial of both the suit and of issue involved in that suit A I R 1929 Oudh 341=4 Luck 573=7 O W N 157= Ind Rul (1929) Oudh 183=114 I C 775.

—The only jurisdiction, which the Court possesses under s. 10, is not to decide the question of res judicata, but, to stop the new suit if it finds the existence of the circu-instances mentioned in the section, pending the disposal of the prior suit 42 Cal. 926=27 I C 917.

—One test of the applicability of S. 10 is whether the final decision in the previous suit would operate as res judicata in the subsequent suit 36 C W N 667 = A I R 1932 C 751 = 140 I C 155 = I R 1932 C 692 —And the conditions necessary for stay of suit under s. 10 are (1) the matter in issue must also be directly and substantially in issue in a previously instituted suit; (2) between the same parties; (3) in the same or any other Court in British India; and (4) having jurisdiction to grant the relief claimed. 110 I C 418.

—Thus where pending an appeal a suit is instituted on the same cause of action and between the same parties the proper course for the Court of the second action is to adjourn the action pending the decision of the appeal in the first action. A I R 1931 P C 263 = (1931) A L J 833 (P C) = 61 M L J 420 = 34 L W 565 = Ind. Rul. (1931) P C 283 = 134 I C 331 P C.

—It should be noted that mere fact that decision in a previous suit which is still pending will affect the decision of a subsequent suit is not a sufficient ground for staying the latter under the present section. 6 O L J 96 = 50 I C 212; see also 24 C L J 514 = 36 I C 641; and 114 P R 1919 = 53 I C 467.

—And where the same matter is involved in a second appeal and a suit the latter may be stayed on the analogy of s. 10. But attempt should first be made in the trial Court, then only an application for stay should be made to High Court. A I R 1931 Cal 779 (1) = 53 C L J 619 = Ind. Rul. (1931) Cal 670 = 133 I C 222.

—The section does not refer whatever to cause of action or subject-matter of the suit. 36 C W N 667 = 140 I C 135 = I R 1932 C 692 = A I R 1932 C 751.

—Where A and B agreed to bring the suit at a particular place and A acted accordingly but B brought a suit in another Court and asked for a stay of A's suit. Held, such relief cannot be granted. A I R 1928 Bom. 175 = 30 Bom. L R 546 = 110 I C 727.

—S. 10 is not the only section as to stay of suit. Suits can also be stayed under s. 151 to prevent an abuse of Courts and to render effective orders already passed. A I R 1929 Lah. 12 = 10 Lah. —Govt. of India Act 1915 s. 107 also relates to the power of Court to grant stay of suit A L R 1933 L 582.

—A suit on same cause of action was stayed pending decision of appeal on the ground of balance of convenience. A I R 1931 Lah. 65 = 31 P L R 550 = 129 I C 889.

—Pending an appeal against the order dismissing vendee's suit for possession in which the vendor's title was impeached, the vendee brought a suit against the vendor for recovery of money. On vendor asking for stay of suit till the disposal of appeal it was held that s. 10 was not applicable but that the Court had power to safeguard the interest of the vendor by reserving judgment under s. 151. C P C. I R 1931 L 369 = 131 I C 97.

—Similarly, pending an appeal before the Privy Council between the parties relating to the question of title, a suit before the Asst. Collector under s. 108 (6) Oudh Rent Act was stayed under s. 151, although s. 10 did not apply. I R 1930 O 146 = 14 R D 171 = 7 O W N 386 = 123 I C 50.

(3) COURTS IN Br. INDIA AND FOREIGN COURTS.

—It is doubtful whether a subordinate Court in British India can restrain a party from prosecuting a suit in a foreign Court (though within the British Empire). But chartered High Courts have such power. A. I. R. 1928 Mad. 491 = 27 L. W. 418 = 109 I C 281

—British Indian Court can restrain the deft. who had filed a suit in a Native State from proceeding with his suit provided the deft. has submitted to the jurisdiction of British India Court. ## ( 4 ) COURT HAVING JURISDICTION TO GRANT RELIEF.

—These words do not refer to territorial jurisdiction : 13 Bur. L T 19 = 10 L B R 154 = 57 I C 904.

—The words "having jurisdiction" refer to the Court in which the first suit is pending and a suit under s. 10 can be stayed only when the Court trying the previously instituted suit is competent to grant the relief claimed in that suit and also the relief claimed in the subsequent suit. 12 N L R 174 = 37 I C 510.

—The petitioners filed a suit for recovery of money, which was pending in the court of the Senior Subordinate Judge of Amritsar. The respondents asked for an order staying it as they had filed a suit on the same questions in the Court of the Munsif at Delhi. The prayer was granted.

—Held, that as the suits were not pending in Courts of concurrent jurisdiction in the sense that the suit to be stayed could be tried in the Court in which the first suit was instituted the order passed by the Senior Subordinate Judge was without jurisdiction. 114 P. R. 1919=53 I C 467.

—A, a merchant in Karachi sued B his Commission agent at Calcutta for account and for recovery of money in the Court at Karachi. At Calcutta the commission Agent sued his principal for a sum named or for an account; Held, that the suit at Calcutta should be stayed as the Court at Karachi has jurisdiction to grant the reliefs claimed. 43 Cal 144=33 I. C. 288.

—And it is evident that the section is not applicable where the previously instituted suit is pending in a court not competent to try it. 157 P.W. R. 1914=283 P. L. R. 1914=26 I. C. 282; e. g. a judge can in a suit for accounts pass a decree for a sum in excess of his pecuniary jurisdiction, but he cannot entertain a suit for accounts which is valued by the plff. at a figure above the limits of his pecuniary jurisdiction 12 N. L. R. 174=37 I. C. 510; see also 9 N. L. R. 174

—Mortgagee of an insolvent bringing a suit on the mortgage, and the receiver applying under s. 23, Provincial Insolvency Act, Court trying the mortgage suit does not cease to have jurisdiction over the suit and the proper course is to stay the mortgage suit—Application for stay should be made to the court trying suit or any other Court having power to stay. A.I.R. 1925 Mad. 1051=48 M. 730=(1925) M. W. N. 672=49 M. L. J. 203=88 I. C. 934.

—District Court exercising insolvency jurisdiction under Pro. Ins. Act 1920 cannot, under the present section, stay a suit brought by the mortgagee against his mortgagor prior to the insolvency of the mortgagor : 88 I. C. 934=49 M.L.J. 203=48 M. 750=1925 M 1051.

—C, being sued as agent to account for moneys given to him, instituted a separate suit claiming to recover a certain sum which he alleged was due to him from the principal over and above the amount in respect of which account was sought from him; Held S. 12, C. P. C. 1882 has no application to suits of this kind. 15 C. W. N. 930=11 I C 161.

—The case would, however, be different now in view of the omission from the present section the words " for the same relief " which appeared in the old section. In the case of cross-suits the reliefs sought must of necessity be different, but under the present section identity of reliefs is no longer a condition for the applicability of the section.

( 6 ) DISMISSAL OF SUITS

—See ( 14i ) Proceed with trial—infra.

( 7 ) INHERENT POWER

—See ( 1 ) Applicability and scope supra, and also cases under C. P. C. S. 151.

—The section does not bar the institution of a suit; it merely provides that, when two are pending, only one can be allowed to proceed, and the suit first filed takes priority : 22 B 640; see to the same effect 19 P L R 1900; and 27 M L J 405 = 1914 M W N 740 = 25 I C 597 and 77 I C 157 = A I R 1925 P 201.

—And where applications to carry out a prior decree in a suit by mortgagor were rejected by the High Court, the fact that applications for leave to appeal to P. C. against such rejection were pending in such High Court would not bar under S. 10 the second suit by the purchaser of the equity of redemption 21 M 18—followed in 115 I C 665 = A I R 1929 R 67 = 6 R 775.

—Where the debt. was directed to file suit in Civil Court on his raising question of title in the ejectment suit, the suit filed after expiry of time prescribed but before the conclusion of suit in Revenue Court is not entertainable A I R 1925 All. 615= 23 A L J 529 = 47 A 904 = 88 I C 684.

—Interlocutory orders can be passed despite an order staying suit 33 Bom L R 1228=64 I C 580 = A I R 1922 B 276=46 B 431.

—But a Court cannot, in a case where suit is stayed under s. 10, fix a further date for appearance unless moved 112 I C 324 = A I R 1928 L 75.

( 10 ) MATTER IN ISSUE

But identity of reliefs is not now necessary. If the matter in issue in the two suits is the same, the later suit must be stayed without regard to the relief sought. 12 Bur L T 203=55 I C 254; see also 18 All L J 431=42 All 409=58 Ind Cas 90; and 82 I C 539; and 13 Bom L R 109=9 I C 929.

—Thus where plff. obtained a decree in Civil Court for joint possession with debt but the debt. appealed to P. C. raising question of title, a subsequent suit by plff in Revenue Court for profits raising question of title during pendency of appeal was stayed. 58 I C 629.

—But a mortgagee's suit for personal decree and mortgagor's suit in another Court for declaration and injunction against mortgagee's selling mortgaged property do not fall within s. 10. A I R 1927 Bom. 245=29 Bom. L R 382=102 I C 229.

—And where the Court stayed proceedings in one of two suit filed under ss. 44 and 99 of the Agra Tenancy Act respectively, and decided the matter in issue in the other, s. 10 is not applicable and the other suit can be proceeded with. 15 R D 41.

—Similarly, s. 10 does not bar a suit for mesne profits during the pendency of an appeal from a decree for possession passed by another Court. 4 C P L R 27; nor a suit for mesne profits accruing subsequent to the institution of the prior suit. I R 1929 R 121 = 115 I C 665 = A I R 1929 R 67 = 6 R 775.

—Where grounds were not traversed and issue not raised in the prior suit, a subsequent suit for mesne profits pending the prior suit was held not barred A I R 1929 Mad. 785 = 30 L W 738 = 57 M L J 515 = Ind. Rul. ( 1930 ) Mad. 422 = 123 I C 6.

—Similarly, s. 10 does not bar the trial of a suit for rent for a period subsequent to that included in the previously instituted suit for rent 24 C L J 514 = 36 I C 641.

—The section is not applicable where the suits are for distinct and different debts

C. P. C. ( 1908 ) S. 10 ( Contd. ).

( 10 ) Matter in Issue—( Contd. )

A I R 1923 Cal. 716 = 27 C W N 772 = 75 I C 231.

—So where matters in issue are identical in two suits, the later suit should be stayed A I R 1923 Mad. 88 = 16 L W 607 = 70 I C 5; and such matters should be directly and substantially in issue in the two suits. A I R 1927 Mad. 1199 = 106 I C 661.

—But to attract the provisions of s. 10, the entire subject-matter of the two suits must be the same. A I R 1931 Oudh 313=8 O W N 644= Ind Rul (1931) Oudh 257=132 I C 257; and not merely the main question involved 48 M L J 251=88 I C 421=A I R 1925 M 574.

—Nor merely one or some of the issues in common A I R 1927 Mad. 132 = 26 L W 241=103 I C 274; see also 1930 A L J 284=A I R 1930 A 304=122 I C 752 = A I R 1929 A 805= 51 A 1017; and 61 I C 830; and 33 P W R 1922=69 I C 111=A I R 1923 L 69; and A I R 1922 Mad. 304=31 M L T 360=15 L W 646=70 I C 682.

—Thus where former suit relates to declaration of title with regard to certain properties and latter suit is for profits in regard to one of those properties s. 10 will not apply A I R 1929 Oudh 351=4 Luck 573=7 O W N 157 = Ind Rul ( 1929 ) Oudh 183=114 I C 775.

—The main properties of the joint Hindu family was divided under an award. Some of the members of the family filed two simultaneous suits, one in respect of the property covered by the wards, and the other in respect of the property that was still joint. Held, that the two suits were separately maintainable as the sum total of the facts on which they were based were not the same 4 O L J 520 = 42 I C 413.

—Under the old Code it was held that causes of action of the two suits must also be the same. 14 Bom L R 9=13 I C 849=36 B 189.

C. P. C. (1908) S. 10 (Contd.)*(13) Previously Instituted Pending Suit—(Contd.)

—Onus is on the deft. to produce before the Court such documents as will satisfy the court that S. 10 is applicable. 3 Pat. L W 327= 39 I C 908.

—The original application prayed for the stay of a suit pending the disposal of an appeal which the petitioner had preferred to the District Judge and the rule issued on the application was with reference to that appeal. Before the application came on for final hearing that appeal had however, been dismissed, and the petitioner had preferred a second appeal to the High Court against the decree of the District Judge.

—The petitioner applied at the final hearing of the application for the extension of the scope of the rule so as to cover the second appeal preferred by the petitioner. Held, that, in the circumstances of the case, the scope of the rule ought to be amended by making it cover the second appeal. 36 C W N 667 = I R 1932 C 692 = A I R 1932 C 751.

—The section merely empowers the Court not to proceed with the trial of a suit in certain circumstances; it does not empower the Court to dismiss the suit in such circumstances. 77 I C 157 = A I R 1925 Pat. 201.

—Neither S. 10 nor S 11 C P C precludes the institution of a fresh suit for the same relief: they only bar the trial. In cases coming within S 10 the proper procedure is to stay the suit and not to dismiss it. 27 M L J 405 = (1914) M W N 740=25 I C 597.

—But when the only result of a stay would be to keep the suit pending until the sole question at issue in it is decided in the other suit and so become res judicata, there is nothing wrong in dismissing the subsequent suit sought to be stayed. 16 C W N 897 = 16 I C 459; see also 2 M L T 40=16 M L J 526.

—There is a conflict of opinion as to whether an erroneous order under s. 10 is revisable. The Calcutta High Court has held that it is revisable: 36 I C 641; A I R 1923 C 716; and 27 I C 917 = 42 C 926; and so has the Madras: 16 L W 607 = 70 I C 5 = A I R 1923 M 88.

—and Oudh Courts: 6 O L J 96 = 50 I C 212; and 5 O W N 601 = 3 Luck 650 = A I R 1928 O 355 = 111 I C 161 F B.

—But the Allahbad: A I R 1921 A 1 = 63 I C 15 = 19 A L J 558 = 43 A 564 F B; and 17 A L J 718 = 57 I C 331 = 41 A 602; 18 A L J 431 = 58 I C 90 = 42 A 409; and A I R 1929 A 957 = 1930 A L J 235 = 121 I C 97; and the Lahore High Courts have held that such order is not revisable : 31 P L R 174 = I R 1931 L 1 = 128 I C 49 = A I R 1930 L 525; and 75 I C 101 = A I R 1924 L 567; and 33 P W R 1922 = 69 I C 111 = A I R 1923 L 69; and 4 L L J 425 = 67 I C 870 = A I R 1922 L 54.

—In a recent case, however, the same High Court has held that High Court can interfere in revision against an order under s. 10, if suitable grounds are disclosed 1932 P C L 441 ( Civ ) = 33 P L R 787=139 I C 48=I R 1932 L 558= A L R 1932 L 441 (Civ); see also 82 I C 234 = A I R 1925 L 144.

( 16 ) SUIT, MEANING OF

—The provisions of the section only apply to "suits" and no other proceedings (but see C P C s. 141); except where the Court exercises its inherent power to meet the ends of justice : 4 S L R 187 = 9 I C 707.

—Proceedings in appeal are only a continuation of the suit instituted in the first Court and deemed to be suit 18 M L T 400 = (1915) M W N 844 = 30 I C 753; see to the same effect 27 C W N 772 = 75 I C 231=A I R 1923 C 716; and 15 Bom. —Arbitration proceedings or proceedings to file an award, though not technically a suit and therefore not within s. 10 C P C are nevertheless litigious proceedings, are governed by the same principle of general law as are laid down in s. 10. 4 S L R 187 = 9 I C 707; see to the same effect : 23 S L R 427 = 112 I C 318 = A I R 1928 S 169; and 16 S L R 79 = 66 I C 796 = A I R 1922 S 6.

—The section does not apply to applications under s. 20 ( 2 ) C P C. 30 P L R 395 = I R 1929 L 638 = 117 I C 94 = A I R 1929 L 533.

—Nor does the section apply to execution proceedings. I R 1929 L 904 = 119 I C 488 = A I R 1929 L 694; see to the same effect 22 M 256 and cases under. C P C S. 47.

C. 1882 has been omitted as it was unnecessary and liable to misconstruction, and (c) Expl VI of S. 13 of the old Code has been transposed to S. 14 of the present Code and (d) the scope of Expl. V of the old section=Expl VI of the present section has been enlarged by addition of the words "public right" in view of s. 91 which is newly added to the present Code.

- (A) Applicability, scope and general principles.
- (B) Res. judicata and Estoppel, difference between.
- (C) If sec. 11 exhaustive.
- (D) Evidence necessary to plead resjudicata.
- (E) Plea of resjudicata if can be waived and when it can be raised.

—Both s. 10 and s. 11 deal with the law of procedure : A. I. R. 1922 S. 6=16 S. L. R. 79=66 I. C. 796.

—But, whereas s. 10 bars the trial of a suit in which the matter directly and substantially in issue is pending adjudication in a previous suit, the present section bars the trial of a suit the material issue in which has already been adjudicated in a former suit : A. I. R. 1929 O. 341=4 Luck 573=7 O. W. N. 157 = I. R. 1929 O. 183=114 I. C. 775.

—As to the applicability, the section applies to all orders passed in the same suit between the same parties when the question arises in subsequent proceedings in the suit : A. I. R. 1924 M. 406 = 73 I. C. 903.

—And where applicable, it bars a suit as well as a defence concerning material issues : A. I. R. 1921 P. C. 231.

—For the application of the rule of res judicata it is essential that there must be a previous decree or order having the force of a decree. 9 O W N 488 (511)=137 I. C. 606=I. R. 1932 O 243=16 R. D. 246=13 L. R. 246 (Rev.)=A. I. R. 1932 O 199=A L. R. 1932 O 507 (F. B.)

—Plea of resjudicata can be successful only where the law expressly provides for it A I R 1929 All 506=(1929) A L J 653= 51 A. 805=Ind. Rul (1929) All. 865=118 I. C. 513.

—Where a Judicial decision differently interprets the law the rights of parties decided upon prior decisions nevertheless remain unaffected. A. I. R. 1928 Cal. 777 = 56 C. 723 = 33 C. W. N. 126 = Ind. Rul. (1929) Cal. 417=48 C. L. J. 327=115 I. C. 593.

—Where a plea of res judicata was disallowed by law, and the question was left open, it was held that the question can be reopened on the change of law : 85 I. C. 574=A. I. R. 1925 M. 1107.

C. P. C. (1908) S. 11 (Contd.)

(2) Preliminary—(Contd.)

(A) Applicability, Scope and General Principles—(Contd.)

—Principle of res judicata applies only to judgments and not decree. So, where two cross-suits are filed simultaneously between the same parties about the same subject-matter and one judgment is delivered in both the suits, though separate decrees are framed, appeal from one decree will not be barred merely because there has been no appeal from the other A. I. R. 1927 Lah. 289=104 I. C. 849 =8 Lah. 384 (F.B.)

—Res Judicata applies to insolvency proceedings though not under s. 11 A.L.R. 1933 M. 526.=63 M. L. J. 778=86 L. W. 699=1932 M. W. N 1201=A I R 1933 M. 9; see also 193 P. L. R. 1905=75 P R 1905 F. B. (overruling 145 P. R. 1884) and A L R 1933 C 695; and also to suits under Act 10 of 1859 : I N W 119.

—S.11 does not apply to orders passed under s. 33, Income-tax Act. A I R 1929 Mad. 453=56 M. L. J. 451=29 L. W. 476=Ind. Rul. (1929) Mad. 478=115 I. C. 814 F. J. 379.

—The section does not apply where the prior suit abates and is not dismissed on merits. A. I. R. 1931 Lah. 79 = 31 P. L. R. 973 = I. R. 1931 L. 370 = 131 I. C. 98; nor does it apply to third parties : I Bom. L. R. 76=23 B. 597.

—Principle of s. 11 is not applicable to a Criminal case. Where a Criminal revision petition was dismissed a fresh petition was barred, not under s. 11, but on principles of justice, equity, and good conscience : (1915) M. W. N. 786.

—As to criminal proceedings under S. 133 of Cr. P. Code see : 19 C. W. N. 332.

—The question of res judicata has no concern with the question whether the former suit has been correctly decided : A. I. R. 1928 C. 777 = 33 C. W. N. 126 F. B.; an erroneous decision can operate as res judicata : A. I. R. 1926 N. 476=9 N. L. J. 183 = 96 I. C. 963 (see also cases under "Heard and Decided-Issues of Law-erroneous decision"); otherwise every decision will be impeached as erroneous and there will be no end of litigation : 1918 M. W. —The effect of a final order cannot be sought to be avoided by making allegations that the decision was wrong on the merits

C. P. C. (1908) S. 11 (Contd.)

(2) Preliminary—(Contd)

(A) Applicability, Scope, and General Principles—(Contd)

because full facts were not placed before the Court or that all available evidence was not let in on the former occasion. 55 M. 495 (505)=1931 M. W. N. 1235=34 L. W. 809=62 M. L. J. 302=136 I. C. 306=A. I. R. 1932 M. 86=I. R. 1932 M. 274.

—The rule of res judicata does not create any right or interest in the property, though it may indirectly affect the rights of persons against whom it is effective. The rule is a rule of personal estoppel and does not attach itself to property. A. I. R. 1921 Mad. 306=44 M. 514=41 M. L. J. 288=63 I. C. 205.

—Decision in a previous suit that the issue between the parties is barred by res judicata itself operates as res judicata in a subsequent suit. A. I. R. 1930 Pat. 585=9 Pat. 674=Ind. Rul. (1931) Pat. 33=128 I. C. 337.

—The plea of res judicata is not one of jurisdiction of the Court: A. I. R. 1930 Pat. 585=11 P. L. T. 765=128 I. C. 337=9 Pat. 674; but its effect is to take away jurisdiction: 20 B. 86.

—A judgment, order etc, set up as res judicata, can, however, be impeached on the ground that it was delivered by a court without jurisdiction or was obtained by fraud or collusion; it is not necessary to have the judgment previously set aside by a separate suit: A. I. R. 1929 C. 685=I. R. 1929 C. 231=114 I. C. 407; 1902 A. W. N. 38=24 A. 242; 24 W. R. 217; 29 M. L. J. 558=18 M. L. T. 402=1915 M. W. N. 829=2 L. W. 1005=30 I. C. 962.

—But where absence of jurisdiction in the Court depends on a fact in the knowledge of the party which he had an opportunity of bringing forward in the Court, and he does not bring that fact forward but allows the Court to proceed with the judgment he ought not to be permitted to impeach the jurisdiction of the Court in any collateral proceeding. A. I. R. 1922 Pat. 322=67 I. C. 686.

—A person relying on false statements and not calling evidence to support his own statements will be deemed to be as much bound by the decision as he would have been if he put forward a true case and called all the evidence that was available. A. I. R. 1927 Cal. 421=46 C. L. J. 596=31 C. W. N. 898=100 I. C. 510.

—A wrong decision as to res judicata is a good ground for revision if it prevented a case being heard on merits: 2 P. R. 1910=101 P. L. R. 1910=6 I. C. 735; see also 42 P. W. R. 1910 and 11 B. 488 and cases under "Heard and Decided—Issues of Law."

—As to the test of res judicata, it is suggested that appealability is the test: A. I. R. 1926 C. 568=44 C. L. J. 399=30 C. W. N. 415=94 I. C. 235; and that mutuality is one; 49 I. C. 959.

—But the real test is the identity of matters in issue: 56 C. L. J. 369; A. I. R. 1930 C. 47=33 C. W. N. 876=I. R. 1930 C. 401=124 I. C. 161=57 C. 258; A. I. R. 1927 M. 273=25 L. W. 11=100 I. C. 402; 89 I. C. 282; A. I. R. 1925 O. 390=12 O. L. J. 248=2 O. W. N. 292=88 I. C. 985=29 O. C. 93; 23 M. L. J. 543; and 6 C. 715.

—It should be noted, however, that the rule of res judicata applies, even in absence of issue and decision, if the facts are accepted by the parties and made foundation of their claim 36 L. W. 414 (418)=A. I. R. 1932 M. 519=139 I. C. 761=I. R. 1932 M. 789=A. I. R. 1932 M. 1466.

—It has been held that identity of causes of action is not the test: A. I. R. 1929 O. 172=6 O. W. N. 191=4 Luck. 603=I. R. 1929 O. 312=116 I. C. 200 F. B; nor the identity of subject-matter: 6 C. 715 (but see 25 M. L. J. 324=1913 M. W. N. 776=5 L. W. 299=21 I. C. 219=14 M. L. T. 229).

—In order to consider whether a previous decision is res judicata or not the substantial effect of what has been decided in the case has to be considered 56 C. L. J. 369 (402); see also A. I. R. 1926 O. 101=12 O. L. J. 571=2 O. W. N. 872=91 I. C. 583.

—In deciding whether res judicata applies, the Court has to consider the array of parties the issues raised and the point or points actually decided in the previous litigation, 18 A. L. J. 150=76 I. C. 673.

—But where, what the Court had to decide in the former suit is different from what the Court has to decide in the subsequent suit the previous suit does not operate as res judicata A. I. R. 1931 Lah. 251.

—Different valuation of same property in suit does not take the case out of the rule of res judicata A. I. R. 1931 Lah. 217=32 P. L. R. 214.

—Nor can the bar of res judicata be got over by adding untenable claim in the later suit. A. I. R. 1926 Mad. 829=23 M. L. W. 653=51 M. L. J. 630=95 I. C. 963; see also 9 M. L. T. 89.

—Where the decision as to a claim under which defendant claimed one half of property is res judicata against plaintiff who could not have calculated its value in fixing the value of appeal the defendant who has no claim to that half of the property cannot include it in fixing the value of subject-matter of appeal along with his own one half

—The rule of res judicata resembles the law of estoppel in that both exclude contradictory evidence; and it differs in that it does not result from an act of a party as an estoppel does. Res judicata precludes a man averring the same thing twice in successive litigations while estoppel prevents him saying one thing at one time and the opposite at another. 13 Bom L R 717=36 B 214=12 I C 225.

—That is to say, res judicata ousts the jurisdiction of the Court, while estoppel shuts the mouth of a party : 13 Bom. L R 950=12 I C 535=36 B 283.

—Res judicata bars fresh litigation at the outset and binds parties and his representatives, Estoppel is a rule of evidence preventing a man who by his acts or statement has induced another to believe a thing to be true from denying the truth of that thing to the prejudice of the person misled A I R 1922 Pat. 33=1 Pat. 174 = (1922) Pat. 63=3 P L T 506=67 I C 266.

—In other respects the doctrine of res judicata is a part of the wider general principle of estoppel 59 C 985 = A I R 1932 C 889 = A I R 1932. C 1086.

(1) General Principles—(Contd.)

(7) Competency relates to the date of the first suit.

—(1) Introductory :—Question of "Competency of Court" is necessary for the application of the principle of res judicata, even as apart from s. 11 : A I R 1925 M. 1270=91 I C 497=22 L W 178=49 M. L. J. 430.

—The question of "Competency of Court" arises especially in connection with the Courts of concurrent jurisdiction, for in the case of exclusive jurisdiction it ipso facto follows that such Court's decision must be final : see cases under subheadings (3) Courts of Special Jurisdiction and (4) Revenue Courts infra; and that the decisions of the Courts with limited jurisdiction must always be allowed to be re-opened ; see cases under sub-heading (2) Courts without jurisdiction—infra. As for concurrent jurisdiction, the decisions bearing on this branch of the subject are numerous; and an examination of these decisions leads to the following general Rules :—

—(1-a) "Competency" relates to jurisdiction of trial Court, not of Appellate Court :—It is the competency of the original Court which decided the former suit that must be looked to and not that of the Appellate Court in which the suit was ultimately decided because, the result of the case depends a great deal on the trial, the appellate Court deciding the case, as a rule, on the record of the first Court : 12 C W N 359=7 C. L. J. 470=35 C 353 ; see to the same effect : A I R 1922 A. 445=76 I C 932=44 A. 712; and 7 Bom. L R 821=30 B. 220; and 9 Bur L T 183 = 35 I C 356 = 8 L B R 556; and 29 A 519=11 C W N 841 = 6 C L J 13 = 4 A. L. J 497 = 17 M L J 354 = 9 Bom. L R 757 = 2 M L T 391 = 10 O C 313 = 34 I A 125 P C; and 6 C L R 305 = 5 C 832; and 13 C L J 568; and I C P L R 92; and 23 C 413.

—The fact that an appeal lay to the Civil Court from the decision of a Revenue Court in one of the suits, and to the Commissioner in the other, cannot affect the question of res judicata.

—It is the competency of the Court of first instance to entertain the two suits, which regulates the application of the rule of res judicata 3 I C 707=6 A L J 991; see also 41 All 54=16 All L J 782=47 Ind Cas 837; and A I R 1928 Cal 758 —And the cases under sub-division—(6) Explanation II—infra. But note, that the "Court" referred to in s. 11 is the original Court subject to the proviso that that Court's judgment cannot be held to be final until the time of appeal has lapsed or till the appeal has been finally decided : 48 P R 1916=142 P W R 1916=34 I C 581.

—And it has been held that the question of res judicata must be decided with reference to the findings of the first Court in the former suit and not of appellate or revisional Court.

—If the latter finds what the trial Judge should have found, if he had acted correctly and legally, then such finding should be treated as the correct finding of the first Court. 1917 M W N 318=5 L W 467=37 I C 906.

(2) "Competency relates to prior suit as well as subsequent suit:

—A decree in a former suit will operate as res judicata in a subsequent suit between the same parties, if the Court that passed the decree had jurisdiction to try not only the former suit but also the subsequent suit: A I R 1929 L 781=I R 1929 L 627=117 I C 83; see also A I R 1928 M 840=1928 M W N 336=28 L W 82=56 M L J 52=110 I C 554; and A I R 1921 B 434=23 Bom L R 250=61 I C 276=45 B 805; and 2 U P L R (A) 59=58 I C 576; and 56 I C 932; and 186 P W R 1907=111 P R 1907; and 58 P W R 1908; and I C P L R 92; and 108 I C 623; and 9 M L J 196; and 107 I C 149; and 2 O L J 44=27 I C 537.

—Necessity for this rule is obviously to save the jurisdiction of the superior Courts to enable them to investigate questions of such value and importance that it is not safe to entrust them to the inferior Courts, even though these questions have been decided by the inferior Court in another proceeding of less value and importance.

—There is no res judicata where the Court which tried the former suit could not, by reason of his limited pecuniary jurisdiction, have tried the later suit A I R 1924 Oudh 147=10 O L J 376=77 I C 340; see also 76 I C 176=1924 Pat. 336.

—Where the Court which tried the previous suit was by reason of the pecuniary limits of its jurisdiction incompetent to try the subsequent suit and the judgment in the former suit was binding on the defendant only in a representative capacity there would be no question of res judicata 87 P R 1919=52 I C 545.

—Court having power to try suit up to Rs. 1,000 trying previous suit—Court having power upto Rs. 2,000 trying later suit for Rs. 1,000—Court trying previous suit had no jurisdiction to try later suit. —Where the same officer is acting in two Courts, his decision in one capacity, not competent to try the later suit, is not res judicata A I R 1922 All. 241=66 I C 613.

—If a decree of the Court cannot operate as res judicata for want of jurisdiction to try subsequent suit the fact that it was based on an award cannot make it res judicata. 12 P L T 582.

—A decision in a former suit does not operate as res judicata so as to preclude the Court in the second suit from ascertaining the question of its own jurisdiction to entertain the suit 1917 M W N 318=5 L W 467=37 I C 906.

—The plea of res judicata should be given effect to, if the Court which decided the first suit, is a Court of jurisdiction competent to try the first suit, though unable to try the subsequent owing to the existence of another Court with preferential jurisdiction : 6 Bom. L R 77=28 B 338; see also 14 N L R 115=48 I C 268.

—(3) "Competency" relates to suit, not mere particular issues :—It has been laid down by their Lordships of the Privy Council that mere competency to try one or other of the issues is not enough.

—The Court which tried the former suit must have the jurisdiction to try the subsequent suit itself : 29 I A 196=8 Sar. 823=4 Bom. ject of res judicata be within the jurisdiction of the Court which tried the first suit and was determined by that Court. the rule of res judicata will apply even though the whole suit as subsequently brought be beyond the jurisdiction of the Court which tried the first suit; 25 M L J 379 = 14 M L T 189 = 1913 M W N 690 = 21 I C 15; and see to the same effect 28 M L J 184 = 2 L W 433 = 27 I C 989; and 25 L W 11 = A I R 1927 M 273 = 100 I C 40; and 9 N L J 11 = A I R 1926 N 234 = 92 I C 913; and A I R 1928 A 714 = 50 A 306.

—(4) Jurisdiction must be concurrent both as regards pecuniary limit as well as subject matter:—The two Courts must have concurrent jurisdiction as regards pecuniary limits as well as subject matter: 9 I A 197 = 9 C 439 P C; see also 12 I A 23 = 11 C 301 P C; and 8 M 83; and 23 C 415; and 18 A W N 1894 = 16 A 183; and 3 C W N 202; and 29 M 65; and 47 I C 21; and 2 Bom. —One of the elements, therefore, deciding competency of a Court is its pecuniary jurisdiction: 9 C 439 = 9 I A 197; see to the same effect: 25 A L J 564 = 100 I C 601 = A I R 1927 A 297 = L R 8 A 101 = 49 A 543; and 2 Bom. —Decision in previous suit by Court which would have no pecuniary jurisdiction to try the subsequent suit cannot operate as res judicata so as to bar the subsequent suit: A I R 1930 L 501 = I R 1930 L 783 = 126 I C 591; see to the same effect: A I R 1930 A 430 = I R 1930 A 570 = 124 I C 714; 35 M L J 689; 31 P W R 1916 = 32 I C 504; and the enumerated above. But such decision is valuable evidence. 91 I C 1026 = A I R 1926 C 603.

—It has been held that the rule stated above holds good even apart from s. 11: 49 M L J 430 = 22 L W 178 = A I R 1925 M 1270 = 91 I C 497.

—Valuation put by the plff. will determine the jurisdiction: A I R 1926 C 1053 = 43 C L J 606 = 97 I C 209.

—But, as competency refers to jurisdiction of Court at the time when first suit was brought and not when subsequent suit is actually brought, a rise in the value of property in the meanwhile may affect the pecuniary jurisdiction of the Court trying the earlier suit. A I R 1928 Lah. 929 = 10 Lah. 528 = 30 P L R 620 = 113 I C 90.

—But valuation of the same property differently, deliberately with a view to avoid jurisdiction does not take the case out of the rule of res judicata A I R 1931 Lah 217 = 32 P L R 214 = Ind Rul (1931) Lah 956 = 134 I C 524; see to the same effect: 25 A L J 1035 = A I R 1928 A 127 = 108 I C 462; and 1 Pat L W 418 = 39 I C 551; 10 C P L R 89, and 28 M L J 184 = 27 I C 989, and A I R 1932 C 271 = 35 C W N 1203 = 137 I C 48 = 59 C 636; and 22 O C 331 = 6 O L J 547 = 54 I C 335; and 14 M L T 189 = 25 M L J 379 = 1913 M W N 690 = 21 I C 15; and 16 N L R 91 = 42 I C 657; and 19 C W N 1280 = 21 C L J 157; and 3 I C 117; and 29 M 65; and 24 M 275; 15 M 494; and 11 C 153; and 10 C 697.

—Where the value of present suit was beyond the jurisdiction of the Court which tried the previous suits. Held, that nevertheless the principle of res judicata applied as the increase in value was only due to the joining together of the subject matter of the previous suits A I R 1924 All 849 = L R 5 A 580 Civ = 22 A L J 745 = 83 I C 969.

—Where the previous suit was undervalued and was filed in the Court of the District Munsif and the later suit was filed in the sub-Court with the proper valuation. Held that the later suit was not barred A I R 1931 All 21 = 1930 A L J 1254 = Ind Rul (1931) All 237 = 130 I C 13.

—In case of addition of causes of action with a view to swell the amount of valuation the Court can split up the causes and say that the second suit was barred in respect of the cause tried in the former suit: 25 M L J 379 = 14 M L T 189 = 21 I C 15 = (1913) M W N 690.

—But this principle being dangerously wide should not be taken too literally: 9 N L J 11 = 91 I C 913 = A I R 1926 N 234.

—The decision on a question of title, by a competent Court, with reference to the value of the subject-matter involved in the suit, will be res judicata, though the effect of such decision might be the determination of the title to an estate or estates the value whereof exceeds the jurisdiction of the Court of institution: 6 C L R 305 = 5 C 832.

—First suit by Melkanomdar against Kanomdar and rival Jenmi in a Munsif's Court deciding against Jenmi's title. profits alone had swelled the claim 16 N L R 91=42 I C 657.

—It has been held by the Madras High Court that the expression "competency" refers to the value of the suit and not to territorial jurisdiction : A I R 1925 M 1167 = 87 I C 705.

—But in a recent case the Allahbad High Court has held that for the purposes of res judicata it is necessary that the two Courts must have concurrent territorial jurisdiction 1932 A L J 984=A I R 1932 A 660.

Secondly as to subject matter—the two Courts must have concurrent territorial jurisdiction which depends entirely upon the subject matter in dispute. 1932 A L J 984=A I R 1932 A 660.

—In deciding whether the former Court had power to try the subsequent suit, the Courts must look to the suit as it could have been framed but for the option given in the C. P. C. as to the joinder of causes of action : 42 I C 657=16 N L R 91.

—The word "Jurisdiction", means competency to entertain the suit with reference to its subject-matter and to the powers of the Court.

—A fresh suit, on a cause of action which has arisen since the decree was passed in the former suit and which is not affected by it, is not barred. P L R 1900 p. 431=39 P R 1900.

—If the joinder of other claims in second suit takes the case out of the jurisdiction of the Court which tried the former suit the prior decision is a bar so far as the original claim was concerned. A I R 1928 All 714 = 50 A 306=113 I C 745.

—Where incompetency to try arises only by inclusion of matters other than subject-matter of first suit the decision in first suit operates as res judicata 36 L W 414=A I R 1932 M 519 = 139 I C 761=A I R 1932 M 789 = A L R 1932 M 1466.

—Plff. having been dispossessed brought a suit on the regular side for possession under S. 9 of Specific Relief Act and the suit was decreed. Plff. then brought a suit in the Court of Small Causes for recovery of damages by way of mesne profit on the allegation that he had been dispossessed. The Small Cause Court Judge framed only one issue and dismissed the suit holding that the plff's allegation was false: Held that the issue as to dispossession was res judicata, and the suit ought to have been tried on this basis. Held also, the Munsif who had tried the former suit was competent to try the present suit for damages within the meaning of S. 11 of the C P Code 15 A L J 789=39 All 717=42 I C 862.

—(1) Matters within exclusive Jurisdiction of revenue Courts:—Decision of Revenue Court on a matter exclusively within its jurisdiction will be res judicata in a Civil Court. A I R 1932 L 623; see also A I R 1929 L 586 = 11 L L J 248 = 30 P L R 427 = I R 1930 L 251 = 121 I C 507; A I R 1927 A 189 = L R 8 A 33 Rev. = 99 I C 299; 14 A L J 373 = 33 I C 86 = 38 A 302.

—Revenue Court decision operates as res judicata when the Court is empowered by law to decide the question : 38 A 302 = 14 A L J 373 = 33 I C 86.

—Where the order of the Court of Revenue is not without jurisdiction, the Civil Court has no jurisdiction to question the correctness or validity of the order of the Revenue Court on the matter within its jurisdiction even if it made a mistake. 9 O W N 610 = 13 L R 303 (Rev.) = 16 R D 472 = 139 I C 498 = A I R 1932 O 273 = I R 1932 O 364 = A L R 1932 O 599.

—Civil Court will not disturb a decree passed by competent Revenue Court of exclusive jurisdiction. A I R 1923 All. 437 = L R 5 A 144 Rev. = 72 C 276; see also A I R 1926 O 205 = 3 O W N 210 = L R 7 A (O) 79 = 93 I C 62 = 13 O L J 496; and 41 A 203 = 49 I C 118 = 17 A L J 60.

—Civil Court cannot treat a decree of a Revenue Court as ultra vires because it is of opinion that the Revenue Court has exceeded its special jurisdiction. A I R 1926 Oudh 369 = 93 I C 85. A suit in Civil Court to annul a Revenue Court decree is barred. A I R 1926 Oudh 348 = 6 O W N 1214 = 93 I C 374.

—It has been held by the Madras High Court that a decision of Revenue Court in a suit exclusively triable by it does not bind the Civil Court, though the subsequent suit could not be brought in the Revenue Court as s. 189 (3) Madras Estates Land Act is not more comprehensive than s. 11 of the C. be questioned in a civil suit : 18 C W N 466 = 20 I C 910.

—And an order of settlement Officer under s. 106 B T Act or decree under s. 9 of Act III of 1898 (B C) operates as res judicata 22 C L J 148 = 30 I C 944; see also 2 C W N 491.

—Under s. 105 B T Act the Revenue Officer has jurisdiction to decide whether or not the applicants are joint landlords : A I R 1926 C 1180 = 97 I C 702 = 30 C W N 974.

—A decision of a Revenue Court under s. 199 (3) operates as res judicata in a Civil Court A I R 1927 All. 717 = 25 A L J 387 = L R 8 A 122 Rev. = 49 A 606 = 101 I C 501.

—Suit in Civil Court after adverse decision in Revenue Court for same relief is barred. A I R 1923 All 527 = 77 I C 638.

—Decision by Collector as to emoluments of office under s. 13 of Mad. Hereditary Village Offices Act 1895 is res judicata : A I R 1930 Mad. 573 = 31 L W 537 = 58 M L J 542 = Ind. Rul. (1930) Mad. 662 = 127 I C 226.

—Order of the Land Record Officer declaring that a person who had mortgaged his village should be declared as ex-proprietary tenant of his sir land will operate as res judicata in a subsequent civil suit. A I R 1929 Oudh 362 = 4 Luck. 220 = 6 O W N 1310 = Ind. Rul. (1929) Oudh 277 = 115 I C 837.

—Defendants successfully pleading in Revenue Court that suit did not lie in that Court, cannot resist the suit subsequently filed in the Civil Courts on the ground that it does not lie in Civil Court. A I R 1927 All. 711 = L R 8 A 283 Rev. = 105 I C 639.

—If an objection is raised to a suit that it is barred by s. 32 of the Agra Tenancy Act, 1901, —Prior decision in Revenue Court operates as res judicata so far as Revenue Courts are concerned. 2 U P L R (B R) 24.

—Where the subject-matter in the subsequent Civil suit was different from the one the former suit in Revenue Court, but the title in both suit was the same, Held the Decision of Revenue Court is res judicata. A I R 1924 All. 10 = L R 4 A 165 Rev. = 21 A L J 330 = 72 I C 155.

—Dispute between rival claimants once decided by Revenue Court cannot be re-opened in Civil Court—Agra Tenancy Act s. 167. A I R 1924 All. 609 = 78 I C 1008.

—The effect of a decision operating as res judicata is not destroyed by subsequent publication of Record of Rights. A I R 1921 Cal. 761 = 35 C L J 200 = 60 I C 389.

—In a correction of jamabandi case the Court did not frame specific issues for trial as provided by S. 42 of the U. P. Land Rev.

Act, but clearly and definitely understood the issues, heard the arguments of, and cases cited by, both the parties and pronounced a decision. Held that such a decision though passed in a miscellaneous proceeding and without a formal drawing up of issues, does, under S. 44 of the U P. Land Rev. Act. operate as res judicata in a subsequent case, for declaration of tenure between those parties as regards the kind of tenure already determined in the jamabandi. 1 O L J 745=27 I C 73.

—But a Civil Court decree in a suit for profits cannot operate as res judicata, such suit being only triable by a Revenue Court under Tenancy Act. A I R 1922 All. 397 = 65 I C 530.

(2) Matters not within the jurisdiction of Revenue Court:—A decision of a Revenue Court on a matter within its jurisdiction will bar a subsequent suit in another Revenue Court on the same matter between the same parties 2 O L J 63 = 27 I C 525.

—Revenue Court's decision on compromise in mutation proceedings, See C P Code, O. 32, R. 7. 12 A L J 998.

—Decision passed by Revenue Court on question whether a land is an estate or not, will not be res judicata in a suit in a Civil Court for a declaration that the lands do not form an estate. 14 L W 251=69 I C 938.

—Plff's suit in the Revenue Court against the deft. for possession of an occupancy holding was dismissed.

—The plff. thereafter sued in the Civil Court for possession of the holding and a grove. Held, that the decision as to the holding could not operate as res judicata in the civil suit relating to the grove, inasmuch as the Revenue Court could not have decided the suit brought in respect of the grove. 34 I C 162.

—Proceedings relating to the amendment of jamabandi is of a summary nature and does not operate as res judicata so as to bind Revenue Courts 2 U P L R. (B R) 127.

—The Revenue Court is not a competent authority to decide finally whether any particular lands constitute an estate or not. A I R 1921 Mad. 473=14 L W 251.

—A former decision by a Revenue Court cannot operate as res judicata in a subsequent suit which is only triable by a Civil Court. 69 P W R 1913=196 P L R 1913=48 P R 1913=18 I C 918.

—A decision of a Revenue Court deciding that the plff. as co-sharer was not entitled to maintain a suit for ejectment cannot operate as res judicata with reference to the question whether the plff. as a lambardar is entitled to maintain such a suit. 35 I C 612.

—Decision of Revenue Court on its own want of jurisdiction is not res judicata. A I R 1929 All. 132=L R 10 A 173 Rev.

—As there are no Revenue Courts in Burmah, there is no question of res judicata as to orders of revenue officers. 8 L B R 556=9 Bur L T 183=35 I C 356.

—A Certificate Officer, is not a Court. So any decision by him cannot operate as res judicata in the Civil Court A I R 1929 Cal 130 =112 I C 71.

—A decision of an Assistant Collector of the Second Class about a certain Khudkhasht being owned by one party does not bar a suit in the Court of an assistant Collector of the First Class. A I R 1924 All 466=L R 5 A 105 Rev. = 88 I C 164.

—Incidental expression of opinion by Revenue Court, is no bar in the Civil Court. 23 I C 705.

—A decision of an Assistant Collector second class does not operate as res judicata in a suit of the same nature instituted in the Court of the Assistant Collector first class, which the former was not competent to try. 28 C 78 not followed. 11 A L J 231=19 I C 126.

—Decision by Revenue Court as to quantity of land is not res judicata in Civil suit. 19 C L J 244.

—Revenue Court's judgment inter parties may be relevant but is not res judicata. 160 P W R 1913 = 280 P L R 1913 = 20 I C 831.

—Point incidentally decided in Settlement proceedings is not res judicata : 18 C W N 333.

—Decision of revenue court is not res judicata in a suit in Civil Court on matter within the cognisance of the latter Court. (1920) M W N 639.

—(3) Ejectment Suits:—Ejectment decree by a Rev. Court under s. 95 Agra. Ten. Act is no bar to a suit in Civil Court. 13 A L J 278 =27 I C 913=37 A 223.

—Previous suit in Revenue Court for ejectment "as tenant" does not bar a subsequent Civil suit for ejectment as trespasser: 17 A L J 646=1 U P L R (H C) 74=50 I C 734.

—In a suit for declaration that mortgage in favour of appellants was benami and void, a finding of a Revenue Court against plff's allegation in a prior ejectment suit against him operates as res judicata: A L R 1923 I 590.

—In a suit for ejectment by a malguzar in

Rev. Court, the tenant claimed possession as servant of a third person, who was added as deft. No issue as to status of the person was framed, but an ejectment decree was passed.

—Held, the decree did not bar a subsequent Civil suit by the third person claiming the land as grove : A I R 1929 A 17=L R 9 A 289 Rev. = I R 1929 A 374=115 I C 454.

—As a suit for ejectment cannot be tried by Asst. Collector of Second Class in U. P., a dismissal of suit for rent in such Court does not bar a suit for ejectment against the same party in Court of Assistant Collector of First Class. A I R 1926 All 34=89 I C 379.

—Similarly a decision of the Assistant Collector, Second Class in a suit for ejectment is no bar to the decision in an ejectment suit of the Assistant Collector, First Class A I R 1933 All 368=82 I C 790.

—(4) Mortgage Suits:—Decision in a suit under s. 44 of Agra Ten. Act, that the mortgage was satisfied does not bar a subsequent suit in Civil Court for a declaration that the mortgage still subsisted : 17 A L J 352 = 49 I C 591=41 A 369. Revenue Court's decision in redemption proceedings bars subsequent civil suit for redemption. A I R 1924 Oudh 245=10 O L J 606=L R 5 Oudh 92=80 I C 698.

—An occupancy-tenant mortgaged his occupancy holding in 1893. In 1908 he relinquished the holding. The zemindar brought a suit against the mortgagee in the Revenue Court for ejectment and obtained a decree. Held, that the mortgagee could not subsequently sue in Civil Court that the relinquishment was ineffective as against him. 8 A L J 940=11 I C 287.

—In 1863 H. executed a deed of conditional sale in favour of F. transferring his share in a village to him. In 1864, the question of the proprietary title to the village came for determination before the same Settlement Courts they decided that whatever rights H. had in the village, had been transferred by him to H. L. the representative of F. and that H. had also made over possession to him. The purchasers of the equity of redemption under the deed of 1863 brought the present suit for redemption. Held, that although the Settlement Courts had lost sight of the fact that under the deed of 1863 the executant had a right of equity of redemption which had not been taken away by foreclosure proceedings and which was still in existence, the decision of the Settlement Courts that H. had no right left in the property was final on the question of the existence of a right to redeem and that the present suit was barred by res judicata. 23 O C 270.

—(5) Partition Suits:—S. 11 of C P Code does not apply to orders passed by Rev. Officers in partition cases 5 P R (Rev.) 1914=229 P L R 1915=27 I C 417.

—Dispute settled definitely by Revenue Court in partition proceedings, cannot be re-opened in a Civil Court A I R 1926 Oudh 72=12 O L J 638=2 O W N 539=89 I C 221.

—(6) Pattah decisions relating to:—The decision as to the proper terms of a puttah in respect of one fasli is res judicata for subsequent faslis also. 13 L W 307 = 62 I C 501.

—But where Legislature has conferred jurisdiction over the Revenue or other Court to decide questions of title or otherwise, such Court is competent for such purposes. Thus a decision under s. 105 B. T. Act by Revenue Court as to existence of relationship of landlord and tenant between the parties is res judicata in a subsequent suit for ejectment Pat. 3 L J 379=46 I C 125; and see cases under sub-heading (10) Title, decision on infra.

—A suit to eject the defendant on the ground that he was a non-occupancy tenant from year to year was dismissed by the Revenue Court as the deft was holding under a lease. Plff. next sued to cancel the lease in the Civil Courts, on the ground that the lease was given without authority. Held, that the Rev. Court had jurisdiction to go into the question of validity of the lease and that the suit was not maintainable 37 All. 41 = 12 A L J 1252 = 26 I C 731.

—(8) Rent Suits:—The doctrine of res judicata is not applicable to rent suits (Obiter). Held, even otherwise, as the two suits related to different jots, the doctrine was inapplicable. 72 I C 103.

—Decision of Settlement Officer prior to Act of 1898 (B C) as to the liability of land claimed to be held as rent free, to payment embodied in a record of rights does not bar a Suit for assessment of rent or same land in Civil Court 22 C L J 57.

—The earlier finding does not become final in a case where the Court that tried the prior suit for rent has no power over the claim in a subsequent suit for rent. L R 3 A 156 Rev.

—A Revenue Court has jurisdiction to entertain a claim between rival claimants to a tenancy.

—A decree for rent therefore does not operate as a bar to the maintenance of a suit for declaration of a right to a tenancy against a rival claimant. 13 A L J 295 = 27 I C 914.

—A decision of a Civil Court in a suit for contribution of rent does not operate as res judicata in a subsequent suit in the Revenue Court for division of holding. 16 R D 281 = 13 L R 179 (Rev.)

—Finding of collector as to payment of rent is no bar to subsequent suit for determination of rent. 32 I C 706.

—The decision of a Deputy Commissioner in a proceeding held under s. 185 of U. P. Land Revenue Act or s. 158 of the Oudh Land Revenue Act, 1876, does not render the question of the amount of rent and cesses payable by an under-proprietor to the superior proprietor, res judicata. 12 I C 331.

—(9) Status, decision on:—Where Settlement courts have fully gone into the rival claims and dealt with and decided all points raised, it is not open in subsequent proceedings to one party to deny the status of another party as found by such Settlement Court's or to assert more than was awarded by such Settlement Courts. 39 M L J 115 = 28 M L T 334 = 25 C. W. N. 170 = 23 O. C. 291 = 18 A. L. J. 1057 = 7 O L J 439 = 57 I. C. 397 (P. C.)

—Revenue Court decision as to status of a tenant cannot be set aside in Civil Court: A. I. R. 1922 A 336 = 20 A. L. J. 606 = 77 I. C. 139 = 44 A 724.

—Decision of a Revenue Court on the status of tenant operates as res judicata in a subsequent civil suit: A. I. R. 1923 C. 433 = 71 I. C. 307 = 50 C. 79.

—Decision of Revenue Court in a rent suit as to status of a tenant operates as res judicata: A. I. R. 1921 A 348 = 58 I C 772 = 43 A 191.

—But it has been held by Oudh Court that a Revenue Court's decision regarding the status of a tenant will not bar an adjudication on the point by the Civil Court A I R 1937 Oudh 183 = 14 R D 196 = 100 I C 851.

—Revenue Court declaring a tenant to be grove-holder, the landlord cannot bring a subsequent civil suit to eject the tenant as —A decision of Revenue Court on question whether plaintiffs were agricultural tenants or not is one within its jurisdiction A I R 1927 All 613 = L R 8 A 235 Rev = 102 I C 887.

—A decision of a Settlement Officer passed in a case relating to the amendment of jama bandi declaring deft's status as tenant liable to pay rent is not res judicata either in the Revenue Court or in the Civil Court. 14 A L J 140 = 33 I C 343.

—(10) Title, decision on:—As a rule, Revenue Courts have no jurisdiction to decide questions of title and questions as to rights of the landlords and tenants inter se: 24 A L J 1009 = 98 I C 983 = A I R 1927 A 70 = 48 A 774.

—Hence, the decision by a Revenue Court of a question of title, though such decision was necessary for the disposal of the case before it, cannot prevent the same question being again litigated between the same parties in a Civil Court 26 All 468 = 24 A W N 109; see to the same effect: 27 M L J 475 = 1 L W 641 = 27 I C 162; and 1912 P L R 186 = 155 P W R 1912 = 16 I C 886; and 1918 P L R 75 = 75 P W R 1918 = 47 I C 98; and A I R 1926 O 181 = 89 I C 810; and A I R 1930 A 611 = 1930 A L J 756 = 125 I C 23 = 52 A 823 = 11 L R A (Rev.) 207; and A I R 1931 O 21 = 129 I C 173 = 7 O W N 1106 = 11 L R A (Rev.) 385 = 6 Luck 419; and 38 I C 814 = 1916 P C 150 = 20 O C 8 = 15 A L J 113 = 109 Bom L R 202 = 26 C L J 165 = 21 C W N 582 = 32 M L J 388 = 21 M L T 102 = 1917 M W N 456 = 5 O L J 34; and 2 C L J 306; and 15 I C 239; 17 A L J 646 = 1 U P L R (H C) 74 = 50 I C 734; and 27 A 569 = 2 A L J 283 = 26 A 468 = 1904 A W N 109; and 1 Cal L J 310; and 11 Cal W N 939; and 20 Ind Cas 298 = 19 Cal L J 197 = 18 Cal W N 938; and 29 Ind Cas 122 = 19 Cal W N 636; and 34 I C 354; and 25 I C 372; and 7 M 61; and 17 M 106; and A I R 1931 Pat 215 = 10 Pat 337 = 12 Pat L T 717.

matters collaterally or incidentally in issue, may be divided into matters actually in issue ( Expl. III ) and matters constructively in issue ( Expl. IV—might and Ought ). As for the matters actually in issue, Expl. III lays down that no matter can be said to have been "directly and substantially" in issue in a suit, unless it is alleged by one party and denied or admitted either expressly or impliedly by the other (unless if it comes under Expl. IV) Every matter in respect of which relief is claimed in a suit is necessarily a matter "directly and substantially" in issue. Matter cannot be said to be a matter which is, at a stage when the Court cannot go into it. 62 M L J 177 ( 179 ) = 35 L W 66=138 I C 51=A I R 1932 M 233=I R 1932 M 498=A L R 1932 M 253

—Where a decree is couched in general terms, and a question of res judicata arises upon it, the Court must look at all the intrinsic evidence before it and the materials of the case as a whole, including even the statements in the depositions of the witnesses 24 C 504=1 C W N 249 P C see also 13 Bom L R 162=10 I C 748.

—A summary dismissal of a suit on the ground of res judicata is bad if all the conditions necessary for the application of the rule are not stated in the plaint : 75 P W R 1913=194 P L R 1913=18 I C 1007.

—( 2 ) Decision on material issues is Res Judicata:—Where the same question is raised in both suits it operates as res Judicata : A L R 1933 L 235.

—It is not that the two questions should be allied, but that they should be identical. 36 I C 650. see also A I R 1923 P C 175=45 M L J 588=46 M 751=50 Ind App. 295=21 A L J 730=25 Bom L R 1275=40 C L J 20=2 Pat L R 104=33 M L T 285=L R 4 P C 180=18 M L W 903=1924 M W N 65=28 C W N 493=74 I C 492 P C and 4 I C 1017=1909 Pun W R 157.

C P C ( 1908 ) S. 11 ( Contd. )

(4) Directly and Substantially in Issue—(Contd.)

(A) Test-when can an issue be said to be directly and substantially in issue—(Contd.)

(1) General Principles—(Contd.)

—(3) Decision need not be express, but must be necessary:—Decision which is not express, but which is necessarily implied operates as res judicata: 24 C W N 223=54 I C 952; for finding by necessary implication is as good as express finding. 113 I C 120=A I R 1928 Lah 888.

—(4) Issues necessary for decision:—It is not intended that the issue must have been absolutely necessary for the determination of the previous suit. It is sufficient that the Court and the parties thought so and proceeded on that assumption 25 L W 797=A I R 1927 Mad 643=103 I C 90 see also 1931 M W N 1323=A I R 1932 Mad. 207=35 M L W 35=62 M L J 141; and 30 Bom L R 902=A I R 1928 B 349; and 6 C L J 621.

—Thus where plff. excluded certain question but the deft. expressly urged in appeal to decide it; Held, that the question was necessary for the decision of the suit A I R 1924 P C 144=26 Bom L R 651=51 C 631=35 M L T 169=51 I A 293=23 A L J 76=L R 5 P C 137=29 C W N 34=20 L W 770=(1924) M W N 723=6 P L T 750=3 Pat L R Civ. 193=47 M L J 23=80 I C 827.

—Similarly where both the parties thought that a particular issue was necessary it was held that the Court must decide on it. 57 I C 524.

—And where a party himself raised an issue, which was decided in his favour by the trial Court but against him by the Appellate Court, the decision on that issue was held to be res judicata: I R 1929 A 776=118 I C 168.

—(5) Issue wrongly framed:—Issue Wrongly framed and decided against a party is binding only to the extent of the rights specifically asserted by the party in suit. A I R 1924 Mad. 193=18 L W 288=72 I C 798.

—(6) Issue not the basis of the decree:—Decision of the issue in the prior suit need not have been the basis of the decree. It is enough that the issue had been finally heard and determined and that it arose directly and substantially (and not incidentally or collaterally), for determination i. e., that it was necessary for the determination of the suit though it may not have been ultimately made the basis of the decree. A I R 1925 Cal. 985=85 I C 953.

—So long as an issue is material in both suits, a decision on it in the previous suit will operate as res judicata notwithstanding the fact that the previous suit could have been decided independently of the decision

C. P. C. (1908) S. 11 ( Contd. ).

(4) Directly and Substantially in Issue—(Contd.)

(A) Test-when can an issue be said to be directly and substantially in issue—(Contd.)

upon that issue. A I R 1927 Oudh 625=4 O W N 307=101 I C 522.

—Even if a particular matter be not included in a formal issue, if it is directly and substantially in issue between the parties, and if there be a decision thereon, it will operate as res judicata. A I R 1926 Cal. 1022=30 C W N 873=97 I C 73 see to the same effect: 39 Mad. 1202.

—(7) Logical Priority of issues not important:—Once, it used to be held that where there are two or more findings in a suit, any of which is sufficient for the disposal of the case, that one which in the logical sequence of necessary issues, should have been first found, and the finding of which would have rendered the other findings unnecessary for the making of the decree is the finding which can operate as res judicata. 8 A L J 409=9 I C 983; and 89 A W N 1900; and 17 A 174.

—But it has now been decided that the theory of logical priority of issues is incorrect. 32 P L R 577=Ind. Rul (1931) Lah 870=134 I C 102.

—Where a decision is based on several grounds, any of which is sufficient to dispose of the case, the decision is res judicata as regards all the grounds: 24 C 900 See similarly, 4 M L T 90; 13 P R 1918=122 P W R 1917=41 I C 479; and 31 M L J 97.

—A judgment operates res judicata as regards all the findings which are essential to sustain the judgment. A I R 1930 Pat. 71=10 P L T 630=Ind. Rul. (1930) Pat. 4=120 I C 229, see also: A I R 1926 Cal. 1003=43 C L J 501=95 I C 1011; 1913 M W N 775=21 I C 258=38 M 158; and 41 P R 1899.

—But where the decision of a ground is not the basis of the decree, that is to say, where the particular ground is not sufficient to dispose of the case, and yet judgment is given, the decision of that ground does not operate as res judicata as to other grounds: 16 C L J 9=16 C W N 877=15 I C 453=40 C 29 See also A I R 1925 Cal. 996=41 C L J 396=88 I C 616.

—(9) Identity of subject-matter not essential:—The expression "matter in issue" is distinct from subject-matter and object of the suit as well as the relief that may be asked for in it, and the cause of action on which it is based. The rule of res judicata requiring the identity of the matter in issue will apply even when the subject-matter, the object, the relief and the cause of action are different.

C. P. C. (1908) S. 11 (Contd.).

(4) Directly and Substantially in Issue—(Contd.)

(A) Test-when can an issue be said to be directly and substantially in issue—(Contd.)

(1) General Principles—(Conclld)

—Thus where a former suit between the same parties was brought on one mortgage deed, and the present suit related to another mortgage deed, and when same issues are raised in the subsequent suit it was held that the findings on the issues operated as res judicata: A I R 1933 O 475 see to the same effect A I R 1930 C 47=124 I C 161=38 C W N 876=57 C 258; and 11 A 148; and 6 C 715; and A I R 1932 N 90.

—The Lahore High Court, however, has held that where the subject-matter to be decided by Court is different in the two suits, the previous suit does not operate as res judicata. A I R 1931 Lah 254=136 I C 31.

—A decree for rent operates as res judicata upon the question of the existence of the relationship of landlord and tenant between the parties, for that question is almost always material in a rent-suit: 10 I C 363. See also 34 C 922; 15 C W N 335=13 C L J 1=8 I C 660; 29 I C 415; 40 I C 659.

—Similarly, if, in a rent-suit, the whole case depends upon the question of title, either owing to the intervention of a third party or otherwise, the parties will be conclusively bound by the decision on that question: 1 C L R 35=3 C 145 F. B. See also 3 C 705 (decision on title owing to the intervention of a third party), 44 I C 129 (decision of title in suit for rent by mortgagee), and 6 C L R 305=5 C 832 (decision on title with reference to the value of the subject-matter involved in the suit for rent).

—The following cases also relate to the same principle that, if, in a rent suit, the question of title is directly and substantially in issue, the decision on that question will operate as res judicata between the parties in a subsequent suit for title, or ejectment or any other suit in which that question is material: 15 I A 97=5 Sar 211=15 C 756 (P C); 25 C 136; 14 C L J 220=12 I C 9; 19 I C 632; 18 C W N 116=20 I C 344; A I R 1925 Cal. 1004=85 I C 804.

—But when the question of title is not directly and substantially in issue in a rent suit, decision on it will not operate as res judicata. For example, where the deft. denies the relationship of landlord and tenant on the ground that although he is a tenant he is the tenant not of the plff. but of a stranger to the suit or pleads that the tenancy has terminated or alleges any further similar ground in answer to the claim for rent which makes the question of title only collaterally and incidentally in issue. 42 I C 785. See also 30 C L J 13=51 I C 356; 24 C 569; 6 C W N 66.

—And where a rent suit was dismissed on the ground that no relationship of landlord and tenant existed between the parties, but it was found that the plff. had title to the land in question, it was held in a subsequent suit for ejectment that the findings in favour of the plff's title could not operate res judicata as the decree in rent suit was passed in spite of those findings. 49 I C 248.

—Similarly as to suits other than rent-suits. Thus a decision in the previous suit, that the tract in dispute was covered by the lease of one of the two tenants, and not that of the other, is binding on the landlord, who was a party to the previous suit: A I R 1924 Cal. 128=76 I C 917=38 C L J 291.

—It has, sometimes, been asserted that the decision in a rent suit operates as res judicata on one point alone viz, the relationship of landlord and tenant: A I R 1924 Cal. 460=72 I C 655.

—But this is not true. A decision on any matter in a previous rent-suit is conclusive in a subsequent suit if that matter is directly and substantially in issue in both the suits. What is necessary to see is whether the decision in the former rent suit was given on an incidental point or on a question that went to the very root of the case.

—Thus a rent-decree, passed on the basis that the deft. was sub-tenant, bars subsequent suit by the deft. on the contention that he is the landlord: A I R 1923 All. 113=72 I C 1024.

—In a suit for enhancement of rent the question of the rate of rent is necessarily a material issue 59 I C 752 (Cal.) See also 2 I C 11.

—If in a rent suit, a Kabuliyat has been held to be valid and effective as against the tenant, a subsequent suit by the tenant for the declaration that the Kabuliyat is null and void is barred: 47 I C 8.

—Propriety of patta is a material issue in a rent suit: 37 Mad. 70=23 M L J 543=12 M L T 500=(1913) M W N 1=17 I C 445 (F B.)

—Where three questions were material in a rent suit, namely, the jama payable, the land in arrears and the jama for the period in question, decision on them was held to operate as res judicata: 17 C L J 71=17 C W N 76=16 I C 22.

(2) Suits between landlord and tenant—(Contd.)

—Decision in a rent suit upon the question as to incidents of the tenancy will operate as res judicata. Thus a decision, that raikumat was payable implied that it was payable under a custom, and hence it operated as res judicata : 15 IC 837.

—A material issue in a rent suit, heard and decided, operates as res judicata between the parties. 16 CLJ 89 = 10 IC 382.

—But a decision on the question of tenancy in a suit for enforcement of easement cannot be res judicata as to that question in a subsequent suit for ejectment or rent. A I R 1925 Cal. 985 = 85 IC 953.

—On the question whether a decision in a previous rent suit, as to the rate of rent payable annually, operates as res judicata in a suit for the rent of subsequent years, there is a conflict of opinion. There are cases suggesting that such decision does not operate as res judicata.

—Thus it has been held that an adjudication as to the amount of rent annually payable is not conclusive except where the previous suit was based on a contract between the parties and the question of the rate of rent under the contract was a material issue in the previous suit : 51 IC 56 See, similarly, 57 IC 48, and 6 IC 860.

—The balance of authority, however, points to the other direction. Thus it has been held that a decision as to rate of rent operates as res judicata in a subsequent suit for rent, provided the matter was adjudicated upon for all times to come : A I R 1926 Cal. 650 = 43 CLJ 146 = 30 CWN 593 = 94 IC 837.

—Decision as to rent for one year bars the question as to rent for subsequent years : A I R (1925) Mad. 378 = 82 IC 990.

—Where the question as to the amount of rent annually payable is put in issue and is finally decided, the decision operates as res judicata. 42 IC 583. See, similarly, 41 IC 584; 16 CLJ 41 = 16 IC 447; 22 WR 282.

—Decision as to annual rent payable is final unless it is shown that the rent has been subsequently changed : 40 IC 460.

—Prior suit for fair and equitable rent was dismissed with a finding as to the rate of rent. Held, the finding was conclusive between the parties : 33 IC 159.

—In an ejectment suit, where Court passes a decree for rent only the finding as to title need not be incorporated in the decree. A I R 1929 Bom. 32 = 30 Bom. L R 1602 = Ind. Rul. (1929) Bom 224 = 114 IC 272.

(1) GENERAL

—A subsequent suit against one of the defendants based on the same cause of action, is not maintainable even if the plaintiff had alternative claims arising out of that cause of action. A I R 1931 Mad. 268.

—It should be noted, however, that Explanation IV, s. 11 cannot be given effect to bar a suit, unless all the requisite conditions laid down in the body of the section are also fulfilled. A I R 1930 Mad 264 = Ind Rul (1930) Mad 955 = 127 I C 139.

—And also, that the application of the rule of constructive res judicata in practice depends upon the particular facts of each case

20 C 79 P C; see also 56 I C 193.

—Whether a particular matter should have been made a ground of defence or attack must depend upon the particular facts of each case. A I R 1928 Oudh 411 = 50 W N 653 = 112 I C 266.

—Any ground of attack or defence which is deemed to have been directly and substantially in issue in a suit must also be deemed to have been heard and finally decided adversely to the party who failed to raise it 13 L W 307 = 62 I C 501; see also 111 I C 127; and 6 C W N 889; and 56 I C 193; and A I R 1925 C 427 = 40 C L J 507 = 29 C W N 253 = 85 I C 123; and A I R 1925 P C 55 = 52 I A 100 = 47 A 158 P C; and 20 A 110 (confirmed on appeal by P C in 24 A 429); and 25 B 189; 37 M 70 = 17 I C 445; and 76 I C 612 = A I R 1923 R 239 = 1 R 363; and 35 C 979; and 1 I C 66 = 13 C W N 513; and 12 P R 1915; and 11 L L J 97.

—In 24 C 711; and 28 C 17 It had been held that a matter may be deemed to have been in issue directly and substantially under Expl IV but it cannot be deemed to have been heard and finally decided under the same Expl. This view, however, has been rejected by the same High Court in later cases, and other High Courts have always stuck to the opposite view, see cases cited above. The only way in which a matter at issue between the parties can be held to be res judicata when it has not been actually decided by the Court is under s. 11, Explanation IV, of the C P Code. On a summons for directions under rr. 130 and 131 of the Bombay High Court Rules (Original Side), it is not necessary to decide whether the Court which is to try the suit has jurisdiction to try the suit as between the defendant and the third party. Hence the mere fact that on such summons for directions, the liability between the third party and the defendant is directed to be tried at the trial does not necessarily make the question of the trial Court's jurisdiction res judicata. A I R 1921 Bom. 195 = 45 B 24 = 59 I C 28.

—Explanation IV to s. 11 would not apply to a point which the Court may or may not decide in its discretion. A I R 1927 Mad. 120 = 24 L W 812 = 99 I C 525.

—It also does not apply to a case where the parties had in a previous suit, put forward all the grounds of attack and defence which were embodied in clear and distinct issues, but the Court not only did not decide them but expressed the exclusion of them from decision. 70 P R 1918 = 11 P L R 1918 = 71 P W R 1918 = 44 I C 859; see also A I R 1931 O 157 = 8 O W N 179 = 14 O L J 233 = 132 I C 767.

—The principle of res judicata in s. 11 Explanation IV applies to interlocutory proceedings in the same suit. A I R 1930 Bom 431 = 54 Bom. 696 = 32 Bom. L R 389 = Ind. Rul. (1930) Bom. 401 = 126 I C 305.

—A Hindu brother suing the widow for the property of the deceased by right of survivorship, cannot subsequently dispute the title of the widow as the legal representative of her husband in other proceedings: A I R 1925 M 218=79 I C 891.

—A donor instituted a suit for a declaration that the deed of gift which she had executed was invalid and inoperative. The Court held against her and upheld the validity of the gift deed. She thereupon applied for an amendment of the plaint by allowing her to raise an alternative case to the effect that, even if the deed of gift was valid and operative, she had been in adverse possession of the property gifted for more than 12 years ever since the date of the gift deed and that therefore the title of the donee had become extinguished under S. 28 of the Limitation Act.

—The amendment was, however, refused, and the suit was dismissed. Held, that, although adverse possession was not a subject-matter of decision in that suit, the question of the donor's adverse possession for 12 years prior to the date of that suit was a matter within Expl IV to S. 11—a matter which might and ought to have been raised in that suit, and that the dismissal of that suit was a bar to a subsequent plea by the donor that she had been for 12 years in adverse possession prior to the date of that suit. Held, however, that the dismissal of the donor's suit was no bar to a plea by her that she was in adverse possession for less than 12 years prior to the date of that suit. The dismissal of the suit means no more than that the donor had not been in adverse possession for 12 years prior to that suit. It does not mean that her possession thereafter ceased to be adverse 36 C W N 965.

—Coutts-Trotter and Seshgiri Aiyar JJ. have remarked that observations in 26 M 760, as to suits by reversioner would seem to be opposed to the decision in 11 B L R 158 of the Privy Council: (1916) 1 M W N 286=34 I C 456.

In the second case he can similarly escape from the operation of those sections if he can show that he could not unite his two causes of action in a single suit without inconsistency and confusion.

—Dissimilar matters, if their union does not lead to confusion, "ought to be united as grounds or attack or defence." A widow purported to charge land which she held for her widow's estate with payment of a debt: and afterwards surrendered her estate to the next heir or reversioner on condition that he should pay all her debts.

—A creditor then sued both the widow and the reversioner, the cause of action against the latter being that in his hands was the property chargeable. The suit was dismissed as against him, but decreed against the widow. After the widow's death, the creditor sued the reversioner for the balance of the widow's debt on the ground that he had agreed on taking the surrender of the estate from her to become responsible for her debts. The Privy Council held that this "might and ought to have been made ground of attack" in the former suit, and must accordingly be deemed to have been directly and substantially in issue in the former suit, and therefore, that the suit was barred 20 Cal.

subsequent vendees of a sale deed in favour of the plaintiffs in that suit. On their failing to do so, the Court got a sale deed executed on their behalf in favour of the plaintiffs. The subsequent vendees sued the plaintiffs in the prior suit for pre-emption. Held, that the suit was maintainable. —The preponderance of opinion is that when there has been an inadvertent omission to partition some of the joint family property a subsequent suit may be brought for partitioning the same. The property which has not been partitioned must remain joint family property, and as such susceptible to partition at a future date, at the very least by a member of the family who was not the original plaintiff in the partition suit : 138 I C 186=15 N L J 15= I R 1932 N 74=A I R 1932 N 92=A L R 1932 N 104.

—Plff. brought a suit claiming proprietary and cultivating rights in certain land. The deft denied plff's title only to cultivating rights, even though the settlement officer had recorded that land as "sir" : Held, the plea as to settlement entry was res judicata 14 N L J 171 = 136 I C 884 = I R 1932 N 44 = A I R 1932 N 36 (38) = A L R 1932 N 78.

—In a suit for possession of a share of jote the purchaser of a portion of the tenancy is made deft. The latter is not bound to plead under tenancy which he might have. 9 Ind Cas 585.

—Claim as to proprietary rights does not affect under-proprietary rights : 17 I C 334.

—Ex parte decree in prior suits in which no issue was raised as to the rate of rent and there was no decision as to such rate cannot operate as res judicata in favour of the landlords. 65 I. C. 581 (Cal.)

—Even if a deft. omits, in a previous rent suit, to raise a defence under S. 29 B. T. Act, he can raise it in a subsequent suit for rent as there can be no estoppel against a Statute : 65 I. C. 581.

—In a suit under S. 9 of the sp. Relief Act. mesne profits are not claimable and hence a subsequent suit for such profits is not barred: 1915 M. W. N. 170 = 30 M. L. J. 326 = 2 L. W. 157 = 28 I. C. 1.

—First suit for the ejectment on the allegation that the defendant's interest (under-raiya) was an encumbrance which he had annulled by a notice under s. 167 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. Subsequent suit to eject the defendant as a trespasser with an alternative plea that, even if the defendant's under-raiya be admitted to be valid, he can be evicted on notice under s. 49 which had been given. Held, that the plaintiff's claim to eject the defendant as a trespasser ought to have been made a ground of attack in the former suit, and so the suit was res judicata 11 Ind Cas 127.

—Where a plaintiff (who had purchased the property from the defendants and leased it again to them) first sued the defendants for rent and obtained a decree therefor in spite of their contention that the sale in his favour and the lease were nominal and subsequently sued the defendants for recovery of possession of the land, and where the defendants again raised the plea that the sale was nominal. Held, that the decision in the prior suit was not res judicata and that the defendants were entitled to set up the nominal character of the sale in the second suit. 1 L W 821 = 25 I C 615.

—A suit by tenant, claiming to be the owner, was dismissed with a finding that the landlord was the owner. Plea of permanent tenancy, by the tenant, in a suit by landlord for possession, is not res judicata, as the claims in the two suits are based on wholly different titles: 13 L 195 (203) = 132 I C 657 = 33 P L R 302 = A I R 1931 L 610.

...Where a party depositing money to release the property from Court sale, applied to reserve his rights under hypothecation bond relating to property, and the application was rejected, Held, a subsequent suit to recover the money lies 81 I C 301=A I R 1922 Lah. 358.

—First suit for possession on the basis of mortgage. Second suit for possession by the plff on the ground of invalid lease is res judicata 37 B 224 = 15 Bom L R 266 = 19 I C 558.

—The plff purchased the mortgagee's interest and sued for possession, but, as the mortgage was void ab initio, the suit was dismissed. The plff, thereupon sued to recover a sum of money from the estate of the deceased mortgagor or in alternative a small sum from the decree-holder against representative of the deceased mortgagee. Held the suit is not barred by res judicata, for the claim for possession was not really a claim on the mortgage, but a claim by virtue of the purchase by the plff of the mortgagee's rights : 18 Bom L R 773=36 I C 564=40 B 614.

—Where the plff brought a suit against a reversioner and his mortgagee for possession of the property on the ground that it belonged to him. Mortgagee pleaded that plff had no right to question the transfer made in his favour; but no specific issue was framed to that effect. He then brought a suit against plff for sale upon his mortgage and pleaded that plff was estopped from denying his title as mortgagee. Held, he ought to have raised the question of estoppel in previous suit, and not having done so his present claim was barred by res judicata 8 A L J 358=10 I C 961 —Plff. purchased a plot of land previously mortgaged to deft. and obtained a decree for redemption. In execution of the decree, on deft's objection it was decided that plff. had purchased plot A only. In a subsequent suit for possession of plot B on the strength of the same sale. Held, that the suit was barred by res-judicata. 10 I C 453.

—A cosharer selling the property to the mortgagee, another cosharer suing to recover her share, the mortgagee omitting to set up the plea of the mortgage. Held the mortgagee's suit for recovery of possession of —Prior mortgage of entire share with possession. Second mortgage of two-third share Suit for sale on second mortgage Prior mortgagee party No prayer for possession of one-third Second suit for possession is Res judicata. 8 A L J 352 = 10 I C 925.

( 3 ) Claim for Pre-emption

—Foreclosure suit—Failure to advance a claim to pre-empt as a defence to the mortgage suit—Effect. See 21 I. C. 287

—Property subject to mortgages—Covenant by vendor to discharge previous—mortgages—Pre-emption suit—Res Judicata. 17 I C 318

( 4 ) Joint-family Property

—Where a mortgage-deed was found to be valid and binding on the whole family it was held that the deft. could not re-open the question of validity and binding character of the deed by setting up a plea which might and ought to have been set up in the former suit. A L R 1933 M 709.

—A son sue to recover possession of mortgaged property. There had previously been a suit brought on foot of the mortgage against his father and a final decree for foreclosure in that suit. The son alleged that the foreclosure decree was not binding because his father failed to plead the invalidity of the registration of the mortgage deed in that suit. Held that the father represented the son in the earlier suit, and that, as the father would be debarred from raising the plea regarding the invalidity of the registration, the son was also barred. 138 I C 161 = 15 N L J 1 = I R 1932 N 80 = A I R 1932 N 90.

—A mortgagee instituted a suit for sale of the property based on his mortgage executed by the mother of the plaintiff, impleading him and the mother on the ground that she had after the mortgage gifted the property to him. In that suit it was found that the mother of the plaintiff had full rights in the property and that she was competent to mortgage. A decree for sale was passed and the decree holder purchased the property. Subsequent to the purchase the plaintiff sued to recover a share of the property on the ground that his mother was not competent to mortgage it and that the defendant in execution of his decree had purchased only the life-interest of his (plaintiff's) mother which —In a suit to enforce a mortgage against the father of a joint Hindu Family—sons were not made parties. The sons in a subsequent suit to set aside the decree cannot plead that father was not competent to mortgage, as the property was under Collector's management, 53 I. C. 776.

( 5 ) Mortgagee suing mortgagor and puisne mortgagee

—First suit by mortgagee for redemption against sub-mortgagee who was also purchaser of equity of redemption. Second suit by purchaser for redemption is not barred by res judicata. 102 P R 1914 = 213 P L R 1914 = 135 P W R 1914 = 24 I. C. 636.

—A, a mortgagee sued the mortgagors and B, a prior charge-holder on the property. The decree provided that the mortgagors should pay certain amount of money to A and further a charge to which B did not object was created in favour of A on some of the property. B is not debarred from enforcing his charge which was prior to A's. A I R 1929 Mad 379 = 56 M L J 295 = 29 L W 609 = Ind. Rul. ( 1929 ) Mad. 686 = 117 I. C. 302.

—A executed a mortgage by conditional sale in favour of B and then a simple mortgage. B sued on the simple mortgage and obtained a simple money decree in execution of which he purchased a portion of the equity of redemption of the properties mentioned in the deed of conditional sale. B then sued to enforce the conditional sale for the full amount without abatement. He obtained a decree and the mortgagor paid up the amount due. B then sued for a declaration that he was the full owner of the properties of which he had purchased the equity of redemption. Held, that as B had deliberately agreed to return the property free of all incumbrances on being paid a certain sum and as that sum had been paid the suit was barred by equitable estoppel. It would not make any difference even if the debt was in a position to know that the plff. had a title under which he could have retained full proprietary rights over a portion of the property concerned 17 A L J 988 = U P L R (H C) 130 = 52 I C 690.

(7) Pleas which a mortgagee is bound to set up in redemption suits or mortgage suits.

—First suit by mortgagor for possession and redemption from the mortgagee as usufructuary mortgagee, though he was a simple mortgagee, does not bar a subsequent suit by the mortgagee for his mortgage money. A I R 1925 Lah 516 = 87 I C 237.

—Mortgagee obtaining decree nisi for foreclosure, but failing to apply for decree, absolute, the mortgagor can bring a subsequent suit to redeem : 16 Bom L R 687 = 39 B 41.

—Prior mortgagee omitting to establish his priority cannot bring a subsequent suit for it. A I R 1929 Pat. 678 = 10 P L T 645 = Ind Rul (1930) Pat. 129 = 121 I C 353.

—In a suit for possession the mortgagee from the ostensible owner, though a party to the suit, omitted to deny plff's title and a decree was passed in plff's favour. In a subsequent suit for sale by the mortgagee. Held, that the mortgagee was barred by res judicata from disputing the title of the plff. 8 A L J 358 = 10 I C 961. Affirmed in appeal by the P C in 34 I C 673 = 3 L W 454 = 1916 M W N 142 = 20 C W N 265.

—Certain lands were mortgaged, and subsequently further charges were created on them. Mortgagee obtained decree for possession on the mortgage and the amount due. In a subsequent suit for redemption the question of the amount due was res judicata, and the mortgagee was not entitled to interest for the period he was out of possession, nor could he claim payment of further charges as those deeds did not give a right to possession : 60 P W R 1917 = 39 I C 250.

(8) Pleas which a mortgagor is bound to raise in redemption or mortgage suit—(Concl'd)

—Where the plff. had twofold character, as purchaser of equity of redemption, and as a settlement holder from the superior landlord. He did not take the latter defence. The decree is operative against him and he would not be allowed to challenge it in a separate suit A I R 1924 Cal 188 = 38 C L J 183 = 76 I C 517.

—Mortgagee of a proprietary interest brought a suit and obtained decree, and the interest was sold in execution. The Revenue Court rejected the mutation application by the mtgee. Original mortgagor cannot plead non-saleable interest in the suit by mortgagee for possession he having failed to raise that plea in the mortgage suit: 16 A L J 557 = 46 I C 897.

—A suit against a Hindu widow on a mortgage executed by her husband is different from one based on a mortgage executed by her alone. In the first case no question of legal necessity arises at all. That question can arise only in the second case and it can be finally decided only in the presence of the reversioner. But the reversioner when made party to such a suit is not bound to set up the plea and he, not being entitled to redeem the mortgage, can claim to have that question tried in a separate suit when he succeeds to the estate.

—Where, however, the mortgagee, in a mortgage suit, distinctly raised an issue, as to whether the mortgagor-widow was the sole and absolute owner of the mortgaged property, and the issue was decided in favour of the mortgagee, it was held, in a subsequent suit for possession by the reversioner after the death of the mortgagor-widow, that the issue was res judicata as against the reversioners who were also party to the former suit, in which they ought to have raised a defence to the issue: 19 C L J 155 = 17 C W N 877 = 19 I C 686 = 41 C 69.

—But when the prior mortgagee is impleaded in a suit on second mortgage and is aware of the fact that the plff. is seeking to sell the property without the burden of the prior mortgage upon it, and omits in that suit to set up his encumbrance, then a suit on foot of the prior encumbrance is barred by the rule of res judicata. 10 A L J 244 = 34 A 599 = 16 I C 8 see also 19 C W N 942; and 19 C W N 947.

—It should be noted, however, that question of res judicata cannot arise even where the prior mortgagee is made party to suit by puisne mortgagee unless such prior mortgagee's right is attacked and adjudicated upon adversely with reference to the prior mortgage. A I R 1930 All 163 = Ind Rul (1930) All 459 = 124 I C 27.

—Where a decree in the suit on the subsequent mortgage does not make mention of the prior mortgage the prior mortgagee is not barred from bringing a suit on the mortgage. 35 A 111 = 11 A L J 57 = 18 I C 21.

—Second mortgagee filed a suit on his mortgage impleading prior mortgagee as a party and specifically stating in plaint that prior mortgagee was not entitled to priority. —Prior mortgagee did not appear in that suit, and the property was in execution of the decree, sold and, subsequently, the prior mortgagee instituted a suit on his prior mortgage. Held, that he was barred from re-opening the question of priority. Ind Rul. (1929) All 740 = 117 I C 820.

—In a foreclosure suit the prior mortgagee who had entered into possession as purchaser and who was joined as deft. omitted to plead that he could be redeemed. Held, the prior mortgagee could nevertheless insist upon being redeemed in a subsequent suit by the puisne mortgagee for possession of the mortgaged property.

—A vendor sued his purchaser for the recovery of the unpaid sale consideration. The purchaser was a prior mortgagee of the property purchased by him under certain mortgage deeds and deeds of further charge executed in his favour by the vendor. He, however, omitted to set up his claim to priority in the vendor's suit. The vendor's suit was decreed and the property was sold in execution of that decree and was purchased by a third party. In a suit subsequently instituted by the purchaser, inter alia, for a declaration that the property purchased by the third party was subject to the prior charge in a respect of the mortgage deeds and the deeds of further charge, held that the purchaser's claim to priority was barred under S. 11, Expl. IV. The suit was for a decree for sale. The vendor in claiming a decree for the unpaid purchase money did not recognise any prior charge of the purchaser. The decree for sale claimed by the vendor was on the footing of her having the first and the only charge on the property. If the purchaser had a prior charge and the decree for sale as claimed by her could not be properly passed without the sale being made subject to the purchaser's charge it was clearly his duty to set up the prior charge in defence to the claim of the vendor for sale of the property. 9 O W N 557 = 139 I C 358 = A I R 1932 O 268 = I R 1932 C 360 = A L R 1932 O 580

—A brought a suit against B for profits of a certain plot on the allegation that the same had been assigned to him by C and D. The Court dismissed the suit on the finding that the profits had not been assigned to A by C and D. Held, that a further finding as to the enjoyment of profits by C and D was not a finding on which the decision of the case turned and hence could not operate as res judicata. 11 Ind. necessary for the decision of the case the former finding is the only finding which operates as res judicata especially when it is found that the judgment has been appealed from and that the Appellate Court had taken into consideration that finding alone. 5 O L J 647 = 48 I C 386 see also 19 C L J 34 = 21 I C 979.

—But when the decision is based on several findings each of the findings is res judicata. It cannot be said that the finding which is recorded first should operate as res judicata and not the subsequent finding. 36 C W N 72 (76) = 137 I C 696 = I R 1932 C 365 = A I R 1932 C 385.

—Findings on vague issues do not operate as res judicata: A I R 1925 All. 794 = 85 I C 690 see also 55 I C 938.

—The decision in a previously decided case on an issue which did not arise at all cannot operate as res judicata in any subsequent suit. 141 P L R 1917 = 43 I C 754.

—Observation not arising out of the issues which were before the Court for decision, is not res judicata. A I R 1924 All. 884 = L R 5 A 697 Civ. = 47 All. 17 = 22 A L J 866 = 84 I C 631.

—Where a decree is passed in spite of a finding, such finding does not operate as res judicata: 33 M L J 754.

—A decision on an issue not based on the pleadings of parties cannot be res judicata. 75 P W R 1913 = 194 P L R 1913 = 18 I C 1007.

—A decision, not necessary for the due disposal of the suit, is not res judicata between co-defendants. 50 I C 802.

—A finding not necessary to the determination of the suit is not one against which a party could have appealed. It is not a matter directly and substantially in issue which was heard and finally decided and is not res judicata in a subsequent suit. A I R 1923 Lah. 248 = 73 I C 854.

—A finding on an issue not necessary to the determination of a suit cannot operate as res judicata. So also decision on a point from which appeal could not be filed does not operate as res judicata. A I R 1930 Lah. 149 = 30 P L R 744 = Ind. Rul. (1930) Lah. 155 = 129 I C 795.

—A judgment-debtor has no right to appeal against an order dismissing an application for the execution of a decree by reason of the decree-holder having failed to fulfil the condition, viz. execution and registration of a lease in favour of the judgment-debtor. In order to give the judgment-debtor a right of appeal, it must be one that would operate as res judicata. 53 I C 558.

(D) INCIDENTAL ISSUES AND FINDINGS.

(1) General Principles

—For a matter to be in issue under S. 11 C P C it is not necessary that an issue should be framed on it, but is sufficient if a decision about is necessary for the decree. Where, therefore, a finding has been arrived at on a matter which is not necessary for the disposal of the suit and is not made the basis of the decree which is given in spite of it, the matter cannot be said to have been substantially in issue between the parties and consequently the finding cannot operate as res judicata in a subsequent suit. 25 M L T 66 = 9 L W 84 = (1919) M W N 34 = 52 I. C. 258. see to the same effect: 12 I A 23 = 11 C 301 (on appeal from 6 C 406); and 96 I. C. 625.

—Judgment is not conclusive on matters brought incidentally during trial A I R 1931 Cal. 353 = 34 C W N 839 = Ind. Rul. (1931) Cal. 450 = 131 I. C. 562.

—But if the issue, though collateral, were necessary for the disposal of the case, decision on it will operate as res judicata: (1930) A L J 1309 = Ind. Rul. (1931) All. 242 = 130 I. C. 194.

—And a finding on incidental issue may operate as res judicata if has been raised and clearly decided in the former suit: A I R 1921 Mad. 644 = 41 M I J 437 = 14 L W 702 = (1921) M W N 754 = 69 I. C. 570.

(2) Incidental Issues and Findings in suits.
between Landlord and tenant.

—The question of title incidentally gone through in a rent suit does not operate as res judicata: 63 I. C. 762; see to the same effect—79 I C 621 = A I R 1924 N 422; and 2 I C 160; and 68 I C 472 = A I R 1923 C 327; and 54 P R 1904; and 1 C W N 509 = 24 C 569; and 3 C W N 266 = 26 C 428; and 6 C W N 66; and 8 C 470; and 34 I C 123.

—In a suit for rent the deft. set up a title to the land in himself and denied the relationship of landlord and tenant. Court dismissed the suit, holding that the plff. had failed to establish that the deft. was his tenant in a subsequent suit by plff. Held that decision on title was not necessary for the decision of the previous rent suit, and so did not operate as res judicata. 50 I. C. 598.

—Decision under s. 149 (3) Bengal Tenancy Act, does not decide finally substantial rights of parties. Incidental decision on question of title does not operate as res judicata. A I R 1927 Cal. 431 = 100 I C 427.

(2) Suits between landlord and tenant—(Concl'd)

—Tenant asserting landlordship of another and the latter denies, he can be impleaded as party, but decision as to title between him and plaintiff is no bar to his suit against co-defendant. A I R 1925 All. 574=85 I C 302.

—Decision in previous rent suit with reference to title is not res judicata in a subsequent declaratory suit. It is immaterial whether the third party under whom the defendants claimed to have held the land in previous suit was made a party, or not. A I R 1930 Cal. 579 = 57 C 371=Ind. Rul. (1930) Cal. 891 = 127 I C 763.

—Where in previous suit for rent defendant sets up title through another person not party and suit dismissed, the decision does not bar issue of liability in subsequent suit on same cause of action, impleading the person through whom the person alleged to claim. —Where the main issue in a rent suit was the existence of the relationship of landlord and tenant the decision as to the length of the deft's occupation was held not to be res judicata in a subsequent suit for ejectment in which the defence is adverse possession : 59 I C 316.

—Title to the land comprised in the patta is not directly and substantially in issue in a suit for rent, a decree for rent not necessarily involving the decision that a proper patta had been tendered : 10 I C 75.

—An incidental finding as to the boundary of a plot of land is not res judicata as regards the question of the title in a subsequent suit between the same parties. 32 I C 738. See also 34 I C 259 also 34 I C 125.

—Where in a suit for rent the tenant pleads payment in good faith to a third person who is therefore made a party to the suit and the suit is decided against him. (1) General Principles.

—The leading case on this branch of the subject is Barrs V. Jackson, 1 Y. and C, Ch. Cas 586. For the bar under S. 11 to apply issue need not be raised specifically, provided it is necessary for the final disposal of the case : 27 M. L. J. 529 = 16 M L T 432 = 26 I C 817 (F. B.).

—Where the plea of fraud was not alleged in the former suit it cannot be held to have been adjudicated upon so as to be res judicata: 1930 M. W. N. 729 = I R. 1931 M. 39 = 128 I. C. 455.

—The rule of res judicata is inapplicable to matters in respect of which no controversy was raised and no express decision arrived at. 9 O W N 488 (512)=137 I C 606 = 16 R D 246 = I R 1932 O 243=13 L R A 246 (Rev.) = A I R 1932 O 199 = A L R. 1932 O 507 (F. B.).

—But where facts are accepted by both parties and incorporated in and made foundation of decree and judgment are res judicata notwithstanding absence of issue or of decision, thereon. 36 L W 414 (418)=A I R 1932 M 519=139 I C 761=I R 1932 M 789=A L R 1932 M 1466.

—Judgment confessed without any pleadings in the former suit—question not put in issue in the former suit can be re-agitated : 117 I C 295 = I R 1929 M 679 = A I R 1929 M 694.

(4) Directly and Substantially in Issue—(Contd.)

(E) Not in Issue—(Contd.)

(1) General Principles—(Concl'd)

—As to decision of issue improperly raised after remand—See 10 C W N 1065, P C = 8 Bom. L R 722 = 16 M L J 440 = 3 A L J 695 = 4 C L J 405 = 1 M L T 265 = 9 O C 377 = 28 A 727 = 33 I A 156.

—Where the debts were exempted from liability in the former suit, and they had, therefore no right of appeal, the decree in that suit cannot operate as res judicata. 1 A L J 363 = 27 A 59 See also 1926 Lah. 202 = 27 P L R 194 = 93 I C 921.

(2) "Not in Issue"—Suits between Landlord and Tenant.

—Previous decree awarding rent at a certain rate for the suit period is not res judicata as to the different period : 43 C L J 135 = 95 I C 130 = A I R 1926 C 698; see to the same effect : 77 I C 334 = A I R 1922 Pat. 213; and A I R 1931 Cal. 788 = 58 Cal. 1040 = 134 I C 1042; and 3 O W N 313 = 98 I C 77 = A I R 1927 O 32; and 9 C L J 343 = 2 I C 828 = 36 C 604; and A I R 1930 Pat. 585 = 9 Pat. 674 = 11 Pat. L T 765 = 128 I C 337; and A I R 1927 M 842 = 53 M L J 440 = 103 I C 311; and 4 C W N 43; and 1931 M W N 813; and 4 C W N 161; and 43 I C 753 = 4 Pat. L W 47 = 1918 P H C C 218; and 34 Bom. L R 447 = A I R 1932 Bom. 222. And this principle equally applies to consent decrees. 21 M L J 449.

—But where it is proved, under Bengal Cess Act, that two years fall under the same re-valuation, the amount of cess operates as res judicata, though not otherwise : A I R 1927 Pat 58.

—A decree for rent for specific year or years does not operate as res judicata for rent for subsequent years, unless the rent sued for is in respect of land held under an oral or written contract for a term of years. 39 I C 576.

—A decree was given for rent at a certain rate. There was no subsequent change. Held, the previous decree was res judicata. 16 I C 590.

—A judgment in a suit for rent deciding the annual jama does not operate as res judicata on the same question in a subsequent suit for rent but is good evidence as to the rate of rent. 47 I C 173.

—A decree for rent without judgment is a strong piece of evidence but does not operate as res judicata as to rate of rent. A I R 1925 Cal. 1116 = 85 I C 770.

—Where the amount mentioned in the patta was taken as the basis of the amount of the rent payable in kind, it cannot operate as res judicata in subsequent suit claiming the market value of the rent payable in kind. 41 I C 833.

—Where an order for remand directed the Lower Court to ascertain the rate of rent payable for the years in suit, held, that the decision of the rate of rent by the Lower Court did not operate as res judicata as regards the rate of rent for subsequent years. (1918) Pat. 238 = 3 Pat. L J 372 = 45 I C 316.

—Dismissal of a suit for rent of a particular year does not bar a subsequent suit for rent for a different period. 22 I C 7.

—A dismissal of a suit for enhancement of rent is no bar to a fresh suit in a subsequent year. 31 I C 866.

—If in a case under s. 105, B. T. Act, the only point decided was the amount of additional rent to be allowed for the excess area, it does not constitute res judicata as to the rate of rent. A I R 1923 Cal. 282 = 68 I C 298.

—Decision of the Settlement Officer under s. 104, Bengal Tenancy Act enhancing rent under s. 30 (b), when no question was raised as to portion of land being an undivided share, does not bar a subsequent suit for recovery of rent with a claim for enhancement. A I R 1930 Cal 238 = 33 C W N 1156 = Ind Rul (1930) Cal, 676 = 126 I C 132.

—Dismissal of a former suit for rent does not bar a subsequent suit for fixing fair rent under Bengal Tenancy Act, s. 105 : A I R 1923 Cal 333 = 37 C L J 314 = 72 I C 1013.

—The decision that rent was payable as Bhauli rent, does not bar a subsequent suit for the rent of the subsequent years at the cash rent system. A I R 1924 Pat. 371 = 1 Pat L R 109 = 72 I C 138.

—Dismissal of suit for resumption of rent free grant on the ground that the land was not resumable does not bar a fresh suit to assess rent, as no rent or revenue was assessed in the former suit : 29 I C 678.

—In a suit for rent the deft. questioned the propriety of the patta. In a previous rent suit between the same parties the issue was whether the plff. tendered the pattas to the deft. and whether the pattas so tendered were proper, and it was decided in the affirmative, Held :—Per Sankaran Nair, J., (Munro, J. dissenting).—That the decision in the prior suit was not res judicata. (1) The title to the land comprised in the patta was not directly and substantially in issue in the previous suit for rent, a decree for rent not necessarily involving the decision that a proper patta had been tendered. There was no clear finding as to the ownership of the land entered in the patta in the previous suit. (3) Explanation (2) to S. 11, does not dispense with the necessity of a finding upon the issue by the judge in the previous suit.—35 M 216 = 21 M L J 344 = 10 I C 75 = 10 M L T 533.

—Ex parte decrees in prior suits in which no issue was raised as to the rate of rent and there was no decision with regard to such rate, do not operate as res judicata on that point. 65 I C 581.

—An ex parte decree in a rent suit, allowing the plff's claim at the rate of rent alleged in the plaint, does not operate as res judicata unless there was a prayer in the plaint for a declaration as to the rate of rent as part of the substantive relief claimed. 45 I C 416.

—An ex parte decree in a suit for rent in which the relationship of landlord and tenant was neither raised nor decided cannot operate as res judicata upon the question of relationship. The effect of an ex parte decree does not depend on the question whether the decree has or has not been executed. 24 I C 739.

—Where, in a rent suit, the deft. pleaded that the rate claimed was higher but no issue was framed to that effect, and an ex parte decree was passed, held that the Decree does not operate as res judicata on the question of rate of rent. A I R 1929 Mad. 673 = Ind Rul (1929) Mad. 817 = 118 I C. 497.

—In the previous suit for ejectment on the allegation that he himself was a raiyat and the defendant an under raiyat, the claim failed, because it was found that the defendant had a "protected interest." Held that the decision of the question of status was not barred by res judicata, as it was not directly and substantially in issue in previous suit. 31 C L J 507 = 57 I C 344.

—Where a tenant set up lakhiraj title in a rent suit, and no express issue was framed on the point, but evidence was taken and decision was given, such decision operates as res judicata. 20 I C 700.

—Prior suit for ejectment dismissed on the ground that defts. were not tenants, subsequent suit is maintainable. 51 I C 307. During the continuance of a prior lease parties entered into a fresh lease by which the tenant agreed to pay higher rent if he erected additional buildings. The landlord sued the tenant in ejectment for non-payment of the higher rent and the suit was dismissed on the ground that no additional buildings having been erected, the tenant was not liable to pay the higher rent. The landlord brought a second suit to eject the tenant on the ground that the second lease never came into effect at all and that the tenant was in effect a trespasser after the determination of the first lease by the grant of second lease. Held, that the decision in the prior suit was not res judicata. 257 P L R 1914 = 146 P W R 1914 = 25 I C 357.

—It was held, in a rent suit, that the plff. was bound to include in the suit the entire area recorded in the Record of Rights as forming the holding. The plff. amended the plaint accordingly but under protest. Subsequently he brought a suit for declaration that the plots in question did not form part of the deft's holding and that the entry in a Record of Rights was wrong. Held, that the suit was not barred by res judicata. (1918) Pat. 21 = 3 Pat. L W 360 = 42 I C 425.

—Though one and the same person may be an occupancy raiyat and a raiyat at a fixed rent, yet the decision as to status is no bar to the consideration of the question as to fixity of rent. A I R 1926 Cal. 887 = 94 I C 310.

—Decision in a jamabandi case, that the plffs. were non-occupancy tenants, does not bar a subsequent suit for determination of the tenure. 33 I C 556.

—Prior suit to declare that the land was the exclusive property of the plff and not shamilat does not bar a second suit for possession on the ground that the defts are not khewatdars : 24 P W R 1912 = 134 P L R 1912 = 13 I C 445.

—Question of title to land not in issue in prior suit cannot operate as res judicata. 24 I C 801.

—A decision as between the co-sharers that the sir and khulkhast of a particular co-sharer yielded profits at a certain rate in the years in suit does not operate as res judicata in respect of other years. 5 O L J 67 = 45 I C 218.

—Suit for partition of survey numbers not included in previous partition suit is not barred if plaintiff had no knowledge of their existence and information regarding them was withheld through mistake or fraud by defendant. A I R 1931 Sind 27=Ind Rul (1931) Sind 40=130 I C 552.

—Question of title having not been raised nor determined in the former partition proceeding cannot be res judicata. 42 All 309.

—The objection raising the question of title under s 11 cannot be availed of after the tarz taqsim is prepared. And so a suit instituted to set aside a sale which took place subsequent to the preparation of the tarz taqsim cannot be barred by res judicata because the question of title was not raised in the partition proceedings nor can such a suit be barred under s. 233 (c) provided the suit does not disturb the partition or union of mahals. A I R 1929 All 463 = L R 10 A 295 Rev. = Ind Rul (1929) All 813=118 I C 45.

—Suit for possession on title by survivorship was dismissed with a finding as to separation. But a subsequent suit for partition of a village is not barred because the finding that A and B were divided in status was enough to dispose of the plaintiff's case in the prior suit and it is only that issue that could operate as res judicata. The right to the village in question was not substantially and directly in issue in the previous suit and therefore the finding thereon does not operate as res judicata. 21 C L J 296 = 28 I C 580.

(5) Mortgage Suits

—Issue as to mortgagor's title raised and decided against mortgagor's legal representatives does not bar the representative's subsequent suit for declaration of their own title to the property. A I R 1926 Rang. 191=5 Bur L J 114=98 I C 164.

—The plea of res judicata in respect of a paramount title cannot be set up against a person who happens to be a party in a mortgage suit in a different capacity unless the paramount title has been expressly the subject of controversy and there has been an actual decision in respect of it. A I R 1930 Oudh 97 = 7 O W N 25=Ind. Rul. (1930) Oudh 53=121 I C 277.

—(1) General :—Execution proceedings not being "suit" the specific provisions of s. 11 C P C do not apply to such proceedings, but the principle underlying the section applies if all the conditions of res judicata are satisfied : 24 Bom L R 1291 = 76 I C 148 = A I R 1923 B 36; see to the same effect 15 A L J 415; and A L R 1933 N 164; and 33 Bom L R 781 = A I R 1931 B 446; and 4 U B R 132 = 70 I C 530 = A I R 1923 R 119; and 16 I C 238; and I R 1930 O 177 = 123 I C 881 = 7 O W N 363 = A I R 1930 O 305; and 112 I C 534 = A I R 1928 A 527 = 51 A 346; 10 L L J 474 = 113 I C 778 = A I R 1929 L 121; and 36 C W N 367; and 3 I C 47 = 14 C W N 114; and 109 P R 1913 = 108 P W R 1913 = 19 I C 481; and I R 1932 P 318 = 140 I C 507 = A I R 1932 P 357 = 11 P 607; and 5 P L T 7 = 74 I C 781 = A I R 1924 Pat 265 = 2 Pat 771; and U B R 1907 C P C 1 = 14 Bur L R 35; and 1930 M W N 729 = 32 L W 615 = A I R 1931 M 381; and 47 A 86.

—Objection once decided cannot be again raised in execution of the same decree. A I R 1927 Lah 179 = 99 I C 1006.

C. P. C. (1908) S. 11 (Contd.).

judicata. A I R 1925 All 117=47 A 86=22 A L J 928=5 L R A Civ. 744 = 80 I C 722.

—Where at one stage of an execution proceeding an order is made disallowing the objections of the judgment-debtor, the order is binding in all subsequent stages of the same execution. 64 I C 724.

—But failure to appeal is not always fatal. Thus a widow of a judgment-debtor was brought on record as his legal representative. She did not appeal against the order but contended that the property was gifted to her by her husband : Held, that the fact that she did not appeal against the order, did not bar her contention. A I R 1931 Mad 303=33 L W 359=(1931) M W N 48=69 M L J 628=Ind Rul (1931) Mad 562=131 I C 610.

—The rule of res judicata implies that the decision on particular facts is binding and conclusive only as to its immediate and direct object, and not for any other purpose for which those facts may come in question subsequently between the parties subject to the qualification that the immediate subject of the decision should not be attempted to be withdrawn from its operation so as to defeat its direct object. Thus where a mortgagee who was entitled to possession of the mortgaged properties sued for possession thereof. His suit was dismissed on the ground that the properties were not transferable under the terms of the sanad under which they were granted to the mortgagor, but he was given a money decree for his claim.

—In execution of that decree the mortgagor objected to the attachment on the ground that under the terms of the sanad the properties were not transferable, and pleaded that the matter was res judicata. Held, overruling the plea, that so long as the mortgagee did not seek to avoid the operation of the prior decree by attempting to sell the mortgaged properties, he was entitled to ask for an adjudication on the question whether, under the terms of the sanad, the properties sought to be attached were inalienable, though his plea could only be supported by argument calculated to prove that the prior decision was erroneous. 39 All 379=15 A L J 369=39 I C 902.

—A question purely of a clerical or arithmetical error must be distinguished from objection to actual execution of decree. A I R 1933 N 164.

—(2) There must be an express order :—The binding force of an order in execution depends not on s. 11 but on general principles of law; and for such principle to apply there must be an express order determining rights of the parties : A L R 1933 N 231 (Following 6 A 269 P C.)

—If an executing Court expressly decides a point inter partes that decision becomes final according to the general principles of law, though the question whether the law of res judicata applies would be irrelevant. A I R 1922 All. 413 = 44 A 159=19 A L J 954=65 I C 377.

—(3) Prior order must be in force :—To be res Judicata, the prior order must be in force at the time of the subsequent proceedings : 13 Bom. L R 230=10 I C 811=35 B 245.

—Where a prior order under O. XXI, r. 23 for execution is vacated by a subsequent order of dismissal of execution application under r. 57 there is no res judicata. 2 L W 1055=31 I C 293.

—(4) Superior Court's order superseding first order :—Where a final decree in a mortgage suit has been passed after notice to the judgment-debtors, it is binding on the parties at every subsequent stage of the execution proceedings unless set aside on appeal 45. I C 657 see also 1 Pat. L R 145 = 73 I C 359; and 5 Pat. L J 639.

—But the order of a lower court cannot operate as res judicata against the decree-holder proceeding in execution on the strength of a superior court's order passed later in virtue of an appeal from an order prior in date to the 1st mentioned order. 35 B 245 = 13 Bom. L R 230 = 10 I C 811.

—Thus a fresh objection to an application in execution proceedings is not barred where the application has been remitted by superior Court overruling former objection. A I R 1924 All. 804 = L R 5 A 565 Civ. = 82 I C 65.

—(5) Stay of execution, effect of :—The rule of res judicata will not cease to apply merely because the execution was stayed pending an appeal and the decree of the lower Court was confirmed on appeal. A I B 1931 Bom. 451=33 Bom L R 797 = Ind. Rul (1931) Bom. 398=133 I C 750.

—(6) Attachment order when to be attacked :—Where an order of attachment is made after the judgment-debtor had been given an opportunity to appear and show cause against the order, it is conclusive. But where such order is intended to be attacked on the ground that certain pleas were not taken originally, the propriety of the order can be questioned only in subsequent proceedings other than those in which it was passed. 35 M L J 312 = (1918) M W N 143 = 44 I C 4.

—( 7 ) Estoppel:—Mere symbolical possession given to decree-holder will estop the judgment-debtor from pleading adverse possession, even in cases where actual possession should have been given : 26 P L R 546=89 I C 596=A I R 1926 L 35.

—( 8 ) Decision as to question of Procedure:—Where substantive rights are decided in an order passed in execution proceedings, such decision is res judicata in subsequent execution applications. But when the decision on the prior application was one on a question of procedure, as it then stood, it does not operate as res-judicata when that procedure itself is changed by the statute law, 39 Mad. 923=30 M L J 460=18 M L T 313=(1915) M W N 769=30 I C 707.

—( 9 ) Decision as to executability of decree:—Where on an application for execution, it was decided that the decree as it stood was not executable. Held, that the order was binding on the decree holder as res judicata and no further application for execution would lie unless the decree had been made absolute and executable. 12 L W 34=59 I C 161.

—Notice under O XXI, r. 16 given to the judgment-debtor of the application for execution, judgment-debtor failing to file any objection as to its executability before the decree was transferred for execution, is not prevented from raising an objection to the right of the transferee, of decree to execute the decree before the transferee Court A I R 1927 Pat. 170=8 Pat L T 163=101 I C 616

—( 10 ) Decision as to construction of decree:—Construction of decree by executing Court when necessary for disposing of the execution application is binding A I R 1929 Lah 437 = 30 P L R 323 = Ind. Rul. (1929) Lah 751= 118 I C 399; see to the same effect : 11 I A 37 = 6 A 269; and 6 C L R 215; and 6 C 203; and 16 M L T 399; and 95 I C 31; and 20 M 289.

—But where a decree by trial Court merges in the High Court's decree, interpretation by trial Court of its own decree while executing it is not res judicata during execution of High Court decree. A L R 1933 L 229 = A I R 1933 L 352.

—A privity exists between an execution-creditor and a purchaser at a Court sale, the latter representing the former in so far as he had a right to bring the property to sale in execution of his decree. Thus, when the plea of estoppel is available to a decree-holder, it is likewise available to the purchaser at the execution-sale, as his representative or as one claiming under him 18 Mad 13, followed in. 39 M 570.

—But if in execution of a decree at the instance of an attaching creditor, a decision is arrived at in favour of or against the decree-holder it cannot operate as res judicata if the matter arises directly between the decree-holder and the judgment-debtor : A L R 1933 P 166.

—An order passed on a claim, put in by a person in respect of property attached in execution of a decree, adversely to the claimant, will not affect his right to put forth his title in defence to an action for recovery of possession by a third party, even though the claimant did not institute a suit within one year after the disallowance of his claim when the attachment was raised within three months after the passing of the order on the claim petition. In such a suit, the plff being no party to the claim proceedings, cannot claim the benefit of the order on the claim petition passed adversely to the defendant. 16 I C 529=(1913) M W N 54.

—A legal representative of a deceased judgment-debtor who has allowed proceedings to proceed against him for some time, and has paid part of the decretal debt is estopped from pleading that the decree is incapable of execution against him. 31 Calc 822, followed in 2 C L J 499; and 3 Pat L J 454=46 I C 473; see also 109 I C 866=A I R 1928 M 203.

A I R 1928 Mad 746=28 L W 885 = Ind Rul (1929) Mad 289=114 I C 545.

—The judgment-debtor applied to set aside attachment of his property on the ground that the land was service inam. Civil Court dismissed the petition. In a subsequent suit by the judgment-debtor, in Revenue Court it was held that the land was service inam, under s. 13 of Hereditary Village Officers Act 3 of 1895.

(3) "Competent Court"—(Concl'd)

In subsequent execution proceeding against the same land, the judgment-debtor again raised the objection that the land was service inam having regard to the decision of the Revenue Court. Held, the executing Court could not re-open the question whether the land was service inam. Held, further, that the decision of the Revenue Court under Act 3 of 1895, though final and binding on Civil Court ordinarily, it was not open to the latter to recognise and give effect to their decision so long as the decision of a Civil Court (holding the land not to be service inam) remained in force and had to be acted upon. ## (1) General Principles —Unless the case falls under Expl. IV to S. 11, a matter in issue in the former suit must have been heard and finally decided by a competent Court so as to be res judicata in a subsequent suit : A I R 1921 P C 11 = 48 I A 187 = 19 A L J 366 = 25 C W N 915 = 33 C L J 405 = 40 M L J 423 = 60 I C 631 = 14 L W 221 = 1921 M W N 313 = 48 C 499 P C; see to the same effect A I R 1926 O 613 = 3 O W N 771 = 13 O L J 813 = 99 I C 211; and A I R 1931 O 157 = 8 O W N 179; and A I R 1931 A 99 = 1930 A L J 1524 = I R 1931 A 246 = 130 I C 198 = 52 A 901; and 14 P R 1883 N; and 3 M H C 84; and 9 W R 300.

—And such finding will be res judicata even though the suit in which it was made was an unnecessary suit : A I R 1925 L 160 = 78 I C 3.

C. P. C. (1908) S. 11 (Contd.)

(12) Heard and finally Decided—(Contd.)

(1) General Principles—(Contd.)

—Similarly, objections raised and finally decided in appeal cannot be re-agitated by way of cross-objections. 22 A L J 365=78 I C 677 = A I R 1924 A 867.

—The decision need not be express, it is enough if it is necessarily implied: A I R 1928 L 888=113 I C 120; see also 24 M L T 205 =1918 M W N 567 = 8 L W 206 = 48 I C 905.

—Finding in previous suit based on oral admission recorded in judgment operates as res judicata. A L R 1933 M 883.

—Appeal affects the finality of a decree (1931) A L J 833 (P C) = 61 M L J 420 = 34 L W 565 = Ind Rul (1931) P C 283 = 134 I C 331 P C.

—A decision in a previous suit is not res judicata in a subsequent suit when appeal from the former is pending. A I R 1931 Lah 161 = 12 Lah. 497.

—But a decision of a trial Court, appealed against, but appeal being not prosecuted, is res judicata: A I R 1931 S 170.

—When, however, an appeal is filed and admitted the matters decided by the lower court cease to be res judicata, and if the appeal is disposed of on some other ground, the finding of the lower court is not res judicata concerning matters not covered by the appellate judgment: 27 M L T 54 = 56 I C 199.

—Dismissal of an application, forma pauperis, for leave to appeal, is not res judicata: A I R 1930 L 501 = 126 I C 591 = I R 1930 L 783.

—Where a decree is suppressed in appeal or otherwise, and if it is reversed or superseded by a separate suit, the prior decision will not operate as res judicata: 32 P W R 1916 = 33 I C 890.

—Where order of lower Appellate Court was set aside and the whole case sent back for fresh trial, it was held that the decision of the lower Court not appealed against, does not operate as res judicata. A I R 1923 All 456 = 76 I C 473.

—Issues not raised or finally decided cannot operate as res judicata: A I R 1931 A 93 = 1930 A L J 1524 = I R 1931 A 246 = 130 I C 198.

—Decision in a previous suit is not res judicata if there is no contest, no issue and no finding between the parties although they were ranged on opposite sides. A I R 1924 Nag. 124 = 76 I C 635.

—Nor would a matter decided behind the back of the judgment-debtor without notice to him create res judicata. A I R 1930 All 699 = (1930) A L J 1400 = Ind Rul (1931) All 79 = 128 I C 607.

C. P. C. (1908) S. 11 (Contd.)

(12) Heard and Finally Decided—(Contd.)

(1) General Principles—(Contd.)

—Similarly there is no res judicata as to a decision on assumed facts: 30 Bom. L R 1089 = 113 I C 384 = A I R 1929 B 116.

—And a decision in a suit on cause of action, having no existence in law, cannot operate as res judicata. A I R 1921 Lah. 123 = 3 U P L R (Lah) 49 = 3 Lah. L J 211 = 61 I C 375.

—Alternative finding does not operate as res judicata: 14 I C 161.

—Decision on matters not consistent with the judgment does not operate as res judicata: A I R 1931 C 353 = 34 C W N 839 = I R 1931 C 450 = 131 I C 562.

—Decision on a plea of jus tertii does not operate as res judicata since it is generally raised merely as defence. A I R 1927 Mad 844 = 50 M 877 = 26 L W 115 = 53 M L J 864 = 104 I C 468.

—Where the state of things obtaining at the time of the previous decision alters, such decision does not operate as res judicata. 35 C W N 46 = Ind. Rul. (1931) Cal. 397 = 132 I C 81.

—Rejection of memo of appeal presented by an unauthorised Vakil is not res judicata. A I R 1930 All 112 = (1930) A L J 394 = Ind. Rul. (1930) All. 162 = 121 I C 546.

—Order ultra vires does not operate as res judicata in same proceeding. A I R 1925 Pat. 807 = 4 Pat. 440 = 7 P L T 456 = 93 I C 257.

—Objection to preliminary decree taken at the passing of the final decree bars a suit to set aside decree as a nullity. A L R 1933 N 3 (2) = 28 N L R 286 = 15 N L J 28 = 141 I C 479 = A I R 1933 N 36.

—Decision on question as to fraud alleged to set aside a decree is res judicata in a suit to set aside the same decree: A I R 1921 Pat. 12 = 60 I C 124 = 6 Pat. L J 1 = 1921 Pat. 3.

—Where the question of alleged fraud has been in effect adjudicated upon, an attempt to reopen the case cannot be allowed. A I R 1923 Rang 82 = 1 Bur L J 129 = 74 I C 278. see also A I R 1922 M 404 = 16 M L W 132 = 1922 M W N 463 = 69 I C 12; and A I R 1922 A 167 = 20 A L J 254 = 66 I C 81; and A I R 1924 B 100 = 25 Bom L R 893 = 77 I C 206; and 19 I C 579 = 38 M 203 = 1913 M W N 387 = 13 M L T 421 = 25 M L J 228; and 22 O C 60 = 1 U P L R (O) 70 = 22 I C 101; and 31 I C 196 = 98 P R 1915 = 179 P W R 1915; and 4 P L T 35 = 76 I C 136; and 4 P L J 187 = 50 I C 451; and 56 I C 606 = 1 P L T 206.

—An order regarding liability to pay particular items of costs as mentioned in decree, if not appealed from, operates as res judicata. A I R 1922 Lah. 361 = 12 P W R 1923.

(1) General Principles—(Concl'd)

—Where the suit was brought to enforce a document, which was held in a former suit to have no effectual binding power the suit was barred by res judicata. M W N 1912, 73, P C = 9 A L J 165 = 15 C L J 180 = 14 Bom. L R. 177 = 16 C W N 603 = 14 Ind. Cas. 463.

—A former suit between the parties to recover possession of certain bhag lands was dismissed on the ground that the present defendants No. 1, 3, 4 and 5 (who were plaintiffs in the first suit) had not made out their right to sue. An issue was also raised and decided that the present plaintiff No. 1 (who was a defendant in the first suit) being a daughter of the original bhagdar was by custom excluded from inheritance. The plaintiff No. 1 brought the present suit against defendant Nos. 1 to 5 to recover possession of the bhag land as the daughter of the original bhagdar. Held, that the bar of res judicata was not applicable, for though no doubt the issue as to the custom of exclusion of females from inheritance was heard and decided it was not finally decided because it was not necessary for the decision which the court came to dismissing the suit; and the plaintiff No. 1 had no opportunity of appealing against the Court's finding on that issue.

—Where issues were not framed and application for correction of the jamabandi was not decided on the evidence, held that the order is not res judicata. 13 R D 856.

—Judicial order made in one stage of a suit is binding. 34 C L J 415 = 70 I C 6.

—Where an appeal is not decided on the merits but abates, so that the appeal becomes infructuous and the decision of the trial court becomes conclusive, the latter will operate as res judicata as regards questions decided by it assuming that other conditions of the rule exist. 1932 A L J 615 = 138 I C 406 = I R 1932 A 401 = A I R 1932 A 603 = A L R 1932 A 931.

—Where a party applies to file an award, and it is registered as a suit, abatement of such suit on account of plff. not joining the deceased def't's representative does not bar a subsequent suit to recover the money due under the award. A I R 1925 Bom. 418 = 27 Bom. L R 652 = 89 I C 68.

—Where an order of abatement of suit reversed in appeal, an order under Land Acquisition Act relying on such abatement is not res judicata. A I R 1929 Lah 1 = 10 Lah 447 = Ind. Rul (1929) Lah 222 = 114 I C 62.

—Where one or more issues are decided against a party but the decree as a whole is favourable to such party, the adverse findings do not operate as res judicata: A I R 1924 M 469 = 19 L W 377 = 34 M L T 62 = 1924 M W N 246 = 84 I C 622 = 46 M L J 198 = 47 M 453; see to the same effect A L R 1933 M 561; and A I R 1923 A 15 = 20 A L J 784 = 76 I C 618; and 9 L W 84 = 1919 M W N 34 = 25 M L T 66 = 52 I C 258; and 9 I C 1030; 49 I C 513; and A I R 1932 M 207 = 137 I C 616 = I R 1932 M 413 = 1931 M W N 1323 = 35 L W 35 = 62 M L J 141 = A L R 1932 M 390 = 55 M 483; and 139 I C 197 = 36 L W 388 = 1932 M W N 1169 = A L R 1932 M 1310 = A I R 1932 M 541; and 16 C L J 9 = 15 I C 453 = 16 C W N 877 = 40 C 29; and 7 M 145. But there are decisions holding contra see A I R 1926 Pat 87 = 7 P L T 150 = 1925 P H C C 338 = 90 I C 622; and A I R 1924 M 626 = 19 L W 513 = 34 M L T 175 = 1924 M W N 466 = 46 M L J 515 = 84 I C 799; and A I R 1922 M 514 = 16 L W 802 = 1922 M W N 763 = 31 M L T 430 (Per Sadasive Aiyar J.); and 36 M L J 641 = 25 M L T 88 = 1919 M W N 7 = 9 L W 180 = 52 I C 34; and 40 I C 771; and 14 Bom L R 1142 = 17 I C 866 = 37 B 172; and 10 W R 465.

—In 6 Calc. 319, the first suit was Landlord vs. Tenant, for enhancement of rent. The defence was (a) no notice; (b) the tenure is not enhanceable. The finding of the Court was for the defendant on (a) and for the plaintiff on (b), and the suit was dismissed on the question of notice. The landlord brought another suit for enhancement of rent after the notice, and the defendant was held to be precluded by the finding in the former suit from raising the defence that his tenure was not enhanceable. The decision is not now followed, for, though the question of enhancement was put directly in issue and was heard and determined in the former suit. It was not directly and substantially in issue, inasmuch as the decree was not based on the finding as to enhancement but was made in spite of it. 18 Calc. 647. Followed in 17 A 174 and 44 B 321 = 55 I C 322. To the same effect See 4 M 134 and 7 M 145. Also in 18 B 597 and 23 B 296.

—Similarly it has been held that where a suit for ejectment has been dismissed for want of notice, a subsequent suit for the same relief with notice is not barred even though a decision as to the def't's status forms part of the dismissal order in the previous suit: A I R 1924 Nag. 333 = 78 I C 147.

the decision as to nature of tenancy is not res judicata. A I R 1923 Cal. 297 = 67 I C 271.

—And where an ejectment suit was dismissed on the ground of insufficiency of the notice to quit, with a finding that the tenant was a lessee from year to year, that finding is not res judicata in a subsequent suit for ejectment. 31 M L J 311 = 20 M L T 228 = (1916) 2 M W N 133 = 35 I C 421. But see contra, 40 Bom. 662 = 18 Bom. L R 712 = 36 I C 74.

—A finding cannot be conclusive against a party if the decree is not based upon it but is made in spite of it. A I R 1929 All. 910 = (1929) A L J 1100 = Ind. Rul. (1930) All. 86 = 121 I C 102.

—Plaintiffs in previous suit abandoned their rights to claim a mortgage decree against the defendants. Defendants against whom the suit had been dismissed had no right of appeal upon the finding as to the nature of the debts. Held, that the question was not finally decided and could be reargued. A I R 1925 Mad. 52 = (1924) M W N 807 = 20 L W 783 = 47 M L J 487 = 82 I C 438.

—Where the predecessor in title of J. had sued the predecessor in title of M for delivery of a Kabuliyat alleging that Rs. 49 was a fair and equitable rent and the Court in that suit after finding that the rent was not so high as alleged, dismissed the suit in accordance with the Full Bench decision in 10 W R. 14 (F. B.) and in order to exercise its discretion properly in the matter of costs also found that the real rent was only Rs. 30 per annum, and where J. sued M in the present suit claiming rent at the rate of Rs. 30 per annum maintaining that the amount of rent payable by M. was res judicata. Held, that as the previous suit was dismissed not upon the finding that the proper rent was Rs. 30 per annum, and as the successful deft. could not have appealed against the finding that the rent was Rs. 30 per annum the so-called decision that the rent was Rs. 30 per annum did not operate as res judicata. 2 Pat. —The plff. an Inamdar, first sued the deft. to recover possession of land and also arrears of assessment at the enhanced rate alleging that the deft. was a tenant at will and not a permanent tenant. The Court decided that the deft. was a tenant from year to year and not a permanent tenant, that the plff. was not entitled to recover possession as he had not given a legal notice to quit and that he was entitled to recover arrears of assessment at the enhanced rate. The plff. filed another suit to recover possession of land after giving the deft. a proper notice to quit and claimed that the nature of the deft's tenure was res judicata in virtue of the express finding in the first suit. Held, that the finding was not res judicata : 21 Bom L R 363 = 51 I C 109 = 43 B 568.

—An adverse finding against the defendants in whose favour a decree is passed is not res judicata but will lay onus on them of displacing the finding. A I R 1922 P C 241 = 48 C 460 = 14 L W 265 = 30 M L T 279 = 48 I A 49 ( P C ) = 64 I C 231.

—Where in a suit to declare an adoption invalid, it was found that the adoption was made without authority, but that the suit was time-barred, it was held that the adopted son had no right to appeal against the above finding, nor did the finding operate as res judicata. 17 M L T 85 = 2 L W 101 = 27 I C 861.

—Where a point is incidentally decided against a party, but the case is ultimately decided in his favour, he is not entitled to appeal against that decision and the finding on that point does not operate as res judicata in a subsequent suit. 30 I C 592 = 20 L J 386.

—No appeal lies from a decree merely on the ground that certain observations made in the judgment of the Court below are unfavourable to the person in whose favour the decree is passed. 44 I C 723.

—The Madras High Court has held that a party who has been aggrieved by a finding in the decree when the decree is favourable to him has no right of appeal unless the finding is necessarily implied in the decree itself and has prejudiced the party wishing to appeal. Such a finding would not operate as res judicata, when the decree itself is based on independent grounds and were not implied in the decree. 37 Mad. 25 = 21 M L J 947 = 10 M L T 291 = (1911) 2 M W N 303 = 12 I C 167.

—And the Patna High Court has held that filing of another suit to contest an adverse finding will not prevent an appeal against such finding : A I R 1930 Pat. 521 = 11 P L T 183 = 1 R 1930 Pat. 617 = 126 I C 377.

—A judgment in a matter of res judicata must stand by itself. It decides what it purports to decide, no more and no less. If there is any ambiguity as to what it decided which cannot be cleared up without further evidence, then it will not be a clear finding and therefore not a case of res judicata at all. A I R 1923 Mad. 514 = 32 M L T 146 = 44 M L J 443 = 47 L W 322 = 72 I C 582 see also 14 M L J 379.

—Thus a sentence in a judgment that a woman was suspected of being a woman of a bad character does not amount to a clear and distinct finding as to her bad character and cannot be relied upon as res judicata. 137 I C 296=33 P L R 96=1 R 1932 L 333 = A I R 1932 L 232.

—In a suit for possession plaintiff based his claim very clearly on his proprietary title as purchaser under the sale-deed. The defendants in their written statement did not contest the nature of the deed as drawn, but pleaded however that the contract between the parties had been one of the usufructuary mortgagee, and alleged that the plaintiff had fraudulently altered its terms. The suit was decided in plaintiff's favour. Held, it was doubtful whether this decree would operate as res judicata on the question whether the deed was a sale or mortgage. —Similarly, as to award under Arbitration Act: A I R 1930 Sind 195 = Ind. Rul. (1930) Sind 36 = 121 I C 164.

—Where an award was filed in Court under Arbitration Act s. 14 and the objection to jurisdiction of arbitrator was raised but overruled a subsequent suit to set aside the award on the same ground was barred: 137 I C 847.

—The principle of finality applies also to private award unless impeached on sufficient grounds in an appropriate proceedings: A I R 1923 A 518 = 21 A L J 380 = L R 4 A 216 = 73 I C 615 = 45 A 472; and 10 C L J 41 = 14 C W N 75 = 2 I C 214 = 37 C 63; and 7 O W N 541 = 127 I C 254.

—And the foregoing holds true irrespective of whether an application to file the award was made under Sch II or not 33 C 881, or whether a decree has been passed on the award or not 38 M L J 470, or whether the award was oral or written A I R 1924 R 60, provided the subsequent suit was filed after the passing of the award: 33 M L J 177 = 6 L W 243 = 42 I C 514 = 41 M 115.

are not precluded from suing on the original rights, for the function of an award is merely to ascertain and define the original rights, and not to replace them: 29 Bom. L R 301 = A I R 1927 B 237.

—An award in a pending suit on which a decree is passed will operate as res judicata 29 A 519 P C. whether the award was passed on private reference. 26 C W N 940, or on reference through Court: 7 C 727.

—Question in later suit is not barred by previous arbitration proceedings if question was not before arbitrator—R owing money to B and B owing to H.—R paying money to H, and with B's authority, H giving credit to B for the money—H giving letter of indemnity to R against losses—Letter is discharged by B obtaining credit for the money and losses due to R being unwarrantably compelled by arbitration award to pay money over again to B cannot be recovered against H—Entirely misconceived suit was not allowed to be amended before Privy Council A I R 1920 P C 121.

—Where the arbitrators did not inquire into or decide upon the existence of joint property, it was held that a subsequent suit for partition was not barred: 52 I C 503.

—Similarly, a stray remark not incorporated in operative portion of award cannot supersede previous decree. A I R 1929 All. 521 = (1929) A L J 540 = Ind. Rul. (1929) All. 713 = 117 I C 361.

—An order of abatement does not operate as res judicata: 27 Bom. L R 652 = 89 I C 68 = A I R 1925 B 418.

—An award can be attacked on the ground of want of jurisdiction of the arbitrators or of want of a valid contract or reference or on ground of fraud: 81 I C 1924 = A I R 1924 S 60.

—But a wrong decision by arbitrator on mixed question of law and fact is no ground for avoiding a decree which was passed in terms of award without objection: A I R 1929 All. 521 = (1929) A L J 540 = Ind. Rul. (1929) All. 713 = 117 I C 361.

—And an order setting aside an award and remitting the matter back to the umpire is a decision to the effect that there was a valid submission to arbitration and operates as res judicata on that point. 58 I A 381 = 35 C W N 1287 = A I R 1931 P C 289 = I R 1932 P C 8.

—A decree on an award though not strictly in accordance with the terms of reference, is res judicata in a subsequent suit on the same cause of action. 59 I C 89 (2) see also 9 Bom. L R 259.

—An arbitrator gave no indication in his award that it was only a preliminary stage to the final decision to be given by him. Plaintiff brought his suit impeaching award; and after the institution of the suit the arbitrator purported to give his final award and a decree was made in terms of it. It was held that the suit was not premature since the award could not be said to be merely a preliminary award, and subsequent conduct of the arbitrator could not vitiate the suit already instituted, and further that the decree passed in terms of the final award could not operate as res judicata. A I R 1930 All. 584 = Ind. Rul. (1930) All. 762 = 126 I C 10.

—Order refusing to file an award operates as res judicata in a subsequent suit to enforce the award as regards the points definitely raised and put in issue as grounds for such refusal: 18 I A 73 = 18 C 414 P C; see also A I R 1930 S 195; but not otherwise: 22 Bom. —Rent decree based on compromise—
Terms of compromise not known—Decree is not res judicata as to rate of rent. A I R 1925 Cal. 1011 = 87 I C 781.

—Where in a suit on a mortgage, a compromise is arrived at which the Court refuses to recognise and the suit is dismissed for want of succession certificate. Held that the mortgage is not superseded by the compromise unless accepted by Court and decree passed accordingly and that a second suit on the mortgage was maintainable. 12 A L J 672 = 24 I C 93.

—Application challenging validity of a compromise decree under s. 151 dismissed. Subsequent suit for the same purpose is not barred. A I R 1926 Pat. 289 = 5 Pat. 276 = 94 I C 765.

—Plff., the widow of the testator sued to recover possession of properties from 3rd deft. and the latter set up a will and alleged he was the adopted son of the testator. Plff. denied both the will and the adoption. In a prior suit by beneficiaries claiming under the will, to which present plff. was a party, a consent decree was passed and neither the will nor the adoption was impeached. Held, that the decree in the prior suit neither created an estoppel nor operated as res judicata against plff. 11 I C 834.

—Even where a compromise decree is not res judicata it is admissible in evidence: 27 I C 640 and finally decided—Compromise decree—Not res judicata—but admissible in evidence. 27 I C 640.

—When a matter was not "heard and finally decided" in a suit but a decree was passed on the basis of a compromise agreement, the relief claimed in the plaint but not included in such a decree, should not be deemed to have been refused so as to bar a fresh suit for the said reliefs, if the cause of action in the succeeding suit had not arisen on the date of presentation of the plaint in the prior suit: 30 B 395; see to the same effect 35 M 75; and 27 I C 708.

—When it appears to an Appellate Court that there are two decrees arising out of two suits heard together or raising the same question between the same parties or arising out of two appeals to a subordinate Appellate Court, and only one of such decrees is brought before it in appeal and there is nothing prejudicial to the appellant in the decree from which no appeal has been brought which is not raised and cannot be set right if the appeal which he has brought succeeds, the right of appeal is not barred by the rule of res judicata, or at all, by reason of his failure to appeal from the decree which does not prejudice him: A I R 1923 A 490 = 21 A L J 465 = 74 I C 411 = 45 A 506 F B (overruling 18 A L J 40; and 7 I C 909 = 7 A L J 995 = 33 A 151; and 11 A L J 214 = 19 I C 76 = 35 A 187; and 211 A W N 1908; and 91 C 667); approving 245 A W N 1907 = 4 A L J 587 = 29 A 730; and see to the same effect 4 O W N 143 = 100 I C 450 = A I R 1927 O 106; and 131 I C 679 = A I R 1931 A 660; and 87 I C 804 = A I R 1925 A 488.

Plff. preferred a second appeal and only filed copies of the judgment and decree in A's appeal along with his memo. of appeal. Held that the copy of the decree of the lower Appellate Court in the appeal preferred by B not having been filed along with the memo. of appeal and there was no appeal against that decree and the decree had consequently become final; and that the matter in dispute having become res judicata between plff and B who claimed under A, the plff's appeal against A could not proceed : A I R 1922 L 390 = 77 I C 541 = 3 L 215.

—(3) Effect of Appeal on trial Court's decision :—An appeal is only a continuation of the original proceedings and the decree passed by the Appellate Court is the decree in the suit. —(5) Cross Suits or Connected Suits and Appeals:—Where, in both of the cross-suits between the same parties the question at issue arising out of the same transaction is the same, and one is decided before the other, the decision in the suit decided first is res judicata against other. 96 I C 694 (All).

—In a suit to recover a sum of money from the defendant, on account and the latter denied the claim and counter-claimed a sum of Rs. 46. The plaintiff's suit was dismissed and the defendant's counter claim decreed; plaintiff thereupon filed two appeals, one against the dismissal of the suit and the other against the decree on the counter-claim. The District Court dismissed both the appeals. The plaintiff preferred to second appeals, as in the Court below but the appeal against the decree on the counter-claim was dismissed as being out of time. Held, the dismissal operates as res judicata for plaintiff's claim. A I R 1921 Lah 271 = 4 L L J 344.

—(1) General Principles:—Expl V to S. 11 lays down that where a relief is claimed in the plaint but is not expressly granted by the decree such relief is deemed to have been refused. But the Explanation will not apply if the relief claimed is not substantive but merely auxiliary: 13 B 242 P C; and 29 C W N 86 = 89 I C 207 = A I R 1925 C 1195; and A I R 1921 M 21; and A I R 1931 A 657.

—And secondly, it must have been obligatory on the Court to grant the relief and not merely discretionary to grant or refuse. A I R 1931 Pat 1 = 12 P L T 127 = I R 1931 Pat 193; see also 41 M 188; and 21 A 425.

—Prayer for declaration leading up to the main relief claimed, viz., of possession—Dismissal of suit on failure of main relief—Declaration cannot be deemed to have been refused within Explanation V. A I R 1925 Cal. 1195 = 29 C W N 861 = 89 I C 207.

—Where a Court expressly declares, whether rightly or wrongly, that it is not competent, in a particular suit, to grant a particular relief claimed, and directs plff. to take separate proceedings to get the relief, a subsequent suit by plff. to get the relief is not barred either by res judicata or by O 2 r. 2 C P Code. 160 P L R 1915 = 72 P W R 1915 = 29 I C 731.

ears about it in the decree, is not enough to say that the plaintiff is for ever after barred from asking for it. A I R 1927 Mad 779 = 53 M L J 489 = 39 M L T 22 = (1927) M W N 330 = 103 I C 528.

—Explanation V apparently has a reference to what has been adjudicated by the Court and not to the result arrived at by a compromise, in which the parties have omitted to settle a part of their dispute. A I R 1930 All 619 = Ind. Rul. (1931) All 176 = 129 I C 448.

—(2) Mortgage Suits :—Prior mortgage paid off by purchaser of equity of redemption—Lien of purchaser recognised in preliminary but not in final decree—Separate suit to enforce lien is not maintainable. 16 A L J 685 = 47 I C 954.

—(3) Suits between Landlord and Tenant :—Damages for occupation of property after expiry of notice to quit where such relief was sought but not granted in a previous ejectment suit between the same parties must not be granted for the period between the expiry of the notice and the passing of decree in the prior suit. A I R 1927 Pat 395 = 104 I C 190. In Marsh. 93.

—The first suit was for possession of land and was filed from 1253, the date of plaintiff's dispossession. Decree for possession, and was filed from the filing of the plaint. Second suit for was filed from 1253 to filing of plaint, held barred as res judicata.

(4) Claim for Mesne Profits :—But there is a conflict of opinion between the Bombay High Court and the other High Courts as to whether a plff can claim future mesne profits as of right i. e. as to whether it is discretionary with the Court to grant future mesne profits. The other High Courts have held that it is discretionary with the Court to grant or refuse future mesne profits, and hence if such mesne profits are claimed in the plaint but are not expressly granted they are not to be deemed to have been refused under Evpl. V and that therefore a subsequent suit will lie in respect of such mesne profits : see A I R 1925 P 145; and 1915 U B R 81; and A I R 1931 C 788 = 58 C 1040; and A I R 1927 A 446; and 32 C 118; and 17 C 968; and 2 N L R 91; and 21 A 425; and 24 M 681; and A I R 1931 Pat. 1; and 40A 292; and 15 M L J 462 F B (overruling 14 M 328); and 41 M 188; (over-

—(5) Other Suits :—The question at issue in a prior execution petition and appeal to High Court being only about the re-opening of a partition and not as to whether there was or was not a division of particular items of property, a subsequent execution petition for division of the same items is not barred. 4 L W 101 = (1916) 2 M W N 118 = 37 I C 354.

(25) Inconsistent Decisions—(Concl'd)

—That former of the inconsistent decisions prevails does not represent the law. —In other words, a decision in suit on interlocutory matter, whether appealable or not, if not appealed from, is binding upon parties in every proceeding in that suit: 40 I C 621.

—But the Lahore High Court has, in a recent case, held that a perusal of the language of S. 11 C. P. C. shows that there is no distinction between an issue of fact and an issue of law though there are some Judgments to the effect that if the causes of action in the two suits are different an erroneous decision on a question may not operate as res judicata. The test of res judicata is identity of matters in issue and not identity of causes of action; A L R 1933 L 586.

—And the Madras High Court has held that the previous decision was erroneous in law or that it was given with respect to a different cause of action have no bearing on the question whether that decision does or does not operate as res judicata; A L R 1933 M 954 (Case-law on the subject discussed.)

In a fresh suit for ejectment by the plaintiff's co-sharers. Held, that the principle of res judicata applied. 13 R D 169.

—The condition that judgments and decrees bind only the parties and their privies is based upon the maxim: res inter alios actae alteri nocere non debet—i. e. a matter transacted between one set of persons ought not to be allowed to adversely affect a third party—but it is only just that persons claiming through or under parties to previous proceedings should be bound by the decisions therein so far as such decisions affect the subject-matter of their claim. The expression "parties" broadly covers all persons having a right to control the proceedings, make defence, adduce evidence, cross-examine witnesses, and appeal from the decision if appealable, and who would be affected by the result of the case. Indian Courts have extended this rule to benamidar see 4 C W N 283; and 10 C 897; and 3 A 812; and 15 M 267; and 5 B L R 321. A person who is merely interested in the case is not a "party" 56 I C 386;

—The ground of privity is property not personal relation. To make a man privy to an action he must have acquired an interest in the subject-matter of the action either by inheritance, succession, or purchase from a party subsequently to the action, or he must hold property subordinately e. g. landlord and tenant see. A L R 1933 L 42

—And a judgment against vendor in a suit begun after the sale does not create privity in the vendee: 35 B 297; see also cases under (10) "Under whom they claim" below and (6) "Litigating under the same title" below. The expression "parties" also includes persons not claiming under the parties but represented by them 6 B 703 e. g. shareholders in a company when represented by registered officer of that Company; or persons interested in the estate of a testator or intestate when represented by executor or administrator; or members of a joint Hindu family when represented by the manager of such family; see cases under Expl. VI below.

—"Parties" cannot go behind a decree in previous suit. Ind Rul 1929 All 295 = 114 I C 871.

—Where in the previous litigation inter partes a person has been found entitled to a certain share, he cannot claim larger share in the subsequent suit: A L R 1933 O 318.

—See to the same effect the following cases in which it has been held that, apart from other conditions of res judicata, three conditions must especially be satisfied so as to constitute res judicata between co-defts, viz. (1) that there was a conflict of interests between the co-defts, (2) that it was necessary to decide that conflict in order to give relief to the plff, and (3) that the question was finally decided: A I R 1931 P C 231 = I R 1931 P C 257 = 8 O W N 973 = 61 M L J 415 = 34 L W 439 = 35 C W N 1217 = 133 I C 721 P C; A L R 1932 C 739 = A I R 1932 C 271 = 137 I C 46 = 35 C W N 1203 = 59 C 636; A I R 1932 A 643 = 1932 A L J 605 = I R 1932 A 444 = A L R 1932 A 1008 = 138 I C 552; A I R 1931 S 170; A I R 1925 M 645 = 21 L W 551 = 90 I C 124; A I R 1925 R 228 = 92 I C 489 = 3 R 77; A I R 1925 A 546 = 23 A L J 453 = L R 6 A 385 = 88 I C 130 = 47 A 778; A I R 1925 C 431 = 84 I C 846 = 51 C 997; A I R 1924 A 310 = 22 A L J 91 = L R 5 A 71 civ. = 79 I C 803 = 46 A 220; A I R 1923 L 186 = 71 I C 481; 17 Bom. —Decision as to a point pleaded by one deft and supported by another deft, operates as res judicata between them : 90 C 125.

—The rule of res judicata must be applied to co-defts with caution A I R 1925 C 431 = 84 I C 846 = 51 C 997.

—For a discussion of case-law on the subject see A I R 1926 S. 282 = 96 I C 406.

First, D sued the firm in the High Court for recovery of his moiety of the deposit, L. who was a member of the firm, admitted the claim; but the other partners, debt. Nos 1 and 2 contested it, while debts. Nos. 3 to 6 pleaded that they were not partners in the firm. The Court passed a decree against L and debts. Nos. 1 and 2 only. The K. firm ended in loss and ceased to work. L then brought the present suit against debts. Nos. 1 to 6, for dissolution of the partnership and taking of accounts. The debts. Nos 3 to 6 again contended that they were not partners in the firm. Held, that the relief given to D in the first did not require or involve a decision of any case between the co-debts, and that therefore the co-debts were not to be bound as between each other by the decree which D obtained. 40 Bom. 210 = 17 Bom. —A puisne mortgagee sued for sale on his mortgage making plff, prior mortgagees parties to the suit. He alleged that the prior mortgages had been discharged and in the alternative he claimed redemption of those mortgages. The mortgagor pleaded that the prior mortgages were fictitious and were not subsisting mortgages. An issue was framed by the Court and decided in favour of the prior mortgages. In a suit by the prior mortgagees for foreclosure, of the mortgage the deft. pleaded that the mortgages were fictitious and without consideration. (3) Co-plaintiffs, res judicata between.

—An issue can be res judicata as between co-plaintiffs subject to the same conditions as in the case of co-defendants. Thus a judgment in a suit cannot be res judicata between the co-plffs therein in respect of a point on which there was no active contest between them. Held that the plea of res judicata must be disallowed, in as much as, in the first suit, there was no final adjudication as between R and D. 14 Bom L R 128 = 14 I C 466.

—In a claim suit the decision will be res judicata as between the judgment-debtor and the claimant in regard to the whole of the property involved provided the Court passing the decree had jurisdiction covering the value of the property in suit. It does not matter whether the judgment-debtor confesses judgment or denies the claim and the fact it is decided after trial of the issues is immaterial. But it will not be res judicata where the judgment-debtor though pro forma a party has no interest of any kind in the decision; but confession of judgment is not equivalent to absence of interest. 38 P W R 1913 = 89 P L R 1913 = 84 P R 1913 = 18 I C 820.

planation of the Code of 1882, owing to the insertion of the words "public right" This insertion has been necessitated by S. 91 which is newly added to the present Code. Some of the cases under the old Code, therefore, eg. 6 C 49 and 6 C 31 are thus rendered obsolete by the present Explanation, as to the scope and operation of which see 31 M L J 26 = 35 I C 116.

—Where the plaintiff or the defendant sues or is sued in a representative capacity, which attaches to him under the general law, the decision binds the entire body whom he represents. These are cases of administrators, trustees, shebais, mutawallis, the Official Assignee for certain purposes, a Hindu widow representing her husband's estate, a holder of inam lands and the like. Where a person acting in a representative capacity has no such authority under the general law, if his litigation is to be a representative one to bind others, he must get some other authority to assume such representative character. Such authority need not necessarily be express, it may be implied. Such authority, if it is to be had from the court, is ordinarily obtained in the form of an order under O 1 r 8 C P C. But it need not necessarily be in that form. And, if the suit is filed in a representative form and it is allowed to proceed in that character without objection and if a general issue is framed so as to put in issue the right of the whole class, in whom it is alleged to exist, and the evidence adduced is of a general character and the findings in the judgment are general in nature, that judgment is binding on the whole class notwithstanding that no leave under O 1 r 8 has been obtained. 59 C 636 (643-4) = 35 C W N 1203 = 137 I C 46 = A I R 1932 C 271 = I R 1932 C 261 = A I R 1922 C 739.

—Their Lordships of the Privy Council have affirmed this view by holding that Expl VI. to s. 11 C P C is not confined to cases covered by O 1 r 8, but extends to include any litigation in which apart from the rule, parties are entitled to represent interested persons other than themselves: A I R 1933 P C 210; see also A I R 1924 M 88 = 18 I W 177 = 1923 M W N 545 = 75 I C 336; and 16 M L J 415 = 29 M 553; and A I R 1928 M 77 = 27 L W 216 = 54 M L J 8 = 107 I C 625 = 51 M 128 F B; and A I R 1922 O 1 = 9 O L J 111 = 66 I C 90 = 26 O C 82 and A I R 1927 M 645 = 52 M L J 611 = 101 I C 58; and 43 M 487.

—Cases holding contrary are therefore, no longer law see 16 C P L R 161; and 8 M 496; and 14 M 57; and 23 M 28; and 49 I C 796; and 24 C 385.

—Application of Expl. VI implies a community of interest claimed by certain persons in good faith on behalf of themselves and others: 77 I C 1028 = A I R 1925 O 75; see to the same effect 75 I C 626 = A I R 1923 O 185 = 10 O L J 535 = 26 O C 133; and 8 A L J 345 = 33 A 493 F B and 4 U P L R (O C) 47; Good faith implies every attempt to bring all interested persons before the Court. A I R 1927 Mad 645 = 52 M L J 641 = 101 I C 58.

—Where the previous suit was by a person on his own behalf and on behalf of plff. in the subsequent suit and was bona fide. Held that subsequent suit was barred by Expl. V, 111 P R 1882 Note (c) Fol : 111 P R 1882 Note (b) And Expl. VI applies to those persons who were not actually parties to the previous suit but are constructively held to be parties because they were interested in the right in question: A L R 1933 L 586.

—If the person made a party is interested in the relief claimed, as were the plaintiff sued on his behalf as well as on behalf of a person who refuses to join him as a plaintiff such party will be bound by the decree 25 I C 284 = 12 A L J 751.

—Where in a suit the right claimed is not in common with parties in the second suit, and the rights in two suits are based on different sale-deed the former suit does not operate as res judicata. A I R 1930 All 9 = (1929) A L J 741 = Ind Rul (1930) All 147 = 121 I C 387.

—Where no order was made by Court making plaintiffs representatives the plffs cannot be treated as having brought the suit in representative character. Subsequent suit by another person that prior decree is not binding on him is maintainable. A I R 1930 Cal 787 = 34 C W N 1129 = 130 I C 369.

—Thus where a suit was filed with sanction under s. 92 C P C but was later amended without sanction and stranger defts and relief not covered by s. 92 were added, and the suit was compromised by some plffs it was held by the Privy Council that the suit was not of a representative character: 32 C W N 482 = 27 L W 339 = 55 I A 96 = 26 A L J 464 = 54 M L J 609 = 30 Bom L R 774 = 48 C L J 55 = 108 I C 361 = 1928 M W N 926 = A I R 1928 P C 16 = 9 P L T 65 = 55 C 519 P C; see also 34 C W N 1129 = 53 C L J 91 = A I R 1930 C 787.

(2) Hindu Heirs and Adoptees

—If in a litigation a decision, fair and square, is obtained against the adoptive mother to the effect that she possessed no authority to adopt, that decision must be considered to be binding upon the adopted son by virtue of Expl. 6. A I R 1928 Oudh 155 = 1 Luck 733 = 108 I C 817. see also 1905 A W N 270 = 28 A 241 = 2 A L J 843; A I R 1922 C 321 = 49 C 45 = 25 C W N 585 = 33 C L J 421 = 64 I C 980; and A I R 1925 A 339 = 47 A 490 = 23 A L J 254 = 6 L R A (Civ) 201 = 87 I C 294; and 6 C L J 621; and 6 C L J 490; and 55 I C 407.

—But the decision against widow in former suit does not bind adopted son or other heir, if the widow had not conducted the previous suit for the benefit of the latter:

—Per Dawson Miller, C J—A Hindu woman cannot in a suit on a mortgage of property executed by her self deny that she had power to alienate the property and, therefore, the question of her power to alienate it is not in issue in the suit so as to bar it from being agitated by her heirs in a subsequent suit for possession after her death. —Where it is necessary to establish or deny a custom in a family, and where pains have been taken to bring upon the record every branch of the family, and where that custom has been the subject of contest and thoroughly threshed out in the presence of all branches of the family, the matter cannot be again raised by the descendants of those branches, even though certain branches did not take an active part in the contest but contended themselves with admitting that the custom existed. 1 Pat L J 221=2 P L W 374=36 I C 960.

—Mere presence of a party on record is not sufficient to constitute res judicata. Record—Mere presence of party on, is not decisive of the question when plea of res judicata is raised. 55 M 483 (494) = 1931 M W N 1323 = 35 L W 35 = 62 M L J 141 = 137 I C 616 = A I R 1932 M 207 = I R 1932 M 413 = A L R 1932 M 390; for a finding against a person who was joined only as a pro forma or nominal party e. g. under O. 1, r. 10 and against whom no relief was claimed cannot operate as res judicata 10 L L J 239 = 110 I C 394 = A I R 1928 L 493; see to the same effect; 109 I C 287 = 7 Pat 566 = A I R 1928 Pat 603; and 14 B 408; and 25 B 74; and 17 B 341; and 25 B 589; and 1 P L R 1917 = 157 P W R 1916 = 65 P R 1916 = 35 I C 543; and 60 P R 1894; and 11 Pat L T 458 = A I R 1930 Pat 355; and 17 A L J 625 = 50 I C 740; and 31 I C 861. so also, there is no res judicata against a defendant who was not a necessary party to the former suit: 20 A L J 251 = 66 I C 62 = A I R 1922 A 217 = 44 A 428; see to the same effect: 45 I C 318; and 2 C W N 513 = 25 I A 151 = 25 C 833; and 3 Bom L R 179 = 25 B

—But a deft. cannot escape the bar of res judicata merely because he is described as pro forma if in fact he actively contested the suit: 21 C L J 157=19 C W N 1280=27 I C 954.

—Similarly, a person cannot avoid the bar of res judicata on the ground that he was called to assert his right on one property only and not on others; for he was bound to set up his right to other properties as well: 5 L W 659=1917 M W N 336=38 I C 184.

—And it may be said generally, that a person though a pro forma party, will be bound by the decision if he was interested in the relief claimed: 20 L W 979=85 I C 689=A I R 1925 M 319; see to the same effect 12 A L J 751=25 I C 284; and 8 M L J 139=21 M 373.

—A person, claiming to be purchaser at an execution sale of the house of one B, sued B and S alleging that he (plaintiff) had become owner of the house by virtue of the auction sale and was entitled to realise rent from S who had, however, continued to pay it to B even after the date of the said sale. In that suit an ex parte decree was passed in the first instance. But that was set aside on the application of B and the suit was eventually dismissed. In a subsequent suit between B and S relating to the same house, that the question of B's title was not decided in the prior suit, and that the decision therein did not operate as res judicata against S. S was only a pro-forma defendant in the prior suit; no relief was sought against him therein; and he had no right of appeal. 1932 P C L 825 (2) (828) (Civ.) = A L R 1932 I 825 (2) (Civ.)

—Similarly, where in a suit for redemption it was held that A was not a necessary party and under no obligation to make a defence, this decision did not bar a plaintiff claiming through A following the property—14 Bom. 176. But see 11 A L J 844=20 I C 372 in which F, one of three mortgagors brought a suit for redemption in 1904. He made the other mortgagors pro forma defendants to the suit and obtained a decree for redemption on the condition that he should pay the mortgage-money within six months, and in case of default he should be absolutely debarred to redeem the property. F failed to make the requisite deposit within the time and the decree-debarring him to redeem was made absolute. In 1910, the other mortgagors brought another suit for redemption and made F a pro forma defendant. Held that the second suit was barred by res judicata. see also 45 I C 300.

(9) Same Parties

(1) General

—It has been made sufficiently clear by the discussion of the case-law above that one of the conditions of res judicata is that the matter in dispute must have been decided between the same parties—see also 11 L L J 56; and 71 I C 808 = A I R 1923 N 177; and 11 P L R 1915=246 P W R 1915=27 I C 642; and 9 C L J 441 = 20 I C 815 = 18 C W N 954

—As to the meaning of the words "same parties" see under (1) General Principles supra. The words "same parties" do not necessarily mean parties arrayed on opposite side. 137 A W N 1881 = 4 A 92; see also 42 P W R 1910 and cases under (2) Co-defendants and (3) Co-plaintiffs supra. A party not bound by a previous proceeding between third parties cannot also take advantage of findings in his favour in those proceedings: 20 L W 798=85 I C 454 = A I R 1925 M 300.

—A judgment not inter partes may, however, be admissible in evidence to show that the matter in question had formerly been set up by one of the parties and failed 41 M L J 223=14 L W 128=1921 M W N 576=67 I C 971 = A I R 1921 M 248=44 M 778 F B (overruling

—But observations in a judgment relating to a different matter, though connected, cannot bind a third party, and the judgment itself cannot be evidence against him : 32 L W 850 = 1930 M W N 396 = A I R 1930 M 751 = 59 M L J 321.

—Where the plffs. to a suit are not proved to have been parties to an earlier suit between the defendants and certain third parties the findings in the earlier suit do not operate as res judicata, against plffs. 50 I C 333.

—Where respondent was called upon to enter his defence and his name is not entered in the plaint nor in the original decree and was not a party to the appeal, it was held that he cannot be regarded as a party to the suit simply because he was originally directed to be made a party and was called upon to show cause. 2 U P L R (B R) 64.

—But a person who is a party to the suit but who is omitted from the formal order by oversight is barred from suing again. A I R 1930 P C 22 ( P C ) = 58 M L J 171 = ( 1930 ) A L J 70 = 51 C L J 142 = 31 L W 182; 7 O W N 119 = 34 C W N 201 = 32 B L R 505 = (1930) M W N 355 = 57 I A 24 = Ind Rul (1930) P C 24 ( P C ) = 121 I C 200.

—Where some new parties are added to a subsequent suit in addition to all the parties to the prior suit, the decision in the previous suit is not res judicata. A I R 1927 Lah 259 = 100 I C 849.

—A declaratory suit by claimant against decree-holder and judgment-debtor was dismissed and the attached property was purchased by the stranger at auction. In a suit by the purchaser for possession it was held, (1) that a party could not set up a title at variance with what had been determined in a previous litigation although his opponent in the suit before the Court had not been a party to the previous litigation; (2) that although there was not res judicata as between the parties to this litigation, yet as between the parties to the previous litigation, the decree in the previous litigation was binding; (3) that the decree affirmed the right of the claimant's sons and as the purchaser purchased in execution of that decree against them, his title to the property was sufficient to entitle him to a decree. 20 I C 815 = 19 C L J 441 = 18 C W N 954.

(5) Landlord and Tenant.

—A decision in a suit between two co-tenants for division of holding is not binding on the landlord who is no party to the suit and a subsequent suit by the landholder for a declaration that one of the two co-tenants is his sole tenant is not barred by the principle of res judicata. 16 R D 90 = 13 U D 43 = 13 L R 15 (Rev.)

The proprietors of the village were not parties to the suit. The defence which was based upon a grant alleged to have been made by the proprietors of the village was upheld. (10) Under whom they or any of them claim.

(1) General

—The words "under whom they claim" refer to privies of the parties. Privy is created by (1) one person succeeding to the position of another e. g. assignee or grantee or by (2) holding in subordination to that other e. g. landlord and tenant. The ground of privity, therefore, is property, not personal relation. For purposes of res judicata the term "privity" should be restricted so as to bind a person only as regards the interest represented by the party in the former suit at the time of the suit: A I R 1931 N 183. see to the same effect 20 M L J 752 = 1910 M W N 26 = 5 I C 732 = 33 M 459.

—The test of privity is the property to which the person lays claim, and not the source of such property. 62 M L J 116 = 35 L W 73=1932 M W N 31=A I R 1932 M 198=55 M 40 (49).

—A party who is privy to a decree is bound by it: A I R 1933 L 12; see to the same effect: A I R 1925 A 574 = 85 I C 302; and 14 Bom. L R 854 = 17 I C 205; and 5 B L R 327 N; and 8 A L J 807 = 11 I C 936; and 1921 P H C 369 = 70 I C 232 = A I R 1921 Pat 218; and A I R 1925 A 246 = 83 I C 231; and 1927 M W N 743 = 108 I C 401 = A I R 1928 M 246.

—Irrespective of whether he had notice of such decree: 53 I C 143 see also 14 Bom L R 128 = 14 I C 466 = 36 B 207.

—A decision, therefore, in a former suit, unless tainted by fraud or procured by undue influence against the predecessor in title of the plaintiff will be binding on him. A I R 1922 All. 19 = 44 A 334 = 20 A L J 193=67 I C 523 see also 33 C 1001 = 10 C W N 955.

—There can be no res judicata where the parties in the subsequent litigation ranged on the opposite sides claim through the same person. A I R 1925 Oudh 164=78 I C 65; see to the same effect 7 C W N 482 = 30 I A 71 = 30 C 556 P C.

—The phrase "parties under whom they or any of them claim" contemplates a title not in existence at the date of the prior suit.

—The doctrine of res judicata, as enunciated by the Duchess of Kingston's Case, was adopted in India long before the first Code of 1859. S 2 of that Code gave a statutory effect to the doctrine, but fell considerably short of it, in that, owing to the words "cause of action" expressly inserted in it, it only provided for bar by judgment. Despite this defect, however, the Courts in India had often acted on general principle of res judicata. This anomaly necessitated the omission of the words "cause of action" from the later Code with the result that res judicata now deals with both bar by judgment and bar of the trial of an issue by judgment on that issue, and that the identity of cause of action has been replaced by that of matter in issue as the test of res judicata: see A I R 1930 C 47 = 33 C W N 876 = 56 C L J 369 = 57 C 258; and A I R 1927 M 273 = 25 L W 11 = 100 I C 402; and 39 I C 282; and 29 O C 93; and 23 M L J 543.

—The rule, now, therefore, is that a final decision on any matter directly and substantially in issue in a suit is conclusive of that issue in every subsequent suit brought on any cause of action and for any purpose or object. It does not follow, however, that consideration as to cause of action is entirely eliminated. Thus a prior suit for possession as landlord does not bar a subsequent suit as reversioner 52 I C 813 = 1919 M W N 287; and a first suit for possession as proprietor does not bar a subsequent suit for redemption as mortgagor A I R 1929 L 833; so also a prior suit by principal against his agent to render accounts does bar a subsequent suit by him to recover the money found due: 7 M L J 87 = 33 M 162; similarly the plffs in a redemption suit for redeeming the whole mortgage and claiming possession of that part of which the equity of redemption is held by defts are not barred by res judicata in a subsequent suit from claiming contribution: 27 A L J 1162 = A I R 1929 A 696; and a former suit as reversioner does not bar a subsequent suit as widow's heir: 28 A L J 1254 = 130 I C 13 = A I R 1931 A 21.

—But these cases can be explained equally on principle of identity of matter in issue.

C. P. C. ( 1908 ) S. 11 ( Concl'd )( 14 ) Same or Different causes of action—( Concl'd )

SECTION 12

—The Special Committee in their notes on clauses have observed that 'S. 12 has been newly added owing to the transfer of certain of the provisions of the Code of 1882 to the Rules of the present Code. And a fresh suit would be barred under O. 9, r. 9 where the previous suit has been dismissed for default. Thus, omission to sue for one of several reliefs bars a fresh suit under O. 2, r. 2. Similarly, the effect of abatement of suit under O. 22, r. 9, and withdrawal of suit under O. 23, r. 1 is to bar a fresh suit. Decree against a supposed legal representative does not bar a fresh suit on the same cause of action against the real ones. A I R 1928 Pat 362=9 Pat L T 807=108 I C 558.

—When an action is brought upon a foreign judgment the basis of that action is the implied contract raised by the fact that the parties have litigated the matter and the implication that by so doing each has impliedly agreed with the other to abide by the order or obey the decree of the forum before whom the action is tried. Thus the essence of the cause of action is contract. ## ( 6-7 ) Power of British Indian Court to enquire into merits.

—As the concluding portion of S. 14 of the old Code has been omitted the British Courts cannot in a suit instituted on a Foreign judgment inquire into the merits of the case except on the points specified in paras. (a) to (f) of S. 13. 13 P W R (N W F P) 1916 = 34 I C 255. Decisions under the old Code in 66 P R 1889; 102 P R 1892; 24 B 86; 21 A 17 are thus rendered obsolete :

—As regards execution, however, it is quite competent to a British Indian Court, executing a decree passed by a Court in a favoured Native State (that is, one in respect of which a notification pursuant to s. 44 of the C P Code had been issued) to go behind the decree and enquire into the question whether the Court which passed the decree had jurisdiction to do so, as a British Court ought not to execute the decree, if passed without jurisdiction. 39 Mad. 24 = 27 M L J 535 = 16 M L T 479 = (1915) M W N 162 = 1 L W 887 = 26 I C 287 (F B) S. 44 gives a discretion to the Court to refuse to execute a decree. Discretion to be exercised properly. It is not with special reference to ss. 13 and 14. A I R 1925 Mad. 788 = 21 L W 330 = 86 I C 492.

( 8 ) Submission or objection to Jurisdiction

—The British Courts will not recognise the judgments of the Courts of a foreign country passed in an action in personam against a British subject, not resident in that country at the date of the action, who has neither appeared in the suit nor submitted to the jurisdiction of the foreign Court. 63 M L J 761 (762) = 1932 M W N 1314 = 36 L W 756 = 140 I C 588.

—But where a suit is brought on a foreign judgment every presumption is made in favour of such judgment, and therefore the onus is on the defendants to prove that they had not submitted to the jurisdiction of the Foreign Court. 24 M L T 244 = 49 I C 202.

—The question whether a submission to jurisdiction is voluntary or under duress is one of fact in each case. If the submission is for saving property, it is not voluntary, even though a written statement is filed objecting to the jurisdiction and raising a defence on the merits. 27 M L J 535 = 26 I C 287 = 39 M 24 F B.

—By the fact of entering into a partnership in a foreign country, a person does not bind himself to submit to the jurisdiction of the Courts of that country, in regard to matters arising in connection with that partnership. 63 M L J 761 (763) = 1932 M W N 1314 = 36 L W 756 = 140 I C 588. see also 7 M L J 76 = 20 M 112.

—The trial of the suit by a Court of higher grade is merely an irregularity: 52 M L J 323=24 L W 3 67=101 I C 85=A I R 1927 M 568.

—And it may be noted that where a Judge distributes the plaints, received by him, to proper Courts, he acts ministerially. His discretion may, therefore override provisions of s. 15: 110 I C 293=A I R 1928 L 484.

—It is the money-value of the original suit that fixes the jurisdiction of the Courts throughout the subsequent litigation in its several stages, not the value of what has been left in dispute: 13 All. 320; and cases cited; followed in 80 I C 183; and 89 I C 407; 17 Calc., 680; and 7 Mad H C 356; and 18 W R 262; and 12 All 581; foll in 12 A 579; nor is the jurisdiction lost in execution, because the interest accrued after decree has raised the amount due above the money limit. 10 Bom 200; foll in 50 B 839 and A I R 1920 B 337. ## (1) Account Suits

Where the approximate amount of the claim was stated in the plaint to be Rs. 510, that was taken to be the value of the subject-matter of the suit for purposes of jurisdiction—12 B 675; see also 18 B 40; and 18 B 100; and 15 Bom L R 1021; and the valuation of a suit for an account should not be allowed to be increased so as to oust the jurisdiction of the Court—25 Mad 543; but see 21 I C 783=15 Bom L R 1021 and 40 M 1. According to s. 8 of the Suits Valuation Act (VII of 1887); in suits for taking an account the Court fee stamp and Jurisdiction are both determined by the amount of claim as fixed by the plaintiff—19 Bom 198. was worth over a lakh of rupees, that the liabilities came to Rs. 5,729 and that the defendant was indebted to the estate in the sum of Rs. 15,199. He drew up a preliminary decree directing inter alia, that the defendant should pay this amount into Court within two weeks. Against this order the defendant appealed to the District Court. The District Judge returned the appeal for presentation to the High Court, on the ground that the subject-matter exceeded Rs. 5,000. Held, reversing the order of the District Judge, that the appeal lay to the District Judge 22 Bom., 963; but this decision was dissented from in 15 Bom L R 1021=21 I C 783

(3) Adoption Suit

—But the Madras High Court holds that for the purpose of determining the jurisdiction over a suit by a reversioner to set aside an adoption, the loss which would accrue to the adopted son, should the adoption be declared invalid, is the measure of the value of the subject-matter of the suit 6 Mad., 192. followed in 75 I C 115=A I R 1924 M 84; and A I R 1928 M 1294=56 M L J 107

(4) Appellate restrictions

—When it is discovered, at any stage in the original proceedings, that the suit ought to have been instituted in a different Court, the plaint must be returned for presentation to that Court under O. VII, r. 10. The discovery at a late stage is a matter for consideration only on appeal under s. 21, Civ. Pro. Code. Even where two Courts have concurrent jurisdiction to try the same suit, in view of the imperative wording of s. 15, Civ. Pro. Code, every suit must be instituted in the Court of the lowest grade having jurisdiction to try the same. 4 S L R 264=10 Ind Cas 980.

—S. 15 of the C. P. C. requires every suit to be instituted in the Court of the lowest grade competent to try it. Once the institution takes place, in accordance with this provision the operation of the section is exhausted. The section gives no authority to transfer a pending suit, merely because in the Course of the trial it is found that plff. is entitled only to a part of the claim which would have been cognizable by a Lower Court. 54 I C 655.

—A suit to eject a tenant at fixed rates is a suit for the possession of land and the valuation of such a suit for the purpose of Court fees and of jurisdiction is the value of the subject matter of the suit, that is to say, of the tenant right, not of the land itself nor of merely one year's rent 15 All, 63 followed in 15 A 363; and 19 C L J 418=25 I C 507; but see 1 L B R 303.

—In a suit for partnership dealings, the plaintiffs valued the claim at Rs. 600. The Subordinate Judge passed a decree in favour of the plaintiff for Rs. 30,830. Held, that the appeal lay to the High Court under s. 26, Act XIV of 1869. 20 Bom 265; —Doubted in 22 B 963 but followed in 110 I C 631=9 Lah 23.

—The valuation in a suit for the removal of the defendant from the management of certain trust funds, is the plaintiff's interest in the subject-matter of the suit and the plaint should bear a stamp of a value proportionate to the subject-matter of the suit. 15 B L R 167; and 10 Calc 599; and 8 Mad 516. But see 19 All 60, in which it has been held that where the plaintiffs pray that they may be appointed as trustees, such a suit cannot be estimated at a money value; and this view has been followed in later cases 21 A 200; and 14 C W N 932=7 I C 92; and 22 A L J 1038=84 I C 822=A I R 1925 A 184; and A I R 1928 L 113=8 L 730

(4) "Shall be instituted"

CIV PRO. CODE (1908) SEC. 15 (Contd.)

(4) "Shall be instituted" (Concl'd)

—Date of presentation to the proper Court is the date of institution of the suit: 30 Bom L R 970=113 I C 511=A I R 1928 B 421=52 B 548.

—See also cases under—(3) "Court of Lowest grade".

—(1) General;—By chapter 3, Act XII of 1887, the ordinary jurisdiction of Judges and Subordinate Judges extends, subject to the present section, to all original suits; that of Munsifs to all such suits in which the subject-matter in dispute does not exceed one thousand rupees; and an appeal lies to the District Judge where the amount or value of the subject-matter in dispute (in the original suit) does not exceed Rs. 5,000. Compare. 19 W R 133, 137-8. The valuation of a suit for the purposes of stamp-duty, and the valuation of the subject-matter of the suit for the purpose of determining the jurisdiction of the Court, may be different. Thus, an appeal to a District Judge against a decree in a suit for property of the value of more than Rs. 5,000 will be set aside in special appeal though the valuation for the purpose of stamp-duty may have been less than Rs. 5,000, and though the first appeal may have been heard by consent of the parties 4 C L R 491; see also 23 I C 964; and 41 P R 1910 —Questions of jurisdiction, whether with reference to the nature of the suit or the pecuniary limits of the claim, are matters to be governed by the statements contained in the plaint. The valuation of the claim, as preferred by the plaintiff, and not as set up by the plea in defence would govern the action, not only for the purposes of the original Court, but also for the purposes of appeal and throughout the litigation—10 All 524. See also 9 W R 598; and 25 W R 230; and 9 C P L R 41; and 13 A 320; and 9 S L R 164=32 I C 629.

—Sub-Judge should not return the plaint to the Court of Munsif even if it is afterwards found that the value of the subject-matter was below Rs. 5000. (1930) A L J 386=Ind Rul (1930) All 219=122 I C 187.

—A deft. who opposes a plff's claim in a Lower Court on the ground of jurisdiction is precluded from objecting to the jurisdiction of a higher Court to which the same plaint is presented as urged by him. 9 S L R 164=32 I C 629.

—For the purpose of determining the proper appellate Court, what is to be looked at is the value of the original suit, and the amount or value of the subject-matter of the suit must be taken to be the value assigned by the plaintiff in his plaint and not the value as found by the Court 13 All 320 foll. in 86 I C 183 and 89 I C 407. See also 23 Cal 536; and 31 C 365 and 24 M 471; and 101 P R 1900; and 23 I C 964.

-But when the plaintiff fixes a certain sum as the amount of his claim only approximately or tentatively, and prays that the amount of his claim may be ascertained in the course of the suit, the amount found by the Court to be due to him must be regarded as the value of the original suit for the purpose of determining the forum of appeal. 31 Cal 365-8 Cal W N 233; See also 34 C 954 F B; but see 14 C L J 489-12 I C 745

-The section applies to Prov. Sm Cause Court and to High Court but not in its original civil jurisdiction. The words "with or without rent or profit" have been newly added.

-Sections 16 to 20 contain a direction to the suitor and not to the Court and do not purport to deal with the inherent or general jurisdiction of a particular Court or purport to deprive any such Court of their jurisdiction in the event of their non-compliance. Section 21, makes it clear that a non-compliance with these provisions does not render a decree passed by a Court of competent jurisdiction a mere nullity

-see also 43 M 675; and 9 A 191; and 23 M 167.

--S. 16, shows that the object of the Code is to limit the territorial jurisdiction of the Courts in regard to the property that they are to deal with. So a Court, in execution of a decree, has no jurisdiction to sell property, over which it had no territorial jurisdiction at the time it passed the order of sale. 17 C 699 F B [F., 18 C 526]. See also A I R 1928 M 1272.

-It may be noted that S 16, does not preclude all courts, other than the court within whose local jurisdiction certain immoveable property is situated from trying any question relating to title to that property where it is merely incidental to the reliefs which the plaintiff seeks by his suit. 10 I C 267-9 M L T 372.

--Thus a suit for a declaration, that a mortgage decree in respect of properties at Patna passed by the Court at Benares is inoperative against the plaintiff is maintainable. A I R 1924 Pat 831-75 I C 469

--So also a suit for a declaration that the probate proceedings shall not affect the plaintiffs and for the administration of the estate left by the testator, does not fall under s. 16. A I R 1926 Lah 456-94 I C 1046.

--Once the Court has seisin of the case it has jurisdiction to try it to its conclusion unless there is any reason or holding that that jurisdiction has been removed. A I R 1925 Mad 117-47 M L J 448-87 I C 152.

--Non-compliance, therefore, with the provisions of Ss. 16 to 20 is not fatal to jurisdiction of Court and does not render decree passed by Court of competent jurisdiction mere nullity and executing Court cannot refuse to execute it. A I R 1931 S 47.

A suit that the defendant should execute and register a deed of surrender of the occupancy holding, or should pay back to the plaintiffs the consideration of his promise, is triable in a Court within whose jurisdiction the defendant resides. A I R 1926 Nag 313-93 I C 103.

—S. 16 (f) of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908, does not apply to cases where moveable property, for the recovery of which a suit was instituted, is under attachment by a Court of a Foreign State. Independently of S. 16 (f), C P C when moveable property is under attachment in Foreign territory by the order of a Foreign Court, the Courts in British India would have no jurisdiction to entertain a suit for the recovery of such property. But if the defendant is a resident of British India and the attachment by the Foreign Court was made at his instance the jurisdiction of the domestic tribunal is not ousted, for moveables always follow the person and a decree in personam can be executed by enforcing personal obedience of the defendant. He resided there during the hot weather, and during the cold weather he travelled through the joint estate putting up sometimes at Hansi, sometimes at Delhi, and sometimes at Bilaspur in one of the houses kept at the expense of the estate. The question for decision was, did Skinner reside at Bilaspur? Their lordships held he could have more than one residence, that as he was not a mere manager, but a part owner, and had a residence. There which his predecessor contemplated to be the principal place of residence of the family and in which Skinner kept the accounts of the estate, he dwelt in it within the meaning of s. 5, Act VIII of 1859. Synopsis.

- (1) General principles & scope of the section.
- (2) Execution Proceedings.
- (3) Jurisdiction of different Courts.
- (4) May be instituted.
- (5) Relief respecting immoveable property.

—The present section deals with suits relating to immoveable property situated within the jurisdiction of different and Courts enables the plff to avoid multiplicity of suits by enacting that a suit in respect of such property can be brought in any one of the courts and that such Court can deal with the whole. see. A I R 1929 Oudh 341=114 Ind Cas 775=4 Luck 573=7 O W N 157; and A I R 1928 Mad 820=110 Ind Cas 672; and A I R (1926) Lah 503=96 Ind Cas 691=27 P L R 398; and 21 Ind Cas 438; and 33 Cal 1065 (1075)=4 Cal L J 238; and 5 C L J 580.

—But this does not mean that the section bars the parties from bringing successive suits 3. L W 107=1916 M W N 146=32 I C 423; and 32 C 146; and 19 M 477.

—But it should be noted that for this to apply there must be only one cause of action relating to property situated in different jurisdictions. 12 P WR 1910=59 P L R 1910=5 I C 835; and 4 O C 397; and a suit would be bad for multifariousness if the above proviso is disregarded. 21 I C 438.

There is no justification for bringing the suit in respect of the trust property elsewhere than in the Court of the district where the property is situate. Such justification cannot be found in S. 17 of C P C. 59 I A 268=7 Luck 324=36 L W 146=1932 A L J 691=137 I C 539=56 C L J 36=36 C W N 937=9 O W N 614=34 B L R 1299=63 M L J 336=A I R 1932 P C 172=I R 1932 P C 197=A L R 1932 P C (322) P C

The words "a suit to obtain relief respecting immoveable property" cover suits for foreclosure, sale or redemption but the words in s. 17 "within the jurisdiction of the different Courts" must mean see also under ss. 38 39. But where and the property is partly situated within jurisdiction the Court can acquire jurisdiction to deal with the whole property in execution proceedings 6 P L T 71-80 I C 900=A I R 1925 Pat 139.

The authority given by s. 17 includes an authority to make the order for the sale of a property included in a mortgage, but situated in different districts 14 Calc 661 and the Court has the power to carry out its decree by selling the property, whether any portion of it be within the local limits of its jurisdiction or not 19 Calc 13; see within the jurisdiction of different Courts to which the Code applies. British Indian Courts have no jurisdiction to try a suit on mortgage so far as it relates to property situate outside British India. —The word "May" suggests that it is optional for the plaintiff to sue for the whole claim in any one of the Courts where any portion of the property is situated or to bring separate suits on the same cause of action with regard to each of the properties situated within the jurisdiction of the various Courts. 162 P R 1884; and 32 I C 423; and 20 C 379; and 3 M H C R 376.

—The section deals with cases where boundaries of estates are uncertain owing to which jurisdiction is also uncertain. The section also deals with objection to jurisdiction on technical grounds and the insertion of the words "and unless there has been a consequent failure of Justice" is meant to discourage such objections. The rule as laid down by the section also applies to execution proceedings. see 57 I C 579=37 M L J 442=43 M 135.

—Where uncertainty as to local limits is alleged by a party any of the Courts within whose jurisdictions the property is distributed may if satisfied that there is ground for the alleged uncertainty, record a statement to that effect and proceed to dispose of the suit. But mere omission to record statement as to uncertainty will not prejudice the decree (1) if in fact, the Judge had judicially considered the question 1 P R 1901 or (2) if, in fact, there was no reasonable uncertainty at the time of instituting the suit or (3) if, in fact, there had not resulted any failure of justice 33 C L J 497=65 I C 833=A I R 1922 C 345=49 C 37.

—The section applies to High Court and Provincial Small Cause Court. As to execution of Privy Council decree in case of transfer of jurisdiction between three Courts see (1914) M W N 896=27 I C 88.

—"Wrong" referred to in this section means actionable wrong 25 B 230; and the section deals with actionable wrongs to person or moveable property by enacting that suits relating to such actionable wrongs may be brought either where the wrong is committed or where the diff. resides or carries on business or personally works for gain. 39 M 433.

—Under this section therefore a person may be sued at the place where he carries on business though the cause of action arose at a different place 31 C W N 174=1926 M W N 532=96 I C 887=A I R 1926 P C 88.

—The section applies to Provincial Small Cause Court and to High Court; but it does not apply to the Original Side of the High Court, which is governed by its Charter, and under it the words "cause of action" mean the whole cause of action and not a material part of it. Thus, in a case on contract, it includes both the contract and the breach. 15 Bom 93; approved in 11 C W N 663 and relied on in 79 I C 30 and A I R 1930 C 258-56 C 979; and see the cases cited in 8 Clac 483.

—If, however, only part of the cause of action arises in Calcutta, then the suit can be brought on the Original Side of the High Court, if leave has been first obtained—11 Bom 649; followed in 53 M L J 25 and 79 I C 30; see also 14 Calc 256; and 1 B 23 followed in 29 M 239; and see 21 B 126.

—S 20, like the preceding section deals with venue as respect personal actions: 25 M L J 661; and 19 M 477.

—The opening words of the section—"subject to the limitations aforesaid"—suggest that provisions of S. 20 are subject to those of Ss. 15 to 19. see 7 C W N 402-30 C 453; and 34 M L W 277-A I R 1931 M 705.

—Under the section the plff. is provided with a choice of various alternatives as regards place of suing. He may sue in the Court of the place where the debt (a) resides or (b) carries on business or (c) personally works for gain or where the cause of action arises wholly or in part, irrespective of the residence of the debt. If there are more than one debt, then, if all the debts reside or carry on business or personally work for gain at a place, the Court of such place will have Jurisdiction, as also the Court of the place where the cause of action arises wholly or in part. If all the debts do not reside etc. at the place the plff must obtain leave of the Court, unless the debts who do not reside etc. at that place acquiesce in the institution of such suit. A suit may, therefore, be instituted within the local limits of whose jurisdiction each of the defendants, where there are more than one, at the time of the commencement of the suit, actually carries on business, and secondly in the alternative, within the limits of whose jurisdiction any of the defendant at the time of the commencement of the suit, carries on business, provided that in such a case either the leave of the Court is given or a defendant who does not carry on business acquiesces in the suit being brought. A I R 1922 All 367-19 A L J 696-3 U P L R All 18-65 I C 93.

—It may be noted that Court will have no jurisdiction under the section in a case where several causes of action are joined, if it has no jurisdiction on any one of such causes: 7 M 171.

—But it may also be noted that jurisdiction once vested will not be divested by debt removing his residence beyond the jurisdiction: 88 P R 1869 or by change in the territorial Jurisdiction of the place where the cause of action had arisen: 23 L W 885-A I R 1928 M 746.

—A court can entertain a suit, if the defendant resides or all the defendants reside within its jurisdiction even if the cause of action arises outside it. 30 Bom 364 (390)-8 Bom L R 56.

—As to meaning of "residence" see S. 15 & 15 C W N 399-13 C L J 221-9 I C 189-38 C 394; and 16 M L J 238-29 M 239.

—A suit may be instituted within the jurisdiction of the Court where, at the time of the institution, the defendant actually and voluntarily resides though such residence may be temporary. 14 I C 573.

—And where a person had permanent residence at M which he left in charge of his servant and went to P with the intention of living there for some months it held that the Court at P had jurisdiction over him: 11 Ind Cas 447-34 Mad 257-38 Ind App. 129-15 Cal W N 741-14 Cal L J 64-8 All L J 774-13 Bom L R 520-(1911) 2 M W N 375-21 M L J 669-10 M L T 263 P C.

—Where it was proved that the debt had lived and carried on business in P for forty years and there was apparently no intention of their ever returning to their original home at N, their place of residence under S. 20 of the C. P. Code is in P. and not at N; although they had an ancestral abode and some ancestral land at the latter place. 112 P R 1916-38 I C 62 see to the same effect 2 Bom L R 605

—Where a place of payment is not specified either expressly or by implication, the general rule of English Law is that the debtor must seek his creditor, i. e., he must pay the debt at the place where the creditor is living. S. 49 of the Contract Act is in accordance with this rule and leaves it to the creditor to appoint a reasonable place of payment. 6 Bur L T 143-20 I C 683 see to the same effect Ind Rul (1931) Lah 431-32 P L R 737-131 I C 303 (2) and A L R 1933 B 167.

—Reading ss 20. and 21 of the Civil Procedure Code together with s. 144 of the Bengal Tenancy Act a suit for rent may be instituted in the Court within the local limits of the jurisdiction of which lies the property in respect of which a suit for possession may have been brought. Clauses (a) and (b) of s. 20 Civil Procedure Code allow a landlord to institute a suit for rent where the tenant resides. This must obviously be limited to cases where the landlord seeks a decree for money. A suit for the recovery of rents of lands situate in one District may be brought in another District where the defendant is residing. A I R 1923 Cal 619-27 C W N 542-77 I C 253

—The test of carrying on business is not the continuity or intermittency of the business but the fact of owning interest in the business and receiving profits. The expression "carrying on business" occurring in S. 20 (a), Civil P. C., is used as distinct from personally working; it does not necessarily involve personal presence or personal effort. It only means having an interest in a business at that place, a voice in what is done a share in the gain or loss, and some control, if not over the actual method of working at any rate upon the existence of the business. 28 N L R 118-A I R 1932 N 114 (115)=I R 1932 N 123-140 I C 63

(5) Cause of action

—In Read v. Brown (L. R., 22 Q. B. D., 128) "cause of action" is explained to mean "every fact which it would be necessary for the plaintiff to prove, if traversed, in order to support his right to the judgment of the Court. It does not comprise every piece of evidence which is necessary to prove each fact, but every fact which is necessary to be proved." In Cooke v. Gill, L. R. 8 C. P., 107, it is said that "cause of action" has been held from the earliest time to mean every fact which it is material to be proved to entitle the plaintiff to succeed—every fact which the defendant would have a right to traverse. This definition was followed in 31 Calc. p. 281-8 Calc. W. N. 207. and A L R 1933 C 657; and 1 O L J 561-26 I C 225; and 31 M L J 316-5 L W 246-37 I C 681; and 1 N L R 4 and 41 I C 233-39 A 506, and A I R 1921 Mad 664-14 L W 341-70 I C 284 and 65 I C 452-A I R 1922 Oudh 109, and 41 Ind Cas 233-39 All. 506-15 All. —In 15 I A 156-16 Calc. 98; it has been said by Lord Watson that "the cause of action has no relation whatever to the defence which may be set up by the defendant, nor does it depend upon the character of the relief prayed for by the plaintiff. It refers entirely to the grounds set forth in the plaint as the cause of action, or in other words, to the media upon which the plaintiff asks the Court to arrive at a conclusion in his favour." See also 15 I A 66-15 Calc., 422, and 25 M 736; and 38 M 247; and 25 Bom L R 1172-A I R 1924 B 141-81 I C 776; and A I R 1929 P 685; and 46 I C 913; and 34 M 97-6 I C 233 and 1 N L R 4 and 33 Bom L R 1364-A I R 1932 B 43; and 57 P R 1907; and 7 Bom L R 925.

—The cause of action of a plaintiff suing in ejectment cannot be affected by the title under which the defendants profess to hold possession, for it is of no importance to the plaintiff what the defendant's title may or may not be. If his right has been infringed by one act or transaction that infringement gives him a cause of action against all persons interested in the infringement 29 C. 871 foll and 6 C W N 585 dist. 20 I C 347.

—In a suit by the plff. in the Calicut Court claiming (1) refund of freight, (2) the price of the bundles short delivered, or (3) the amount due to him on a 'general average' account. Held, (1) that the freight having been collected in Calicut, the cause of action for its refund arose in that place; (2) that the cause of action for the price of goods short delivered arose partly in Calicut as that was the place where the goods were to be delivered according to the terms of the Charter party; and (3) that the fact that the voyage safely came to an end was part of the cause of action for general average and that having taken place at Calicut, the Calicut Court had jurisdiction to try the whole suit. 35 M L J 189=(1918) M W N 521=24 M L T 209=47 I C 708.

—Endorsement and delivery of a negotiable instrument within the territorial limits of the jurisdiction of a court is sufficient to bring a suit on the instrument within the jurisdiction of that court even though the note was executed outside the limits of the court's jurisdiction. A person in Government service who is liable to be sent to various places and may possibly be left at one place for several years, cannot be said to have a lodging, at the place where he is stationed, for a temporary purpose only within the meaning of Explanation I to s. 17 of the Civil Procedure Code 1882. 11 I C 851-4 Bur L T 183.

—The words "actually and voluntarily resides" refer only to natural persons and not to legal entities such as limited companies and Government and further "business" means commercial business, not the business of Government. A I R 1930 L 818.

—In the case of firms carrying on business in different parts of the country sometimes constituted of the same people, with omissions or with additions in different places, a Court should analyse the facts thoroughly in order to determine whether the firms or persons so carrying on business are really the same legal entity. "Carrying on business" is used in S. 20, C. P. C., as distinct from personally working; a man may carry on business in a place where he does no personal work of any kind and a firm may be carrying on business at a particular place either through an agency or through a manager or by its servants without ever having left its own town, A I R 1922 All 367=19 A L J 696=65 I C 93. Plaintiffs carrying on business at Amritsar brought a suit in the Court of Amritsar against a firm carrying on business at Bombay for damages for breach of contract made in Bombay, to sell the goods to plaintiffs. It was held that delivery of the goods by the defendants to the Railway Company in Bombay for being despatched to Amritsar would by s. 98, of the Contract Act, have operated as a delivery to the plaintiffs consequently no part of the cause of action arose at Amritsar. A I R 1922 Lah 474=67 I C 181 (1).

—Plaintiff firm residing at Gujranwala ordered goods from defendant firm residing at Calcutta, Latter firm consigned the goods to itself in Gujranwala. The plaintiff firm sent the balance of price to the defendant and asked the defendant firm to advice the railway to deliver goods. The goods were lost by the Railway. Plaintiff firm thereupon sued the defendant at Gujranwala for return of the price paid by him. It was held that as the goods remained throughout under the control of the defendant at Gujranwala. The failure to deliver the goods was a part of the cause of action arising at Gujranwala and, therefore, the Gujranwala Court had jurisdiction to entertain the suit. A I R 1924 Lah 349=71 I C 38.

Where payment was to be made only on the delivery of the railway receipts and the railway receipts were to be attached to the hundis and presented in Madras along with the hundis when payments of the hundis were demanded from them and thus the presentation of the railway receipt in Madras was a part of the performance of the contract and was a necessary condition to be performed, before money could be demanded from the Madras firm. It was held that part of cause of action arose in Madras. A I R 1924 Mad 464=47 M 403=46 M L J 82=19 L W 168=34 M L T 7=(1924) M W N 178 =76 I C 800.

The suit was instituted without leave to sue being first obtained but after the decision of the issue of jurisdiction against them, the plaintiffs applied for leave to sue which was refused. Held that in the circumstances of the case, the order refusing leave was not maintainable. A L R 1933 S 218.

Where in a suit for accounts against partners individually leave to sue some of the partners residing outside jurisdiction was refused it was held that no appeal lay against the order refusing leave, though the appellate Court could consider the order on the principle of S. 105 of C P Code, 4 L W 411-35 I C 74.

—The carrying on of partnership business which gives rise to a claim for accounts is sufficient to give the plaintiff a right to sue at the place where the business is carried on. He had to remit sale proceeds to Karachi to render accurate and sufficient account of sales of goods every month and to submit to the plaintiff at the end of each month an accurate report of stocks of goods belonging to the plaintiff. This agreement further specifically stated that "the agent must submit at the end of each month to the company at Karachi" a certified statement detailing the property of the company and it contained the clause that all legal proceedings are to be instituted in Karachi. It was held that the clauses relating to payment accountability, reporting or jurisdiction in the agreements should be read together and the Court in Karachi had jurisdiction. Branch to be handed over to the plaintiffs on payment of the price of the goods received. The defendants also used to draw hundis upon the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs instituted the suit on the following allegations:—That there were mutual dealings between the plaintiffs and the defendants and that the latter received from the plaintiff by way of loan Rs..... out of which they paid Rs..... leaving a balance of..... due to the plaintiffs. They further claimed a sum of Rs..... on account of the profits of the grain transactions. It was held that it was a suit for an account by a principal against an agent and that the Court at S had no jurisdiction to try the suit but that only the Court at K where the defendants resided and refusal to account arose had the jurisdiction. ## (a) General

—The cause of action in suits arising out of a contract arises at the place where the contract was made or the place where the contract was to be performed or performance completed or at the place where in performance of the contract any money to which the suits relate was expressly or impliedly payable. 7 N L J 25-83 I C 309. See also 45 P L R 1913-40 P W R 1913-18 I C 130.

—The cause of action may arise wholly within jurisdiction though in proving the terms of the contract it may be necessary to give evidence of some facts occurring outside jurisdiction. 56 B 324 (334-5)-34 B L R 236-137 I C 381-A I R 1932 B 291-I R 1932 B 245-A L R 1912 B 498.

—According to S. 20 (c), Civil P. C., a suit can be instituted in a Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the cause of action wholly or in part arises. In a suit for damages for breach of a contract the cause of action consists of the making of the contract and of its breach; so that the suit may be filed either at the place where the contract was made or at the place where it should have been performed and, not being performed, the breach occurred. The performance of a contract is part of the cause of action and a suit in respect of breach can always be filed at the place where the contract has been performed or its performance completed. The place where the documents are to be tendered or symbolical possession of the goods sold is to be given or price for the goods was to be paid is not necessarily the only place which would decide the question of jurisdiction. 26 S L R 167=139 I C 114=I R 1932 S 99=A I R 1932 S 9 (12, 13)=A L R 1932 S 248. See also 64 P L R 1919=43 P W R 1919=50 I C 139.

—The place of breach will also furnish the forum for a suit on contract, even though the place of making it be not within the forum. 27 Ind Cas 397=19 Cal W N 1197=20 Cal L J 55.

—Where a contract for sale of goods provided that delivery was to be made at a particular place and the margin money was to be paid also at that place it was held that the Court at that place had jurisdiction to try the suit based on the contract. A L R 1933 L 1157.

—But it should be noted that the place where cause of action arises in the case of contracts should not be determined according to rules of international law. The court has to see whether anything which the plaintiff has to prove as a fact in order that he may succeed arose within the jurisdiction of the Court. A I R 1931 Cal 659=58 C-539=Ind Rul (1931) Cal 769=134 I C 65.

—And the cause of action must be determined with reference to the terms of the original contract and not by subsequent negotiations thereafter. A I R 1922 Nag 127=65 I C 65.

—In a suit on a contract though the place where the contract was made is not within the jurisdiction of the Court, the Court still has jurisdiction if the place where the contract was to be performed, or where in its performance the money to which the suit relates was expressly or impliedly payable, is within the jurisdiction of the Court. 44 I C 609.

—See to the same effect. A I R 1924 Sind 64=76 I C 353 and 18 A L J 749=59 I C 359.

—Distinction must be drawn between cases of want of inherent jurisdiction in which case the order passed is a nullity and cases in which the Court having jurisdiction passes an order which it cannot pass i. e. material irregularity in the exercise of jurisdiction. Such an order can only be challenged by way of appeal. 73 I C 903=A I R 1924 M 406.

(2) Applicability and scope of the section

—This section has been newly added and is meant to exclude all belated objections as to the place of suing. In any case, appellate and revisional Courts are now prohibited from allowing objections on this score unless there has been a failure of justice consequent on the case having been heard in a Court which lacked jurisdiction to try it. The section does not apply to High Court on its original side. Clause 12. Letters Patent (Calcutta) is not controlled by s. 21 of Civil P C; A I R 1929 Cal 358=Ind Rul (1930) Cal 49=49 C L J 212=56 C 943=120 I C 577

—Section 21, Civil Procedure Code, does not apply to the Chartered High Court in the exercise of their original jurisdiction. It does not also apply to a case where the objection is not one to the place of suing, but one which goes to the root of the whole suit, such an objection to the jurisdiction of the Court, which can be taken at any stage of the proceedings, even at the hearing of the suit and on appeal. 33 Bom L R 1364.

(2) Applicability and scope of the section (Concl'd.)

—Section 21 applies only to objections as to territorial jurisdiction. It does not apply to an objection that suit is cognisable only by a Small Cause Court. A I R 1931 Oudh 411=8 O W N 1019=135 I C 889.

—It also does not apply to suit in a British India Court against a non-resident foreigner on a cause of action which arose wholly outside British territory A I R 1928 Lah 297=9 Lah 455=29 P L R 406=10 Lah L J 87=109 I C 28.

—But it can in a proper case be extended to cases which do not strictly fall within its terms. A I R 1926 Mad 421=49 M 746=50 M L J 161=95 I C 12.

—The failure to notice the provisions of s. 21 bears an analogy to a mistake or error apparent on the face of the record and is a ground for review. A I R 1929 Nag 73=12 N L J 13=25 N L R 104=Ind Nag (1929) Nag 165=116 I C 645.

—S. 21 does not provide against the question of jurisdiction being agitated by means of an independent suit. No legal sanction can attach for a decree which rests upon an usurpation of jurisdiction. There is no provision in the Code which either expressly or by necessary implication deprives the plaintiff of his right of suit. A I R 1931 All 454=(1931) A L J 240=Ind Rul (1931) All 360=131 I C 248=53 All 560.

—All conditions under s. 21 must be fulfilled for setting aside decree. 96 I C 544.

—Thus a decree passed cannot be challenged by a separate suit if objection as to jurisdiction is waived. A I R 1929 Lah 449=11 Lah L J 306=Ind Rul (1930) Lah 39=120 I C 279.

—Judgment of a Court of incompetent jurisdiction is not res judicata. A I R 1926 All 650=95 I C 406.

—Just as S. 11 of the Suits Valuation Act 1887 bars belated objections regarding the pecuniary jurisdiction, the present section bars such objections to places of suing. On this score, both sections form exceptions to the general rule that a decree passed without jurisdiction is a nullity and can be declared void by any Court to which it is presented, and that no amount of consent or waiver could confer jurisdiction on a Court which it does not possess. Mookerjee, however, in 27 C W N 542=77 I C 253 has said that s. 21 is an exception to the well established rule of jurisdiction (as stated above) but that this exception cannot obviously be so interpreted as to have a wider application than what is justified by its terms." In this case land situated outside jurisdiction was sold in execution of a decree obtained by landlord under s. 66 of Beng. Ten. Act. The tenant had not objected to jurisdiction, but did so when the landlord went to take possession. It was held that though the decree was validated by s. 21, the execution sale was a nullity. The Madras and Lahore High Courts have taken contrary view that if the defendant waives objection to jurisdiction it is waived under s. 21 for all purposes so far as s. 21 goes: See 37 M L J 349=53 I C 463; and 47 M L J 448=87 I C 152; and 11 L L J 306=A I R 1929 L 449=120 Ind Cas 279.

As to how far s. 21 goes see under (4) Objections to jurisdiction and (7) Waiver infra. Cases discussed under these headings show that where a Court has no inherent jurisdiction to try a case it cannot pronounce any decree, and if it does, that decree is null and void. But if there is only material irregularity in the exercise of jurisdiction the decree is not nullity and if objection to such exercise of jurisdiction is not raised at earliest opportunity, or, if raised, is overruled the decree will stand effective like any other valid decree. In other words, distinction must be drawn between cases of want of jurisdiction and the cases in which the Court having jurisdiction passes an order which it cannot. Such an order can only be challenged by way of appeal (see A I R 1924 M 406=73 I C 903), Section 21 enlarges the scope of this rule by enacting in effect that assumption of territorial jurisdiction of a Court will be deemed to fall under latter of the two categories distinguished above.

—S. 21 is an exception to the well-established rule that where the Court has no inherent jurisdiction over the subject-matter of a suit its decree is a nullity even though the parties may have consented to the jurisdiction of the Court. Jurisdiction can be conferred on a Court if the parties have expressly consented to such a procedure by constituting the Judge as their arbitrator. A I R 1923 Cal 619=27 C W N 542=77 I C 253.

—In a suit brought in the High Court in the exercise of its ordinary original civil jurisdiction, for the recovery of certain jewels or payment of their value, the plaint contained no averment showing that the cause of action or part thereof arose within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the High Court but alleged that the deft. resided within the local limits of its jurisdiction. The deft. received a summons from the High Court while he was in Madras and at the time took no objection.

He applied to the High Court to set aside the ex parte decree on the ground that he had not been served with summons but his application was dismissed and the order dismissing it was confirmed on appeal. In a suit filed by him in the Sub Court of Tanjore for a declaration that the decree of the High Court was null and void for want of jurisdiction, held, that he must be deemed to have submitted to the jurisdiction of the High Court and could not therefore subsequently question its jurisdiction. Synopsis

- (1) Scope of the Section
- (2) Application for transfer
- (3) Notice
- (4) Original side of the High Court
- (5-6) Transfer when allowed

(1) Scope of the Section

—This section embodies in more convenient form the provisions of s. 22 of the old Code and is intended also to replace s. 20 which has been wholly omitted. See 23 Bom L R 1442-100 I C 154-A I R 1927 B 79-51 B 26.

—Ss. 22 and 23 C. P. C. do not apply to a case in which the question is whether a suit should be tried by a Court subordinate to a High Court or by a High Court and such a case is not covered by the provisions of C. P. C. In the absence of a rule of law applicable to a case of this kind the aid of S. 151 can be invoked in a proper case and it is open to a High Court to exercise powers similar to those contemplated by ss. 22, and 23. 69 I C 712; 27 M L J 645, 45 C L J 71; 77 I C 408 referred to. A L R 1934 A 142.

—These two sections, again, differ from S. 24 C. P. C. in that their scope is limited to cases under ss. 16 to 20 in which the plaintiff has the choice of more Courts than one. 12 A L J 896-24 I C 318; see also A I R 1923 L 288-71 I C 268.

(1) Scope of the Section (Concl'd)

—S. 24 of C. P. C. is wider in its scope than s. 22, C P C and no notice by the party applying for transfer before the application is required under s. 24 C. P. C. A L R 1933 L 745.

—Under the present section both Courts must be competent to try the suit: 118 I C 393- A I R 1929 L 175.

—As to the power of High Court to transfer suit to a Court subordinate to another High Court see under s. 23 C. P. C.

(2) Application for Transfer

—Application under this section should be made according to the old practice by petition and affidavit: (see 8 Ind Jur 143-9 C 980), but it is not mandatory. 162 I L R 1912-14 I C 561.

—An application under s. 22 not presented at the earliest possible opportunity must be rejected: 7 L L J 93-26 P L R 465-A I R 1925 L 322-88 I C 531; see to the same effect 11 P R 1917-35 I C 616; and the provision being mandatory application must be made at or before settlement of issues: 78 I C 608-A I R 1925 L 175.

—But it is only when a suit may be brought in the one or other of two Courts, both of which have jurisdiction, that an application may be made for transfer. Where the jurisdiction of one of the Courts is denied an application cannot lie. A I R 1923 Lah 288-71 I C 268.

—see to the same effect 12 A L J 896-24 I C 318; and 21 O C 217-48 I C 105, and 1 Pat L T 277-56 I C 920.

—And where the application is merely an attempt to get an order from the Court which would enable the petitioner to evade the question of jurisdiction decided against him, the application will not be allowed. A I R 1927 Lah 183-100 I C 67.

(3) Notice

—Notice under s. 22 is imperative: 107 I C 593; even s. 151 of the Code does not empower the Court to wholly ignore this provision. 16 P L R 1917-150 P W R 1916-11 P R 1917-35 I C 616.

(4) Original side of the High Court

—Ss. 22 and 23 do not apply where transfer to the Original side of a High Court from a Court subordinate to another High Court is desired. The High Court has inherent jurisdiction to grant the petitioner the relief for which he asks by an order of stay what the right of a plaintiff to institute a suit in a Court in which the law permits him to sue should not be interfered with by the High Court in exercise of its extraordinary jurisdiction unless the suit is brought in bad faith for the purpose of working injustice. The mere fact that it would be more convenient to the applicant to have the action tried elsewhere is no sufficient reason to force the plaintiffs summarily out of the Court in which they are entitled to sue and to deprive them of the substantial sum expended by them on Court-fees by the application of inherent powers not utilised in practice except for the purpose of preventing or remedying grave abuse. A I R 1924 Lah 306-69 I C 772.

—Where the cause of action wholly arose within the original jurisdiction of the Madras High Court, the mere fact that both parties were residents of Punjab was held not to be a sufficient ground for stay of suit. 27 I C 455.

—In applications for transfer of suits the defendant must show that considerations of convenience outweigh the plaintiff's right as arbiter-lites; and one should rather look to the allegations of the plaintiff than that of the defendant in considering such applications. A I R 1928 Mad 15-39 M L T 401-(1927) M W N 607-106 I C 870 for it is the right of the plaintiff to choose the forum for his action, and in deciding whether the plaintiff should be deprived of that right, a very strong case must be made out by the defendant, and further in deciding whether a suit should or should not be transferred plaintiff's convenience also should be looked to. A I R 1928 Lah 159-106 I C 869 see to the same effect 8 L L J 578-27 P L R 831-A I R 1927 L 14-97 I C 390; and A I R 1924 L 249-73 I C 860; and 3 O L J 200-34 I C 686; and 21 O C 217-48 I C 105; and 167 P R 1919-54 I C 935. That is to say, defts can, by showing clear balance of advantage in the way of convenience and expense, override the plff's choice of forum 11 O L J 377-86 I C 239-A I R 1924 O 410.

—Whether sufficient grounds exist depends upon the facts of each case; mere convenience is not a sufficient ground for transfer: 69 I C 239-A I R 1921 L 304; see to the same effect 21 O C 217-48 I C 105.

—A suit can be transferred only upon two grounds viz. (a) that there will not be an impartial trial by the trying court and

CIV. PRO. CODE (1908) SEC. 22 (Concl'd.)

(5-6) Transfer when allowed (Concl'd.)

(2) that there is a manifest preponderance of convenience to the petitioner if the suit is transferred to the other Court. The convenience of the plffs, and their witnesses has also to be considered particularly as they have in the first instance the right to choose the venue in which they would prosecute their suit. 1 Pat L T 277-56 I C 920.

—That is, in a particular case convenience may justify transfer: 62 I C 115-A I R 1921 C 210-48 C 53.

—Although the mere convenience of the deft is no ground for transfer of a case, when plff has the choice of the forum yet where the plffs subsequently instituted cross-suit which is merely a counter-blast to the deft's previously instituted suit, it would be in the interests of justice to transfer the suit so that both the suits may be tried together: A L R 1933 L 745.

—The mere fact that the defendant resides outside and that all his evidence is available outside the jurisdiction of a court is no ground for transferring a suit from the court where it has been originally instituted. 8 S L R 43-25 I C 874.

—Where a suit for specific performance of a contract to sell immoveable property at M was filed at M and the defendants applied to have it transferred to K departure from the ordinary rule would not be justified merely because the correspondence was conducted at K, or that some of the witnesses would come from K, or again that it would be much more convenient for the defendants to have the case tried at K. A I R 1928 Lah 183.

—Where it was established that almost all the evidence would be available only at the place to which a transfer is applied for, the transfer should be allowed. Application for transfer should be made as early as possible. A I R 1924 Lah 304-69 I C 239.

—All dealings taking place at Karachi —Persons from whom goods brought and to whom goods sold residing at Karachi —Accounts relating to dealings being at Karachi—Balance of convenience held greatly in favour of case being tried at Karachi, though both parties lived at Delhi. - (2) Competency of Court

- (3) Power of High Court to transfer suit to a Court subordinate to a different High Court
- (4) Subordinate, meaning of.

(1) Scope of the section

—Under the old practice applications of this nature to a High Court were submitted through the District Court, but this has been altered under the present Code.

—S. 23 of the old C. P. Code required that a Court must be satisfied that justice is more likely to be done by the suit being instituted in some other Court before it requires the plff. to do so. In the new Code the discretion is left completely unfettered. Very strong reasons must be shown under the new, as required in the old Code for depriving a plff. of the right to bring his suit in any Court allowed by law. 13 B 178; 5 A. 60, 9 C 980, 6 C. P. 116, foll. 7 Bur L T 1=7 L B R 129=23 I C 345.

—The plaintiff has the right to chose the forum of trial, and a case can be transferred from one court to another, only when the Court is satisfied that the proceedings in the trying Court constitute an abuse of the process of the Court. 1 Pat. L T 389=50 I C 649 See also case under S. 22—(1) Scope of the section. Applications for transfer of Civil cases, are extraordinary procedure and some good cause must be shown why such a procedure should be exercised. Where it was alleged that witnesses resided in a distant place within the jurisdiction of another High Court Held not sufficient cause. 24 I C 707.

—If the suit will be more expeditiously and more economically decided in the original Court the transfer is unnecessary. 4 O W N 1114=A I R 1928 9 89.

—The Court to which a suit is transferred must be competent to try it. A L R 1933 A 333=A I R 1933 A 478 (1).

—The first hearing contemplated by the section is the hearing when the case is ready to be heard and proceeded with. Where the several defendants are residing some at Delhi and some at Calcutta and where the estate in respect of which the suit is brought is being administered by one court, and the cause of action arose wholly within the court's jurisdiction, that is the proper court to try the suit. 150 P L R 1914=65 P W R 1914=25 I C 723.

- (3) Power of High Court to transfer suit to a Court Subordinate to a different High Court.

—The Bombay and Patna High Courts have held that under sub-s (3) High Court has jurisdiction to order the transfer of a suit even to a Court, outside its appellate jurisdiction. A I R 1927 Bom 79=51 Bom 26=28 Bom L R 1442=100 I C 154; A I R 1928 Pat 640; See also 1 Pat L T 277=56 I C 920. (dissenting from Nagpur J C Courts view to the contrary in 13 N L R 81=40 I C 393).

—Thus an ex parte decree by Calcutta Court—Execution sought at Surat Court—Suit for declaring the decree null and void brought in Surat Court—Suit cannot be stayed under s. 151—Application ought to be made under s. 23 (3) for an order that the suit should be transferred to Calcutta High Court. A I R 1927 Bom 79=51 B 26=28 Bom L R 1442=100 I C 154.

—The Upper Burma and Oudh J C Courts hold that such High Court should direct the plaint to be returned for presentation to the proper Court but cannot transfer the suit for trial to a Court subordinate to another Court: U B R 1907-1909 C P C 25=4 I C 814; and 20 I C 758 (Oudh).

—See to the same effect the Lahore High Court's view in. A I R 1929 L 183, not following its own ruling in 69 I C 772=A I R 1924 L 306.

—But the Calcutta High Court has held that a Judge of the Original Side not being subordinate to the High Court an application for the transfer of a suit pending before him will not lie before a Bench of the same High Court. A I R 1927 Cal 290=45 C L J 71=100 I C 331.

—Nor should a Dist. Judge withdraw a suit under S. 24 of the C. P. C. merely because in an analogous case a Subordinate Judge had taken what in his opinion was an erroneous view of the law. He should not also transfer a suit merely to enable himself to dispose of it on preliminary ground. 15 I C 569.

—Where the District Judge's direction to the succeeding Munsif was by means of an order which ran as follows:—"The Small Cause Court cases pending in the Court of the Munsif of Bansi will be tried by the present incumbent of the office as regular suits, as he has not got the Small Cause Court powers. The attention of the said learned Munsif be drawn to S 35 of the Small Cause Courts Act, and these cases should be dealt with as provided by the Small Cause Courts Act." The order was held not to be an order of transfer within the meaning of S. 24 C. P. C. but was merely drawing the attention of the Munsif to the fact that there was a provision in the Small Cause Courts Act in S. 35 to the effect that the successor of the Judge, Small Cause Court, should try the suit. 54 A 171 (177)=1931 A L J 953=A I R 1931 A 574 (F B).

(3) Appeals, transfer of

—Where the question involved in several appeals is the same but only some of those appeals lie of right to the Chief Court, it is competent to the Chief Court to direct that all the appeals should be heard in the Chief Court without going through the formality of presenting those appeals in the Lower Court of appeal and then transferring them to its own file. 101 P R 1912=158 P W R 1912=189 P L R 1912=151 C 845.

—An Add. Dist. Judge remanded a case under O 41, r. 25 to Sub-Judge which case was transferred to another Sub-Judge of equal competence. Held, the District Judge has power under S. 24, C. P. C., and under S. 34 of the Punjab Courts Act. It is no doubt true that proceedings on remand under O 41, r. 25, C. P. C., were proceedings in appeal, which remained pending in the Court of the Additional District Judge, but this circumstance does not affect the power of the District Judge under S. 24, C. P. C., to transfer "any suit, appeal or civil proceedings" from one Subordinate Court to another Court of equal or competent jurisdiction. Further proceedings in the Court to which a case has been remanded under O. 41, r. 25, C. P. Per Dawson Miller, C. J. A Court is not "competent" to try suit unless it has jurisdiction to do so. The jurisdiction of a Court depends not merely upon the nature of subject-matter of the suit but also in the case of most subordinate Courts upon the pecuniary value of the suit and in the case of all upon the local limits of their jurisdiction. 1920 Pat 274=57 I C 522.

—Subject to the exception provided for in S. 24 (4) C. P. C. S. 24 clearly contemplates the transfer by a District Court of a suit from a Court of Small Causes. If it is to be said that a small cause suit can only be transferred to a Court having small cause jurisdiction, because otherwise S. 16 of the Small Cause Courts Act will be offended, then sub-clause (4) of S. 24 becomes meaningless. If the Court of transfer is itself always to be a Small Cause Court there can be no question of deeming. But there is no difficulty if "competent to try" is understood to mean "of jurisdiction competent to try." S. 24 must then be understood to constitute an enactment saying, in special circumstances, the provision of S. 16 of the Small Cause Courts Act. 55 M 960 (963-4)=1932 M W N 763=36 L W 479=63 M L J 689=I R 1932

M 726-139 I C 477-A I R 1932 M 683-A L R 1932 M 1213. "A Court of Small Causes" in S. 24 (4) of the C. P. Code, include Courts invested with Small Cause Court jurisdiction as well as Courts constituted under Act IX of 1887. The Legislature apparently intended that the District Court should have power to make an order of transfer trusting to the discretion of that Court, and its knowledge of local conditions, not to make an order of transfer to a Court not competent to make a proper exercise of the special powers which an order of transfer carries with it in respect of particular cases so transferred. Hence, where a suit of a Small Cause suit, instituted in the Court of a Subordinate Judge invested with the powers of a Judge of Small Cause Court, was transferred by the District Judge to the Court of a Munsif not possessing the powers of a Small Cause Court, and it was tried by him and a decree passed therein, held, that no appeal lay from such a decree. 39 All. 214-15 A L J 69-37 I C 809.

-Where a small cause suit is transferred to a Court which is not invested with any small cause jurisdiction, the latter Court is to be deemed for the purpose of the transferred suit to be a Court of Small Causes. This is the proper meaning according to the Madras High Court and effect of the clause. 55 M 960 (965)-1932 W N 763-M 36 L W 479-63 M L J 689-I R 1932 M 726-139 I C 477-A I R 1932 M 683-A L R 1932 M 1213.

-The Bombay High Court, however, has held that the expression "a Court of Small Causes" means a Court properly and strictly so called, and does not include a Court invested with the jurisdiction of a Court of Small Causes. 23 Bom 382. Per Baker J:- S. 24 (4) makes no reference to the Court to which a case is transferred from a Small Cause Court being invested with Small Cause powers up to any particular extent or indeed with Small Cause Court powers at all. The terms of the section appear rather to be intended to confer the powers of a Small Cause Court upon the trying Court for that particular case irrespective of the powers with which the Court is invested. Sub-S. (4) of S. 24 gives the power to transfer a suit from a Small Cause Court to a regular Court irrespective of the Small Cause Court powers of the Court to which the suit is transferred, provided the suit to be transferred is within the limits of the pecuniary jurisdiction of the Court to which the transfer is to be made. Per Nanavati, J-S. 24 (4) is intended to remove the bar laid down in S. 16 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act. S. 16 does not deprive the regular Courts of their jurisdiction but merely directs them not to try a "Small Cause Suit." The jurisdiction of a regular Court is defined in S. 24 of the Bombay Civil Courts Act of 1869. If a suit is within the power of the Court as so defined, then the Court is competent to try the suit. S. 16 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act does not take away this competency. It only directs that certain suits shall not be tried by such Courts and this bar is removed under S. 24 (4) C. P. C., when an order of transfer is made under that section. 56 B 387-34 B L R 931-139 I C 194-I R 1932 B 479-A I R 1932 B 486-A L R 1932 B 681.

—The convenience of the parties in the conduct of litigation is certainly a relevant consideration, and it is perhaps not too much to say that it is the basis of nearly all statutory jurisdiction on the civil side. If the two suits were heard by one Judge the parties, if they acted reasonably, would agree that evidence in the one case should be treated as evidence in the other. Section 24 applies to execution proceedings. Contention that s. 39 gives to the Court that passed the decree a power to transfer, whereas s. 24 gives a similar power, and no higher power to a superior Court is far-fetched and if adopted will render s. 24 so far as execution proceedings are concerned, almost useless. —The words of s. 209 of the Civ. Pro. (1) General principles and scope.

—This section is an exception to the general principle on which s. 35 is based, namely that the award of costs to a litigant is to secure to him the expenses incurred by him in the litigation and not to smart money by way of penalty or punishment on the opposite party. See Notes 1 and 26 to S. 35. In order that this section may apply the following conditions must exist.

A I R 1931 L 509.

directs that any costs shall not follow the event the Court shall state its reasons in writing and the principles upon which that discretion was exercised. Such discretion may be interfered with when there has been violence of any established principle, misapprehension of facts, or no real exercise of discretion, 3 U P L R All 55=64 I C 962.

—S. 35 has a wider scope and authorizes a Court to make an order, as to costs, against a person who is not a party to the litigation but the section has nothing to do with the misconduct of Advocates. Cases of contempt of Courts are not within the scope of the section. A I R 1930 All 225=(1930) A L J 402=52 A 619=Ind Rul (1930) All 685=125 I C 477 (F B).

(1) The claim or defence must be false or vexatious.

(2) It must be false or vexatious to the knowledge of the party raising it.

(3) Such claim or defence must have been disallowed or withdrawn or abandoned in whole or in part. Thus Dismissal of suit for default after warnings and on account of reprehensible conduct on part of plaintiff amounts to abandonment. A I R 1931 L 509.

—Provision under s. 35 is supplementary to s. 47; 35 C L J 156=68 I C 600.

—Guardian ad litem a party can be made to pay costs S. 35 is not restricted by O XXXII r. 11. A I R 1928 Mad 590 = (1928) M W N 318=110 I C 310.

—A right to costs is not a vested right and there is a very limited right of appeal. An order for costs is not a decree; it has to be included in a decree or may be a part of a decree. It is only appealable; if the original decree or order is appealable; and in that event an appeal on the question of costs alone will lie, if any question of principle is involved. There can be no second appeal for costs, except on a ground of Law, 1 Pat L T 403=5 Pat L J 472=57 I C 236.

—See also 9 Cal W N 584 (590) and 47 Cal 67 (70)=56 Ind Cas 334; and (1905) All W N 75; and (1912) Pun L R No 118=120 P W R 1912=14 Ind Cas 284 (2)

—And there can be no appeal from order of costs when the main order is not appealable. 44 I C 690.

—Thus no appeal will lie from a direction as to costs made in an order granting an adjournment of a case.

—No appeal lies against direction as to taxation. A I R 1925 Bom 432=27 Bom L R 692=89 I C 211.

—The Privy Council is not a taxation tribunal. Where objections as to the taxation of costs were not raised before the Registrar of the High Court, they will not be considered by the Privy Council: A I R 1932 P C 13; see also A I R 1928 P C 238.

—S. 35 (2) of the C P Code does not apply where a suit is disposed of without adjudication upon the merits. Though a Court does not decide a suit on the merits of the case and merely passes an order as to costs incurred in the suit, the Court in deciding the matter as to costs, exercises a judicial discretion based upon certain principles and as such, its order is appealable. Similarly, as the order of the Court of Appeal as to costs involves matters of principle, it is subject to second appeal. 52 I C 961.

—But as is seen from the cases discussed above the order as to costs is appealable subject to ordinary restrictions and the fact that they are discretionary. A I R 1921 U B 20=4 U B R 8=63 I C 811.

—Where a Collector's award under Land Acquisition Act was upheld by lower Court and costs refused it was held that appeal lay for costs only as discretion violated well-recognised principle of law. A I R 1929 Bom 63=30 Bom L R 1622=53 B 178=Ind Rul (1929) Bom 253=114 I C 397.

—Where costs are in the discretion of a Judge the Court of appeal will assume that the judge in the lower court exercised his discretion unless it is satisfied that he has not exercised it. Also, the Appellate Court will not interfere with an exercise of the discretion of the lower Court unless it has proceeded on a manifestly wrong ground 2 Bom L R 254 foll 22 C W N 372=44 I C 870; see also 90 I C 577; and 80 I C 39.

the matter of costs even if the discretion is exercised wrongly that is not a sufficient reason for interfering in second appeal, 5 Bur L T 104=15 I C 429. see also 13 I C 201.

—The Court below had deprived the successful deft. of his costs because in its opinion he was responsible for the litigation. There was also no proof of any wrongful conduct on the part of the deft. Held, that there being no evidence of this fact, the successful deft ought to have been awarded costs. Where the Judge has given his reasons and all the circumstances are before the Court of Appeal the latter can, if satisfied that the discretion has not been judicially exercised, interfere with it and make the order which the court below ought to have made. 40 All 558=16 A L J 592=48 I C 478.

—In a pre-emption case the plaintiff's right of pre-emption was admitted and the only controversy was as to the price payable. The District Judge dissenting from the Lower Court held that the whole of the price was paid before the Sub-Registrar and that there was no proof of the return of any part of the price. He accepted the vendee's appeal as to the price, but did not set aside the first Court's decree awarding costs against him. The vendee filed a Second appeal. from him, and the balance is found to be due from that person will have to pay the costs of the suit and of the account. But the case would be wholly varied, if the case were that one party admitted a given sum to be due from him and the other had claimed a much larger sum, and the suit has proceeded only for the purpose of ascertaining whether such contested balance were really due or not. In the case, the costs would depend upon the substantial result, that is, if the balance claimed or a substantial part of it, were shown to be due, the claimant would obtain the costs of the suit; if no part of it were due he would have to pay them; and if only a small portion of it were due the Court would probably give no costs on either side. But in all these cases the Court endeavours to see what were the substantial questions and causes of litigation between the parties. Where the debt, denied plff's right to claim an account and asserted that not only was nothing due from him, but that he himself had not realised, during his possession of the estate the entire sum recoverable by him, and the result of the litigation was that the plaintiff was entitled to account and upon accounts taken if it was established that the defendant had received a considerable sum in excess of his dues and the enquiry was delayed and lengthened by reason of the obstructive attitude of the defendant who had managed to hamper the investigations by non-production of the papers. (16) Partition Suits,

—In 21 Cal, 904, it was held that a mortgagee having had the benefit of a partition, and having accepted and approved of it as part of his title was,
though not a party to the partition suit, bound by the equities attaching to the mortgaged property as incidents of the partition, and was therefore liable in respect of a proportionate share of the charge for costs created by the order of the Court made in that suit under s 222 and such proportionate share of those costs should be deducted in priority out of the proceeds of the sale of the mortgaged property.

(3) Duty of Court

An executing Court cannot tamper with decrees which must be executed literally; when a decree cannot be executed literally it cannot be executed at all. Plff. obtained a decree that he was entitled to share the water flowing through a certain rajabaha equally with the deft. Subsequently the canal authorities made certain alterations, as a result of which the volume of water flowing through the rajabaha was increased and many other persons besides the plff. and the deft. became entitled to a share in the water. —Piggott, J. (Walsh, J. dissenting)—An executing Court could not be permitted to get round the terms of a decree of (a single Judge of) the High Court which was on the face of it perfectly clear and unambiguous and the parties not having applied for review of judgment to the single Judge of the High Court or challenged the decree on this point under the Letters Patent, are not entitled to seek relief by asking the Court executing the decree to interpret it in the light of the pleadings and of the record generally so as to put a meaning upon it inconsistent with its plain and unambiguous terms. Walsh, J.—Even if the decree was erroneously drawn up in the High Court, the High Court had inherent powers, and ought to amend it in an appeal or in execution. A decree of a Court cannot operate upon a subject matter which was not before the Court. A decree can only operate upon the pleadings. It cannot operate upon or be construed as dealing with any matter not in the suit. The practice of construing decree, discussed. 34 I C 344.

—In a suit on mortgage a Court passed an order for a preliminary decree and decided inter alia that in case proceeds of the property mortgaged should not suffice to liquidate the decretal debt with costs and interest, the debts should be held personally liable for any deficiency. The decree drawn up however, contained the words "be at liberty to apply for a personal decree" Held, that the words in the decree must be interpreted in conformity with the judgment to mean "shall be at liberty to apply for execution of the decree against the debts, personally" and that the Court on the execution side had no power to go into the question whether the debt was personally liable or not but was bound to execute the decree as it stood. 75 P W R 1916=32 I C 820.

—A British Indian Court which passes a decree cannot transmit the same for execution to a Court in a native state. It is a well-known principle of jurisprudence, that no state can legislate for the procedure to be followed in another state. An order transmitting a decree to a Native State or execution is not sanctioned by the C. P. Code, 12 Bom 230 foll. A long course of practice on a question of procedure can be departed from where want of jurisdiction is established. ## (9) Decrees orders under other Acts—(Contd)

under Land Acquisition Act. 1906 Punj L R 103, page 322 = 53 P R 1906. so also in case of Orders under S. 173 Bengal Tenancy Act. 1928 Cal 202 = 32 Cal W N 98 = 106 Ind Cas 561; and Similarly the section applies to execution proceeding under Public Demands Recovery Acts. 33 Cal 84 = 1 Cal L J 538 = 10 Cal W N 130. (not following 6 C W N 630; and 6 C W N 246) See to the same effect, 32 Cal 691 = 1 Cal L J 360.

—Instances of orders under other Acts which are not enforceable as decrees and to which therefore s. 47 does not apply see 7 Ind Cas 387 = 15 Cal W N 78 and orders under B T Act s. 174 Proviso "Applies" withdrawal of application if a bar under s. 174 Order when appealable. 1 Ind Cas 304 = 11 Cal L J 202 = 13 C W N 591. So also orders under S. 192 Madras Estates land Act. 1928 Mad 1107 = 109 Ind Cas 722.

(10) Disputes between judgment debtor and auction purchaser who is a stranger and when he is the decree holder himself.

—If there is question relating to the execution, arising between decree-holder and judgment-debtor, the mere fact that auction-purchaser is also interested does not make s. 47 less applicable. A I R 1928 Mad 806 = 111 I C 551.

—So a party-purchaser cannot bring suit on grounds which he could take in execution. A I R 1923 All 115 = 79 I C 486.

—For example, a decree-holder purchaser cannot sue separately for possession A I R 1925 Sind. 171 = 18 S L R 34 = 78 I C 930. see also 14 M L J 474 = 28 M 87; (but the contrary view has been taken on their point by the Full Bench of each of the High Courts of Allahabad, Patna, Bombay, and Lahore; see under suits whether barred infra see also the Privy Council decision in 45 I A 54 = 44 I C 855).

—So also an order restoring possession to the judgment-debtor on ground that possession was given to decree-holder under misapprehension is within s. 47. A I R 1923 Oudh 16 = 72 I C 875.

—But a dispute between decree-holder auction-purchaser and judgment-debtor, is not dispute between the judgment-debtor and decree-holder, and therefore s. 47 has no application. Ind Rul (1929) Lah 834 = 119 I C 226.

A I R 1921 Nag 59 = 64 I C 860.

—But it should be noted that decree-holder does not cease to be party after the auction sale. A I R 1926 Cal. 798 = 53 Cal 781 = 43 C L J 345 = 30 C W N 649 = 95 I C 494. see to the same effect 13 Bom. #### Synopsis.

- ( 1 ) General.
- ( 2 ) Dead man, decree against.
- ( 3 ) Fraud
- ( 4 ) Minors.
- ( 5 ) Questions as to jurisdiction of the Court.

—( 1 ) General :—The Court executing the decree cannot go behind it. 78 I C 853 = A I R 1924 N 419; see to the same effect 25 Mad 537; 5 All 53; 29 Calc 810; 6 Calc W N 796; 31 Calc 139.

—But agency court, not being governed by C P C can go behind decree passed by non-agency court without jurisdiction. A I R 1923 M 114 = (1922) M W N 728 = 16 M L W 669 = 69 I C 559.

—Executing Court cannot deal with the question whether decree should stand or not. A I R 1921 Bom 228 = 45 B 503 = 59 I C 715.

—Nor question the correctness of the decree. A I R 1929 Rang 275=Ind Rul (1930) Rang 165 = 122 I C 901.

Nor can it allow a new point to be raised in the execution proceedings; especially when its determination involves a re-opening of the decree and the decision of complicated questions of fact. A L R 1933 A 421.

—Court can interpret decree but cannot enquire whether original Court could pass it. A I R 1924 Pat 504 = 5 Pat L T 368 = (1924) Pat 25 = 78 I C 303.

—So also it can amend decree, but when it does pass an order to amend any decree its order comes under S. 47. A I R 1927 Lah 651=103 I C 673.

(17) Questions as to validity of the decree—(Contd)

—Decree prima facie legal objection regarding jurisdiction of Court passing it cannot be raised in execution. A I R 1929 Mad 383=Ind Rul (1929) Mad 835=119 I C 33.

—Executing Court's only duty is to execute decree according to its terms, and not to say that decree is not binding on property in the absence of certain parties. A I R 1921 Mad 85=13 L W 143 = 61 I C 759.

—Decree which on the face of it is enforceable to the fullest extent cannot in execution proceedings be challenged as being inexecutable wholly or in part on account of an agreement entered into prior to decree. A I R 1926 Rang 140=4 R 118=5 Bur L J 41 = 96 I C 773.

—Saleability of property decided in suit —Executing Court is bound to sell. A I R 1925 All 652 = 23 A L J 841 = L R 6 A 448 Civ = 47 A 900 = 89 I C 364.

—Where the plaint omits a relief for possession in a suit for specific performance of a contract of sale, or the decree is silent about it, the executing Court can grant the plaintiff the possession of the property. A I R 1931 Pat 179 = Ind Rul (1931) Pat 209 = 12 P L T 636=131 I C 529.

—Heirs of mortgagor judgment-debtor cannot challenge right of judgment-debtor to mortgage in execution. A I R 1925 Pat 625 = 4 Pat 510 = 6 P L T 634 = 87 I C 849 = 88 I C 141.

—An objection to the execution of a mortgage-decree could not be entertained in execution and the decree must be executed as it subsists. 55 I C 256.

—The executing Court can construe but cannot question validity of decree. A I R 1930 Mad 688 = 59 M L J 160 = 32 L W 100 = (1930) M W N 337 = 53 M 750 = Ind Rul. (1930) Mad 795 = 125 I C 539. See also 22 B 425 and 4 C L J 475.

—Even though the Court passing the decree has contravened some provision of law. 24 C W N 1070 = 60 I C 204.

—Or even if the decree is based on award. A I R 1921 Bom 301 = 23 Bom L R 306 = 62 I C 96.

—Plea by legal representative challenging foundation of decree cannot be entertained in execution. A I R 1924 Nag 81 = 20 N L R 24 = 78 I C 136.

—S 47 applies only where satisfaction of the decree as distinguished from the validity of the decree itself is in question. A I R 1930 All 628 = 52 A 217 = Ind Rul (1930) All 190 = 121 I C 702.

(17) Questions as to validity of the decree—(Contd)

—Objection to a legality of a decree can be raised in execution. A I R 1923 P 75 = 1923 Pat 184=4 Pat L T 311 = 1 Pat L R 217=2 P 538 = 72 I C 1049. see also 10 I C 536; and 35 C 202.

—But executing Court cannot investigate validity of decree provided valid and executable decree is in existence. A I R 1925 Cal 276 = 82 I C 255.

—Separate suit alone is the remedy where validity of the decree is challenged. A I R 1926 All 475 = 48 A 574 = 95 I C 147.

—And in such a case proceeding can be treated as suit and relief granted A I R 1926 All 387 = 48 A 362 = 24 A L J 379=93 I C 376.

—It has been held by the Nagpur J C Court that executing Court can question validity of decree within certain limits where question of jurisdiction is involved A I R 1929 Nag 35 = 26 N L R 60 = Ind Rul (1930) Nag 60 = 120 I C 732. See also obiter dictum in. 103 I C 673 = A I R 1927 L 651.

—The question as to a decree being nullity and not in existence for it being passed by a Court without jurisdiction or that it was passed against a dead person or against a minor not properly represented in the suit is a question which can be entertained in execution. 16 A L J 327 = 45 I C 21 = 40 A 423; and 10 L L J 319 = A I R 1928 L 829; and 31 C W N 739 = 103 I C 644 = A I R 1927 C 578; and 1924 Lah 448 = 5 Lah 54 = 78 I C 460; and 1928 Mad 1054 = 113 Ind Cas 663; and 1929 Mad 213 = 56 M L J 175 = 29 Mad L W 125 = 52 Mad 275 = 115 Ind Cas 801.

—But not the question as to the validity of the decree which can be gone into only by way of a separate suit and not in execution. 26 C W N 708 = 70 I C 451; see also 24 Ind. —So also an application to set aside an execution-sale was made on the ground of fraud, the fraud being that the decree had been satisfied by payment to the husband of the decree-holder on the day before the sale, but the payment was not certified and the sale was held: 10 Ind Cas 625.

—An application for setting aside a sale purported to have been signed by the appellant and her brothers. In that application, a compromise petition purporting to have been signed by all of them was presented. Subsequently the appellant presented this application for setting aside the sale. Held, that she is entitled in this application to show that she had no part in the former proceeding, that the compromise was obtained behind her back and in fraud of her rights, and that it was not binding upon her, without having the compromise set aside either on review or in a regular suit. 3 Ind Cas 116 = 14 C W N 823

—(b) Fraudulent Decree:—As a rule, the executing Court must execute the decree as it stands and according to its terms; it cannot go behind the decree. It follows, therefore, the question as to validity of the decree is not one in execution or about discharge or satisfaction of the decree and the only remedy is a separate suit—see under para (d) below—though the question impeaching the validity of execution sale is as we have seen in para (a) above question in execution. In case of fraudulent decree the judgment-debtor can ask for injunction restraining execution is the remedy. A I R 1924 Nag 413 = 80 I C 59.

—And in case assignment he can get it declared invalid as being fraudulent. A I R 1929 Lah 51 = Ind Rul (1929) Lah 717 = 117 I C 893.

(17) Questions as to validity of the decree—(Contd.)

—Where the plaintiffs had no interest in the property at the time the mortgage-decree was passed by reason of the fact that they were then unborn and the property was not ancestral. Held, that they could not come in execution to set aside the decree. 29 I C 402. following. 5 C L J 328.

—S. 47, C P C is no bar to a suit for damages for fraudulent execution of decree. The measure of damages is the amount which the decree-holder recovered under such fraudulent execution. (1914) M W N 174 = 23 I C 405.

—(c) Second Appeal:—S. 311 of the Civil Procedure Code of 1882, applied, only to irregularity and made no provision for the case of fraud and a second appeal was held to lie where a sale was sought to be set aside on the ground, of fraud, the reason being that as fraud was not included within the section, the case of fraud was attracted to the general provisions of S. 244, in which case, there was a second appeal. But rule 90, of order 21 of the present Code of 1908 includes the case of fraud as well; and the result of the change in the law is to place the procedure in the case of the setting aside of sales on the same footing, whether the application is based on the ground of irregularity or of fraud. In either case there is no second appeal. 9 I C 135.

—But this applies only to cases under O. 21, r. 90 i. e. where a judgment-debtor impeaches the validity of the sale on the ground of fraud in publishing and conducting the sale, and not on ground of fraud in execution proceedings which preceded and led up to the sale. Thus an application to set aside an execution sale was made on the ground of fraud, the fraud being that the decree had been satisfied by payment to the husband of the decree-holder on the day before the sale but the payment was not certified and the sale was held: Held that the matter did not come within the scope of O. 21, R. 90 inasmuch as the fraud alleged was not fraud in the conduct or publication of the sale, but it came within the scope of S. 47 and that, therefore, a second appeal lay: 10 I C 625. See also 22 C L J 266=16 I C 690.

—To sum up: where the decree itself is impeached as being fraudulent, a separate suit alone is the remedy, for it is not a question in execution; but where the judgment-debtor impeaches the validity of the execution-sale only there are two courses—(1) if he impeaches on the ground of fraud in publishing and conducting of the sale

—A person claiming to be not a party to the suit preferred an objection to the attachment of certain property in the capacity of a stranger to the suit. The objection was dismissed on the ground that he was a party to the suit. Held, that the remedy of the objector was to file a regular suit to establish his right to the property attached and not to proceed by appeal. In such cases the test is whether the claim as laid by the objector is adverse to the claims of the real judgment-debtor, and an objector claiming under a paramount title is not deprived of his ordinary remedy of a regular suit merely because his objection is dismissed on the ground that he is held to be a party to the suit. 47 I C 904

—Rule 1 of O. 41 clearly makes it an inflexible rule that in case of appeals from decrees, the memorandum of appeal shall be accompanied by a copy of the decree and the Court cannot dispense with it. An execution proceedings is a proceeding in the suit and the formal decision on the point within S. 47 of the C P Code is a decision in that suit inter parties, and the procedure in on appeal therefrom is that laid down in O. 41. Where, therefore, there is a judgment and a decree based, thereon on a question within S. 47 of the C P Code no valid appeal is filed by presenting a memorandum of appeal without a copy of the decree. 15 A L J 801 = 40 All 12 = 42 I C 888.

—S. 47, C P C has no application where the dispute relates solely to the right inter se of the judgment-debtors and the decree-holder has no interest in the decision. The question whether property of J D which had in execution been placed in the possession of a receiver appointed at the instance of the decree-holder, should after the satisfaction of the decree-amount, be handed back to one or all of the representatives, of the judgment-debtor who had died in the interval, is not a question relating to the execution, discharge or satisfaction of the decree within the meaning of S. 47 and no appeal or second appeal lies against the order dismissing a petition by one of suit representatives, praying for joint possession. 31 M L J 44 = (1916) 1 M W N 468 = 35 I C 179.

—The words of s. 47 of the Civil Procedure Code are very wide and, if they were taken in their literal sense, they might cover every order of an interlocutory nature that may be passed in execution proceedings, but it is obvious that the intention of the legislature could not have been that every such order should be appealable as a decree. —2) Orders confirming setting aside, or refusing, to set aside execution sale (O 21 rr. 55, 72, 90, 91, 92, 93):—The order dismissing application to set aside the sale determines a question relating to execution between the parties to a decree under S. 47 and second appeal lies to the High court. 36 Bom 156 = 13 Bom. —So it has been held under the present Code that an executing Court can set aside a sale, on any ground not falling within O 21, R 90, C P C on an application under S. 17 and no separate suit will lie for that purpose. And that it is only when O 21 R 90 as well as S 47 C P C applies to the application to set aside an auction-sale that a second appeal is incompetent. But where S 47 applies, there is a second appeal from the order on the application. Where after a judgment debtor had been adjudged an insolvent and after his property had vested in the Official Receiver, a portion thereof was sold in execution of a decree obtained before adjudication, in spite of the Receiver's objections. —It is not open to a party to impeach a sale under S. 47 of the C P Code on the ground of fraud in conducting the sale. If a Court professing to act under S. 47, sets aside a sale on the objection of the judgment-debtor, the order setting aside the sale is not a decree. —A decree holder took every proceeding under the Code to give effective power to the Court to sell certain property. On the day fixed for sale he asked the Court to dismiss his execution case. This application was rejected and the property sold. The decree holder appealed to the District Judge and the order of the execution Court was set aside. Held, that even if the order of the first Court was wrong, it was not appealable and that the only Court that could set it aside was the High Court and that the lower appellate Court having assumed jurisdiction in the matter a second appeal was competent to the High Court. That order of the lower appellate Court must be set aside as having been passed without jurisdiction. 57 I C 396.

—A sale held in execution by a court other than that which passed the order of winding up without the premission of the latter Court is voidable at the instance of the Official Liquidator. —In a partition suit a compromise decree was passed by which debts were allotted. On an application for the execution of the decree it was pleaded that the decree-holder had realised certain debts which had not been allotted to him. Held; that the plea could not be raised in the execution department as it was not a matter which fell under S. 47, C P C. The judgment-debtor had entirely a separate cause of action against the decree-holder which could be made the basis of a separate suit. The petition of objection could not be treated as a plaint even assuming that S. 47 (2) enables the Court to do so, as no amount was specifically claimed in that petition. 11 A L J 282 = 35 A 243 = 19 I C 622.

(9) Court may treat a suit as a proceeding.

—S. 47 Cl. (2) of the C P Code was intended to obviate the injustice caused to parties by a mistake in the initiation of proceedings and enables a court to treat a suit as an application and vice versa. It does not enable one proceeding to be treated as both a suit and an application. 1 L W 443 = 24 I C 484.

—Where persons impleaded as defts did not contest the suit the plaint was converted into application : 1 L L J 230.

—In execution of an ex parte decree for rent the decree-holder purchased the holding of the judgment-debtor and obtained possession. Subsequently the decree was set aside but, in the meantime the purchaser had reaped the crops. The Judgment-debtor instituted a suit claiming the value of the crops taken by the purchaser while in possession of the holding. There was no formal prayer that the sale held in execution of the ex parte decree should be set aside. Held, that the purchaser at the auction sale, being the decree-holder himself, the sale must, as a matter of course, be set aside at the instance of the judgment-debtor, and that the proper course for the judgment-debtor to pursue was to present an application under S. 47. The High Court treated the plaint as an application under S. 47 and upheld the judgments of the Lower Courts, decreeing the claim. 1 Pat L J 43 = 3 Pat L W 95 = 34 I C 747.

—And a suit can be converted into an application under S. 47, C P Code only if the application under S. 47 would not be barred by limitation on the date of suit. 4 L W 400 = 34 I C 774.

—In other words a suit cannot be treated as an execution application where the effect of doing so would be to prejudice the deft. in his plea of limitation. 45 I C 608.

—In the face of S. 47 (2) C P C it is not permissible to a court to dismiss a suit on the ground that the remedy of the plff was by way of execution. The mere fact that the court which decided the suit would have had no jurisdiction to determine the matter in execution is not a sound reason for not treating the suit as an application in execution. 18 M L T 247 = 2 L W 755 = 30 I C 785.

—For the object of sub-section (2) is to avoid claim being defeated on mere technical pleas A I R 1923 Nag 94 = 71 I C 42. and to correct bona fide mistake. A I R 1931 Mad 270 = 60 M L J 471 = 33 L W 549 = Ind Rul (1931) Mad 395 = 130 I C 475.

—So also there can be no estoppel against statute. The principle of estoppel cannot be allowed to defeat the provisions of a statutory enactment which affects the jurisdiction of a court, as a party cannot by his admission or previous conduct confer jurisdiction on a court where none exists. It would be the duty of the Court to take the question of jurisdiction in to account even where the party raising the plea is estopped from doing so. 54 A 25 (33-4, 43-46) = 1931 A L J 715 = A I R 1931 A 490 = 134 I C 236 (F B).

(2, 3) Auction-Purchaser.

—A. P. Whether representative of J. D : There is no unanimous judicial opinion on this point. It has been held by the Madras High Court that a purchaser in execution of a money decree is a representative of a judgment-debtor within the meaning of s. 47 see 38 M L J 32 = 26 M L T 391 = 1919 M W N 881 = 54 I C 209 = 43 M 107 F B; and (1912) M W N 513 = 14 I C 836 and (1917) M W N 861, and 9 L W 596 = 50 I C 931, and (1920) M W N 787 = 12 L W 350 = 59 I C 894.

—And Auction-purchaser in inferior Court can object to sale in superior Court as representative of J. D. A I R 1924 Mad 889 = 47 M L J 720 = 20 L W 864 = 1924 M W N 551 = 84 I C 265, and 54 Ind Cas 205 F B; 28 Mad 119; 38 M L J 441 = 11 L W 349 = 55 I C 626. The J C Court of Oudh has held that the word "representative" when taken with reference to judgment-debtor means not only his legal representative, but his representative interest and includes a purchaser of his interest, whether he has purchased the judgment-debtor's interest at a private sale or at execution sale, can be made party to the execution proceedings and he can have an opportunity to raise objections against the execution proceedings, if any. The real test to be applied in determining the question whether the auction-purchaser is to be regarded as the representative of the judgment-debtor or the decree-holder depends upon the nature of the question raised and who the contesting party is. If the question is between the judgment-debtor and the auction-purchaser and the interests of the two are conflicting, the auction-purchaser can in no sense be considered to be a representative of the judgment-debtor. A I R 1928 Oudh 442 = 12 Rev. Wee. 457 = L R 10 A 85 Rev = 3 Luck 719 = Ind Rul (1929) Oudh 289 = 116 I C 49 see also 14 O C 89 and 5 O L J 551; see contra 2 O L J 57; and 12 O C 175.

B then executed his decree and had the property purchased by D attached. D thereupon filed a claim petition objecting to the said attachment and being unsuccessful before the Dt. Munsif appealed to the Dt. Judge. This appeal being dismissed, he preferred a Civil miscellaneous second appeal to the High Court. Held that both the appeal to the Dt. —A. P. whether a "party":—A party to a mortgage suit, who sets up a paramount title and is discharged from the suit, no decree being passed either in his favour or against him, is not a party to the suit within the meaning of S. 47 of the C P C 1908. [2] that the fact that B had not got actual possession of the property X, for which K had to bring a suit, did not change the character of the property. [3] that an entry in Government register showing Government revenue payable by K, under a settlement did not imply that K had an independent title by virtue of a settlement and. purchaser continued to pay the revenue; the receiver at the same time also paid the revenue on behalf of the judgment debtor. Four years afterwards the sale was set aside and the auction-purchaser applied to the High Court for an order on the receiver to re-imburse him for the amounts which were paid for the benefit of the estate. The receiver contended that he was not subject to the orders of the High Court but that he was an officer subject to the orders of the trial Court. Held, that the receiver, having been appointed by the High Court to which he had submitted his accounts, must be regarded as an officer subject to the orders of the Court that so far as the auction purchaser was concerned, he was justified in considering that he was the person liable to pay to the Government revenue that became due during his auction-purchase on the principle that he became the proprietor from the date of the sale and the duty of paying the revenue devolved upon him from that moment; 40 Cal 89 P C foll, and that under the circumstances the proper order was to give the auction-purchaser leave to sue the Receiver in respect of his claim. 51 I C 706.

—The heir of a deceased judgment-debtor is entitled to object in execution proceedings that the ancestral property in his hands is not liable for a money-decree against the deceased on the ground that the debt was not incurred for necessity. The dispute on such an objection is one for decision in execution proceedings and is not a matter for a separate suit 243 P W R 1912 = 13 I C 670.

—A suit was instituted against a Hindu father and his son on the basis of a mortgage. The son contested his liability on the ground that there was no legal necessity. The result was that a simple money decree was granted against the father alone and in the decree it was stated that the son was "exempted" and costs were given to him against the plaintiff. On the decree being executed the sale of the father's share proved insufficient to pay off the decree. Thereupon it was sought to attach and sell the son's share, but upon objection being made by the son the objection was upheld. A suit was accordingly brought against the son for a declaration that the son's share was liable to be sold in execution on the ground of his pious liability. Held, that the suit was barred by the provision of S. 47 of the C P Code. Held, also that the expression in the decree exempting a particular person was inaccurate and the operation of the decree was to dismiss the suit against the particular debt. 16 A L J 752 = 47 I C 884.

—The plaintiff purchased the land in dispute at a sale held in execution of a decree on a mortgage executed in his favour by the father of the defendants, Nos 4 to 6. Subsequent to the mortgage decree but before the sale in execution the landlords the defendants Nos 2 and 3 obtained a decree for rent against the tenants defendants Nos 4 to 6 and purchased the holding at the sale held in execution of that rent-decree and settled it with the defendant No. 1. The plaintiff sued for possession of that land. Held that the entire holding including the interest of plaintiff as purchaser, passed by the rent decree sale, that he was not entitled to use his mortgage as a shield against the purchaser under the rent sale, and that he ought not to be allowed to claim redemption of the decree on the basis of his rights as mortgagee. 21 I C 126.

—In order to attract the provisions of S. 47, it is necessary that the dispute must be between parties who are opposed to each other in the suit. If the legal representatives of the deceased decree-holder are disputing as regards the shares to which they are entitled in the inheritance of the deceased decree-holder, they ought to settle the point in a regular suit and they cannot do so by way of application for execution of the decree. 13 P L T 557 = A I R 1932 P 329 = I R 1932 P 283 = 140 I C 97 (1) = A L R 1932 P 732.

—(d) Excess execution:—A decree passed by the Jhansi Court was sent for execution to the Ahmednagar Court. In execution a sum in excess was recovered from the defendant on the 29th November 1910. The defendant filed a suit to recover back the amount on the 14th November 1913; but it was dismissed on the 31st March 1915 on the ground that no suit could lie and the proper remedy was to file an application under S. 47 of the Code of Civil Procedure. Before the execution proceedings could be sent back by the Ahmednagar Court to the Jhansi Court, the defendant applied to the Ahmednagar Court on the 19th May 1915 to obtain refund of the money recovered in excess from him. Held, (1) that the question raised was one which related to the execution of the decree and was properly entertained under S. 47 Civil Procedure Code by the Ahmednagar Court which was the Court executing the decree. 44 Bom 97 = 22 Bom L R 238 = 55 I C 967.

—The fact that the auction-purchaser happens to be the decree-holder does not seem to affect the consideration whether or not the suit raised a question relating to the execution of the decree. Some such suit may raise a question relating to the execution, discharge or satisfaction of the decree; for example, a question whether the property of which possession is sought was or was not sold or the nature of the rights which were brought to sale. It may be that in a suit such points cannot be determined. It does not follow that all orders passed on applications under r. 95 decide questions which have some reference to the execution of the decree, much less does it follow that the decree-holder who did not wish to avail himself of the provisions of r. 95 but filed a separate suit which raised no question relating to the execution of the decree was in some way to be considered to be agitating such a question. ## (1) Legislative Changes.

—S. 48 is the reproduction of paras 3 and 4 of s. 230 of the Code of 1882 with certain alterations noted below. In the old section there were to be found the words "decree for payment of money or delivery of other property" which are deleted from the present section and decrees of every kind except those granting an injunction are covered by this section. This eliminates the discussion under the Code of 1882 regarding the precise meaning of the term decree for payment of money or delivery of other property noted above.

—S. 230 was further restricted to applications for execution made "under (that) section and granted". The words "under this sections" and "granted" are omitted from the present section with the result that the limitation provided for in the section applies to all applications for execution whether granted or refused or withdrawn, and whether the application was made under the old Code or new.

—In S. 230 of the old code there also appeared the words "or of the decree (if any) on appeal affirming the same" after the words "date of the decree sought to be enforced". The former words have been omitted as being unnecessary.

C. P. C. (1908) SEC. 48 (Contd)

(1) Legislative Changes. (Concld)

—Where a decree directs payment of money or delivery of property at recurring periods the period of limitation for execution begins to run from the date of the default. There were decisions under s. 230 of the old Code ( See 14 M 296; 12 B 65; and 13 P R 1892 ) which had held that in the case above referred to limitation runs from the date of default. It was to give statutory force to the principle involved in these decisions that the words "or at recurring periods" have been expressly inserted in the present section.

—The words "no order for the execution of the same decree shall be made upon any fresh application presented" are substituted for the words "no subsequent application to execute the same decree shall be granted." This change has not altered the law in any way, but has made it clear that application for application under this section means application under O 21, r. 11—Substantive application, not merely incidental or ancillary application.

—Cl. (b) of sub-section 2 of the present section has been newly added.

(2) Applicability of S. 50 of Limitation Act.

—S. 48, C. P. C., contains an unqualified prohibition subject to exceptions contained in cl. C. is not a period of limitation in the strict sense; and consequently S. 15 (1) of the Limitation Act is not applicable to it. 7 Luck 49= A I R 1931 O 351=132 I C 257=14 O L J 459=8 O W N 642.

(3) Applicability of S. 182 of limitation Act.

—The meaning of the words "provided for" is that where execution is barred by S. 48, Civil P. C. execution cannot be allowed under Art. 182 Sch. 1 Limitation Act. In other words Art. 182 is subject to the provisions of S. 48, Civil P. C. The present Limitation Act is Act IX of 1908 and by that Act the provisions in question in regard to amendment of decree was introduced and it did not exist in the previous Limitation Act of 1877. In the same year of 1908, the Civil P. C. at present in force was enacted. Now no change was made in S. 48 Civil P. C. providing for the extension of the period of 12 years in that section from the date of the amendment of a decree. The Legislature advisedly omitted the provisions for extension from 48, and the omission was not accidental. The effect of the omission is that an amendment of a decree does not give a new date for starting a period of limitation, if the application for execution is beyond the period of 12 years allowed by S. 48, that is that the period of 12 years under S. 48 is final and cannot be extended by any amendment of the decree, whether that amendment is made before the expiry of the period of 12 years, or whether that amendment is made after the expiry of the period of 12 years. The reasons why no amendment was made in S. 48 is that probably the greater period of 12 years is allowed by that section, and it is probably the intention of the Legislature that that period of 12 years should be final, and that within that period a decree-holder should amend his decree, and obtain all consequent remedies. If a decree-holder neglects to amend his decree within a sufficient period before the expiry of 12 years to allow him to obtain his remedy by execution then he has only himself to blame. 54 A 622 (625-6)=1932 A L J 471=138 I C 93-I R 1932 A 363=A I R 1932 A 351. —So also a decree for payment of money and in default for sale of property or surety must executed within 12 years from its date (Chamier, J. Diss). 9 A L J 79=13 I C 187.

—Fresh applications for execution after 12 years from the date of decree are governed by S 48, but applications for amending previous execution application filed within 12 years are not governed by S 48 even if the amendment is ordered after 12 years. S. 48 clearly bars applications for amendment after 12 years which are in substance fresh applications for execution of decree. A I R 1928 Mad 1154=113 I C 260.

—To be a "fresh" application within the meaning of S. 48 it must be substantive application, not merely an ancillary one. S A L J 412=9 I C 817=33 A 517; e. g. an application merely to revive the first application is not a "fresh" application.

—Similarly an application after removal of obstruction by judgment-debtor is not a "fresh" application: 7 I C 707; and the mere circumstance that an application for execution has been dismissed for default does not take away the effect of any previous order which might have been made: 17 C W N 113=15 C L J 453=10 I C 359.

—And it may be said generally that an application which is in substance an application made with the object of moving the court in the matter of a prior application which has been postponed, suspended or otherwise stayed by reason of some order is an application to continue the suspended proceeding from the point where it was stayed and may be made at any time within three years from the date when the right to apply accrued, i. e. when the order for postponement, suspension or stay was withdrawn or became inoperative even though the execution proceeding may have been struck off by that order. 17 O C 169 =25 I C 160. see to the same effect:—17 C L J 125=18 I C 841; and 6 M L T 333 =3 I C 940; and 227 A W N 1908=5 A L J 616=30 A 499; and 68 P W R 1909=2 I C 76=66 P L R 1909=45 P R 1909; and 3 A L J 845=152 A W N 1906=28 A 651; and 18 C W N 539=20 I C 244; and 32 I A 102 =9 C W N 601=7 Bom L R 433=15 M L J 258=2 A L J 397=27 A 334 P C.

—It was held under the old code that when the person entitled to make an application for execution of a decree is a minor at the time from which limitation is to be reckoned s. 7 of the Limitation Act saves the execution of the decree from being barred, and any application made by his guardian on his behalf is also exempt from the operation of limitation. 23 Calc. 374. see also 28 Cal 405 and 22 All 199. and 20 C W N 852=34 I C 86

—But it has now been held that minority is no ground of exemption to save the bar of s. 48; 24 M L J 96=13 M L T 79=18 I C 586=37 M 186; and 13 A L J 826=30 I C 521; and 14 Bom L R 387=15 I C 829=36 B 498; and 128 P R 1894; but see 32 Bom L R 1093=128 I C 428=A I R 1932 B 508=54 B 776.

—Minority is no ground to extend the limitation under S. 48. Proceedings for the ascertainment of mesne profits are not proceedings in execution under the new code. —The Madras High Court has however, recently held that S. 48 C P C does not override S. 7 Lmt. Act. and as such it does not imply that minority will not extend the period of limitation; 30 L W 361= 1929 M W N 158=119 I C 39=A I R 1929 M 394.

—An order dismissing an execution application on account of decree-holder's absence, is not an order for stay of execution within the meaning of s. 15, Lim. Act. Limitation for executing a decree is not extended because two of the judgment-debtors are adjudicated insolvents. A I R 1931 Lah 125=31 I C 345.

(15) Period of Limitation.

—The period of limitation prescribed by S. 48 is a part of the substantive law of limitation, as will appear from the wording of Arts. 181 and 182, Limitation Act. It has nothing to do with the manner of executing the decree. Indeed when the section lays down in effect that a decree is so to say extinct after 12 years and is no longer executable, it cannot be maintained that such a provision indicates the mode or the manner in which a decree is to be executed. A I R 1932 S. 116 (118-120)=26 S. L R 91=A L R 1932 S. 82.

—Bar under s. 48 cannot be got rid of by private agreement to the contrary. Such agreement may give rise to a separate suit, but cannot estop the judgment-debtor from objecting to the further execution of the decree. 54 A 573 (590)=1932 A L J 365=138 I C 583 (2)=16 R D 293=13 L R A 199 (Rev.)=I R 1932 A 467=A I R 1932 A 273=A L R 1932 A 272 (F. —For "Period of limitation" includes period prescribed by S. 48 C P Code, 52 I C 742.

—But period of limitation prescribed by S. 48 is secondary to the period of limitation in strict sense which means such a period that a proceeding to which it is sought to be applied will be in time if filed within the period, and beyond time, if filed after it, and as such it is a sort of further check to an application or suit which is found not wanting when strict period of limitation is applied. ## (16) Plea of 12 year's bar-not allowed in appeal or review.

—Though the High Court has power under very exceptional circumstances to allow amendments in second appeal, it will not ordinarily allow an amendment in second appeal which would defeat the bar of limitation, as by substituting in a later application in the column of relief the property comprised in a previous application. 43 I C 122.

(1-2) Before the decree has been fully satisfied.

—S. 50 does not exclude cases where the judgment-debtor dies before the passing of the decree, but only refers to the death of the judgment-debtor before the decree has been fully satisfied. Where therefore the decree is a good decree notwithstanding the death of the judgment-debtor before the passing of the decree, as in the case of a decree of the Privy Council, the case comes well within the terms of the section because death takes place also before the decree has been fully satisfied. 11 P 445=139 I C 397=A I R 1932 P 261=I R 1932 P 229=13 P L T 719=A L R 1932 P 360.

—If before the issue of certificate under S. 41, a judgment-debtor dies, the transferee Court loses jurisdiction over execution proceedings unless the decree-holder obtains an order from the Court passing decree for substitution of legal representative before the execution proceeds, but any acquiescence by legal representative estops him from challenging the jurisdiction. ## (4) Receiver.

—S. 51 (d) of the Code no doubt recognises the appointment of a Receiver as a mode of execution of a decree, and says that such an order may be made on the application of a decree-holder. The clause only gives legislative sanction to certain decisions under the old Code, in which it was held that execution may be had by appointing a receiver where that course is more likely to benefit both the judgment-debtor and the decree-holder than a sale of the attached property. S. 51 does not entitle the decree-holder to apply for execution by the appointment of a receiver as of right and as a matter of course; on the other hand, the remedy by the appointment of a receiver is by way of equitable execution or indirect execution the receiver taking the place of the debtor.

in cases in which equitable and special considerations intervene. A proper case is therefore required to justify the exercise of the Court's discretion to appoint a receiver by way of execution. As regards the circumstances, which would justify such appointment, cases under the old Code are not altogether negligible, because they lay down principles of equity and so are generally principles of universal application. One such is to see whether, in view of the assets, the amount due under the decree is likely to be realised within a reasonable time from the profits of the attached property. What is a reasonable time for that purpose must be determined upon the facts and circumstances of each case. Another principle is that such appointment should appear in the circumstances to be the best course both for the creditor and for the debtor. Much more care should be taken to ascertain whether the order should be made in a case where the decree-holder applies for the appointment of a receiver. The Court should see whether the appointment applied for is "just and convenient" within the meaning of O. 40, r. 1, that is, just and convenient in view of the equities in favour of both the parties. A mere apprehension that there are means open to the judgment-debtors of harassing the decree-holders cannot justify the appointment of a receiver which is otherwise entirely unjustifiable. Where the Court below made an order appointing a receiver at the instance of the decree-holder almost as a matter of course, and far from satisfying the requirements of the phrase "just and convenient" in O. 40, r. 1, held that the order was unsustainable. 59 C 205-35 C W N 1066-137 I C 98-A I R 1932 C 189-I R 1932 C 257-A L R 1932 C 521.

—So also a receiver can be appointed in execution of a decree against debtor upon whom immoveable property is settled without power of alienation suit over rents and profits of which he has disposing power: 59 C 1.

S. 51 of the C. P. Code empowers the Court to appoint a Receiver of rents of the estate of the deceased person for the purpose of liquidating debts against that estate, and there is nothing in the Code to limit the appointment of a Receiver of rents to a case where the debt to be discharged is a debt against the heirs and not against the deceased holder of the estate and that so long as the present Receiver is maintained, application of the appointment of a Receiver for the sale of the property held by the Receiver already in possession thereof —In absence of fraud or collusion, a decree obtained against a wrong legal representative is binding on the real one. A I R 1928 Mad 243=(1927) M W N 894=108 I C 409.

—Suit against legal representative—another person turning out to be actual legal representative—liability of estate in latter's hand—no collusion or fraud see. A L R 1933 L 161.

—Proof of existence of assets of a deceased person in the hands of his legal representative entitles the plaintiff to a decree. 56 I C 962.

—A decree on a pro note executed by the deceased can be passed against the father and sons of the deceased a forming joint Hindu family under s. 52. 26 A L J 799=Ind Rul (1929) All 518=116 I C 86.

—Thus a decree-holder is entitled to attach property of Ward already attached by Court of Wards. 22 I C 694=18 C W N 1055=16 C L J 406.

—But a decree passed against the assets of the deceased, against some of the legal representatives, others not made parties to the suit are not affected. A I R 1927 Mad 197=98 I C 613.

—Though a decree not providing personal liability can under certain circumstances, be personally executed. (1916) 2 M W 128=35 I C 614.

tiff shall recover out of the estate of the deceased Dalichand Nauchand (grandfather) a sum of Rs. 1, 264-14-0, the costs of this suit and interest, etc." Held that the decree was against the grandsons as legal representatives of their grandfather and limited to the joint family estate in their hands. The proper decree to pass in this case would have been a decree against the defendants for the sum claimed to the extent of the assets of the deceased or the joint family estate coming into the hands of the defendants. It was not disputed that the family was joint and undivided, and, having regard to the fact that the appellants were the defendants in the case in which the decree was passed, it is clear that the decree was against them as legal representatives of Dalichand and limited to the joint family estate in their hands 34 Bom L R 1005

(5) Effect of decree passed against a dead person.

—Where the heirs of a deceased mortgagor were mentioned in an application for final decree and notices were served on them but they did not appear and the decree was made final but their names were not mentioned in the final decree it is not open to such heirs to question in execution the validity of the final decree, A I R 1927 Bom 156=101 I C 129. See also under s. 50.

the assets, in which case he is personally liable. Decree passed against representative not specifying that it should be payable out of the assets of the deceased is erroneous. 65 P R 1874. A legal representative paying away the whole of the property of the deceased to bonafide creditors, is said to have duly applied the same under S 52 even though some other creditors remain unpaid. 68 P R 1895. Legal representative of deceased debtor is not liable to distribute his assets rateably among the creditors, he is liable only to apply the assets duly 26 M 792=13 M L J 258. So also a decree passed against representatives of deceased judgment-debtor can be executed only against the property of the latter unless the former have misapplied it in which case their private property will also be liable 12 B L R 66 Note=10 W R 199. But a person in possession of the assets of deceased disposing of such a portion thereof as to exceed debts, without any right is personally liable for the debts A I R 1922 Oudh 200=77 I C 306.

(8) Legal representative.

—As to Bombay see 8 Bom 220 in which it has been held that under the provisions of Bombay Act VII of 1866 when a Hindu dies intestate leaving property, his son is liable to his (the father's) creditors to the extent of the value of the property although the property may not have come into the son's possession but remains in the hand of third persons. see also 53 B 463.
